2 JAILED AS VOTE CHEAT WARNING

Today

A Monument for Him.
Lives and Prohibition.
Labor Creates Lords.
Lying On Spikes.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

DR. PA[illegible] A. LEWIS, pathologist and bacteriologist at the Rockefeller Institute, is dead of yellow fever in Brazil.

He went there to find a better cure for the disease that killed him, studying yellow fever in men and monkeys, at Bahia.

DR. LEWIS will have no monument, only a few lines on some gravestone that will soon sink into the ground.

It would be a pity to believe that there is no reward hereafter for a man so poorly appreciated on earth.

MRS. SARIN, wife of a well-known banker, will investigate prohibition among wives of workingmen throughout the nation.

This "survey" will ask the wives their opinion of prohibition.

THOSE whose husbands used to drink whisky and cannot afford it now will say they favor prohibition.

If their husbands still drink whisky, paying bootleggers' prices, they will be against prohibition.

WIVES whose husbands used to drink beer or light wine and drink whisky now, because they can't get beer or wine, will be against prohibition.

Left to a popular vote, prohibition would win in the nation at large, and lose in the big cities.

THE British Labor party plans to strengthen itself by creating 12 new "labor peers" to represent labor in the House of Lords.

British labor, intelligent, knows the value of titles.

The new lords of the realm will not, however, be promoted coal miners or locomotive engineers.

Labor will pick out men rich, well educated, "with well known leanings towards Socialism."

IN NEW YORK CITY there were about 15,000 cloakmakers at work and 15,000 out of work.

The 15,000 with jobs have gone on strike and now 30,000 are idle.

IT IS a pity that labor has not found a better way.

The East Indian sometimes lies on a bed of sharp spikes, believing that so doing will help him to attain Nirvana, his idea of heaven.

Intelligent union labor should not have to sit on the sharp spikes of idleness and want to achieve its ends.

NEXT week you will get the new small money, bills much smaller than the old size.

SOME citizens will feel that a small dollar isn't quite as good as a big dollar.

When the calendar was corrected and the date pushed several days ahead, there was rioting by those who thought their lives had been made shorter by the same number of days. We have progressed beyond that stage.

WALL STREET insisted on being cheerful yesterday, in spite of 15 per cent money. The bulls had their way. It is hard to discourage speculation.

Perhaps the Federal Reserve will promote 25 or 30 per cent money. There must be some interest rate that would make the little lambs think and hesitate.

BRITISH and German motion picture concerns have signed papers for a $300,000,000 combination against the United States movie industry.

British and German automobile makers might as well arrange a combination against American automobile makers. It would do no good.

THE problem is knowing how. Three hundred good actors, actresses, scenario writers and directors might do more for Anglo-German films than $300,000,000.

THERE are in the United States 450 investment trusts. Have you bought stock in them?

Nothing could be better than stock in the right company, nothing much worse than stock in the wrong company.

AN investment company says to you, "Hand us your money and we will speculate for you. If we win, we'll give you part of it."

IF the concern loses, YOU lose. It is probably better than speculating on your own account. In the investment trust your bets are scattered.

AMANULLAH, who lost his job as king of Afghanistan when he brought his wife back to Europe in modern clothing, without any veil, is on his way to Paris.

HE will find himself a king there, for, in all the excitement, his presence of mind did not leave him. He is taking with him a baggage car with a heavy load of pure gold.

In these doubtful, Democratic days, solid gold is the safest royalty.

HUSBAND SHOT, WIFE BLAMES BURGLAR

Neighbors Tell Detectives Woman Drove Away Just After 3 Shots Were Fired

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 2.—Charles Fee, of Houston, a former school teacher, was shot in the back in his home early today.

His wife told the police a burglar inflicted the wound. The burglar held her and at the same time fired at Fee, she said.

Neighbors heard three shots. Shortly afterward, they told District Attorney Burchinal and the county detectives, Mrs. Fee left the house in an automobile and was gone half an hour.

The pistol with which Fee was shot has not been found.

Mrs. Fee said she sought the Houston policeman right after the shooting, but could not find him.

FOUND DYING

The neighbors found him and told him they had heard shots in the Fee residence. The policeman went to the house and found Fee in bed, apparently dying. A pistol bullet had entered his back and come out from the front of his body just under the heart.

The policeman called District Attorney Burchinal and County Detectives William Dinsmore and Frank Krepps from Washington. They had Fee removed to the Washington Hospital.

THREE BULLET HOLES

In view of his serious condition a statement was hurriedly taken from him by a stenographer.

What he said has not been disclosed.

The county detectives found three bullet holes in the house.

Mrs. Fee was closely questioned by District Attorney Burchinal and the county detectives.

TILDEN BEATEN BY COCHET

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 3.—(INS.)—America's last hope in the men's singles of the Wimbledon championships went aglimmering today when "Big Bill" Tilden fell before Henri Cochet, one of France's "three musketeers" of tennis, in straight sets.

The score was 6-4, 6-1, 7-5.

In their semi-final match today, Cochet proved conclusively that he is Tilden's nemesis under any and all conditions. Tilden played brilliant tennis throughout most of the match, but could not cope with the super-game presented by the Frenchman.

Jean Borotra, another of the "Musketeers," defeated H. W. Austin, young English flash, in straight sets in the other semi-final, and will meet Cochet for the title.

'4th' Firecrackers Cause Two Deaths

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP.)—Premature celebration of American independence caused two Illinois deaths yesterday. An exploding firecracker ignited the dress of Rose Tinich, 8 years old, in Chicago and she was burned to death. Lambert Skidmore, 74, died at Decatur from a brain concussion which doctors attributed to the explosion of a cannon cracker.

4 GIRLS BURNED BY 4TH CAPS

Wilkinsburg police today were looking for a group of boys who last night threw dynamite caps at four girls in Swissvale avenue, near Glenn avenue, burning them on the legs. Their names are known, police said.

The girls were Frances Campbell, of 228 Sylvan avenue, Forest Hills; Ruth Harrity, of 1016 Glenn avenue; Elizabeth Harrity, of 2118 Braddock avenue, Swissvale, and Evelyn Marshall, of Philadelphia, a guest of one of the Harrity girls.

Accused of wounding another lad while prematurely celebrating the Fourth, Louis Diana, 17, of 7317 Susquehanna street, was held over in Morals Court today.

Walter Sullivan, 15, of 7039 Frankstown avenue, was struck on he leg by a blank cartridge fired by Diana in Westinghouse Park, McPherson boulevard, yesterday, he testified.

Edward Camp, 16, of 7044 Race street, testified he also was shot in the leg by a blank cartridge, 15 minutes after the Sullivan boy was struck, but didn't know who had fired the shot. His injury was treated at the Pittsburgh Hospital, where he was given antitoxin serum. Diana agreed to compensate the two boys for their physicians' and hospital expenses.

Circus Lion's Bite Kills B. W. Robinson

REXBURG, Idaho, July 3.—(AP.)—The bite of a circus lion he had owned for seven years has resulted in the death here of Bert W. Robinson, 52, manager of the Robinson shows. The lion, attendants said, had gone mad from its long imprisonment and bit his owner on the leg, the injury causing blood poison.

Woman Suing Tunney Wants Jury Trial

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 3.—(AP.)—Counsel for Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty, of Fort Worth, Tex., and New York City, today filed a request for a jury trial of her $500,000 breach of promise suit against James J. (Gene) Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

Col. Lewis L. Field, New Haven, attorney for Mrs. Fogarty, has not filed the reply to Tunney's answer, in which the retired boxer denied promising to marry the woman and in which he charged her with an attempt to exploit an acquaintanceship with him, though he already had paid her more than $35,000 to waive any claims on him.

The suit comes up in September.

NO ISSUE TOMORROW

Tomorrow being Independence Day there will be no issue of the Sun-Telegraph.

GIRL RUNS STILL TO AID FAMILY

"I know it is against the law but I had to feed the children," asserted Amelia Zubasic, 22, of 111 South Twenty-sixth street, when arraigned in Morals Court today, charged with operating a still in her home.

The young woman testified that since the death of her father four months ago she had operated the still as the means of supporting an invalid mother and five children besides herself. She retailed the moonshine at a $1 a pint, she said.

An anonymous telephone call to the South Side Police Station resulted in the raid on the Zubasic still, Patrolman Joseph Braum testified. Police found a 10-gallon still, four barrels of mash and a five-gallon can of moonshine in the house, he said. The young woman was the only person in the place, he testified.

The girl was held for court by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg on a charge of violating the Snyder act.

Rain Threatens July Fourth Programs

Showers will spoil Fourth of July programs tomorrow if the weatherman's forcast comes true. The present indications bring the prediction that there will be increasing cloudiness with a mounting temperature to be followed by showers either afternoon or night.

Many community committees arranging fireworks displays have announced that in the event of rain the exhibitions will be given later in the week.

When the temperature dropped to 51 degrees at 6 o'clock this morning, it recorded the lowest temperature for that particular hour in the month of July since the United States Weather Bureau has been in existance. The outlying districts showed a temperature of 49 degrees.

GILLESPIE SET ON GARBAGE FIRM DEAL

Detroiter Will Buy Company Despite City's Claim for Return of $1,000,000

John Gillespie, of Detroit, will take over the American Reduction Company next Wednesday.

The purchase price will be paid then, he said today, and he will assume charge of the property, notwithstanding the fact that the city is about to sue the company for recovery of more than $1,000,000 in alleged overcharges, and that municipal ownership and operation of the garbage disposal plant are advocated.

"I do not have a mere option on the property," Gillespie said. "I have a contract to purchase it, and the contract is to be carried out on July 10. On that date the price will be paid to the Colonial Trust Company, executors of the estate of the late George H. Flinn, from whom I am buying the entire capital stock of the company."

EFFECTS CITY AGREEMENT

"Do you wish, in view of the city's claims and accusations against the company, you could withdraw from your bargain?" Gillespie was asked.

"No, I expect the city to carry out its present contract; and if, at its expiration, it desires to buy the property, I expect it to reimburse me for my investment.

"But I will give the city much better service than it had under the retiring management. I understand there have been 50 complaints a day about the service rendered by the American Reduction Company. Well, in Detroit, where I am engaged in

Heat Crazes Fliers; 4 Pray While Plane Drifts 7 Days at Sea

This is the first chapter of one of the most thrilling and dramatic tales of the air and sea ever told. It is by Maj. Ramon Franco, commander of the Spanish government expedition which started for America aboard the Dornier-Wahl flying boat Numancia on June 21, only to meet with disaster near the Azores.

After being adrift for seven days and eight nights during which the warships of five nations searched for her, the Numancia and her crew of four were rescued by the British naval airplane carrier Eagle on Saturday, June 29.

Yesterday the Eagle arrived at Gibraltar and Algeciras where the heroic fliers were given a reception unprecedented in the history of Spain.

While en route from the scene of his rescue to Gibraltar, Maj. Franco occupied his time writing the narrative of his amazing adventures for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and King Features Syndicate, Inc.

By MAJ. RAMON FRANCO,

Commander of the Spanish seaplane Numancia.

GIBRALTAR, July 2.—My three companions and I have just passed through the most thrilling experience in our lives. Never have we been subjected to such trials of our faith in the heavens above us and our fellow humans.

While we tossed and drifted in our frailest of crafts—one not made to conquer the seas, but the regions above them—we all prayed and kept faith against the worst possible conditions.

We know now what it means to be beyond the reach of human hands: We realize just how much faith we had to have to keep our lives and our souls our own.

We faced almost certain death from the moment we started—for it was written somewhere that we should descend without any way of communication with the outer world. We suffered, not so much physically as mentally—but in order to tell the story of our dramatic adventure, let me begin away back at Los Alcazares Airfield, near Cartagena, when we were preparing for our original project—a flight round the world under the banners of King Alfonso.

Alterations Delay Take-Off

We had completed preparations for a round the world trip, which was to be made with a Spanish plane fitted out with motors of a Spanish make, and the most favorable time having arrived for the beginning of this trip (which was to be started at the end of April or the beginning of May) we found that the round-the-world flight could not be begun because the alterations on the Numancia could not be finished in the required length of time.

For this reason, we had to wait for a more propitious time.

As the start was postponed time and again, after a trial flight of 20 hours made against the worst of meteorological conditions, we obtained the necessary permission from the government to make a trans-Atlantic journey to and from New York, via the Azores Islands.

This trip to New York was to have been made at the height of the June moon—somewhere around the 22nd—to arrive at New York around the 23rd. We intended to return to Los Alcazares at the end of the same month, making our return trip direct to Newfoundland and thence to Galicia, on the northwestern corner of Spain. We were going to make that flight during the night, and without the help of the full moon, which would by that time be past.

2,200-Mile Cruising Radius

In trial flights with our Dornier 16, we had obtained a cruising radius exceeding 2,200 miles, which was more than sufficient to reach our proposed mid-goal in each flight.

On the evening of June 21 (Friday), the seaplane was all in readiness for the first leg of the trip from Los Alcazares to the Azores.

The tanks were filled with 3,800 litres of gasoline and 200 litres of oil. Water, food and other articles were also packed, and the plane was equipped with a wireless and anchorage equipment and navigation instruments.

Every little detail was taken care of.

With me in the plane were Maj. Eduardo Gonzalez Gallarza, co-pilot, who commanded the flight from Spain to the Philippine Islands several years ago; Capt. Julio Ruiz de Alda, navigator, who was with me on the flight to Buenos Aires in 1926, and Sergt. Pedro Madariaga, who is considered one of the best airplane mechanics in Spain. Madariaga took the place of Sergt, Perez, who was to have made the flight with us.

On that Friday morning, Pedro Madariaga, our mechanic,

Emma Calve's Kin Leaves Stage, Dies

PARIS, July 3.—(AP.)—The annual examinations of the National Conservatory have been interrupted tragically with sudden death of one of the competitors, Elie Calve, nephew of the diva, Emma Calve. Elie, one of the most brilliant pupils of recent years in the comedy class, acquitted himself well on the stage yesterday, but collapsed as he left it. It was said he had overworked himself during the last year, developing a heart ailment neither he nor his family suspected.

Reports of Smuts' Withdrawal Denied

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, July 3.—(AP.)—Col. Denys Reitz last night denied as an "absolute canard" a report in the government organ Die Burger that Gen. Jan Christian Smuts would hand over the leadership of the South African party to a triumvirate.

Col. Reitz was named by the newspaper as a member of the triumvirate to which it was stated Gen. Smuts would leave the leadership of the party for a year at least.

JUDGE HITS ELECTION FRAUDS

Clean Vote in Coming Primary Battle Demanded; Parole Granted Defendant

A warning against cheating at the coming primaries was sounded by Judge James H. Gray in Criminal Court today in sentencing three election officials convicted of fraud.

Two were sentenced to jail and the third was paroled.

"If you had pleaded guilty and told the entire truth you would be in a position to ask for leniency," declared the court addressing Peter Madden, judge of election in the Second district, Fourth Ward, and Robert Sanner and Joseph Joyce, inspectors.

MUST BE PUNISHED

"But you did not do this," the court continued. "A great fraud has been committed. Another election is coming on. A warning must be given to other election boards and to people who would benefit by cheating at the polls. Election frauds cannot go unpunished."

Madden was sentenced to serve three months in jail, at the expiration of which time he will be paroled for two years during which time he cannot serve on an election board.

SANNER GETS 30 DAYS

Sanner was sentenced to 30 days in jail, with the same parole provision. Joyce was paroled for two years.

The three were found guilty a month ago of conspiracy to return a false count in favor of William S. Vare, Republican nominee for United States Senator at the general election, November 1926.

The court refused a new trial before imposing sentence today.

GRIMES FACES CARDS TODAY

The Pirate ace of aces—Burleigh Grimes—will be on Fogarty Knoll this afternoon attempting to ring up his thirteenth victory of the season, with the Cardinals as the victims of his designs.

Burleigh's last little journey resulted in his shutting the door in the faces of the Reds. Perhaps he will not blank the Redbirds, but if the veteran is in his best form the invaders would seem to be in for a rather uncomfortable afternoon. He has been defeated only once and therefore is the ranking pitcher of the major leagues. Either Sherdel or Haid will twirl for the enemy.

The two clubs are scheduled to collide twice tomorrow as a part of the Fourth of July festivities. At the present time the Buccos are less than one game out of first place; in other words, it is possible for the Buccos to displace the pace-setting Cubs before nightfall.

Lindy and Bride Rest in Oklahoma

WAYNOKA, Okla., July 3.—(INS.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, making an inspection tour of the air-mail route to be used by the Transcontinental Air Transport, were resting here today. They expected to fly to Clovis, N. M., late today in the colonel's Falcon biplane.

Cruiser Christened By Chester, Pa., Girl

CAMDEN, N. J., July 3.—(AP.)—The 10,000-ton light cruiser Chester, third of the Washington conference warships to be launched, left the ways at the New York Shipbuilding Company yard at noon today. The vessel was christened by Miss Jane Turner Blain, of Chester, Pa., as it slid into the Delaware River.

3,000 BATTLE BLAZE; WIND MENACES

Burning Debris Thrown High In Air Threatens Valley; Railroad Cancels Service

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—(AP.)—More homes in the vicinity of Mill Valley were endangered today by a fire which already had reduced to ashes a part of the picturesque little city across the bay from San Francisco. Flying embers started new fires among the homes of Cascade Canyon, on the slope of Mount Tamalpais, and along Corte Madera ridge, west of the canyon.

New estimates indicated that more than 130 homes had been damaged or destroyed and that the loss would be considerably in excess of $1,000,000. Despite the continued effort of some 3,000 men to curb the blaze, citizens feared that the wind, which blew the flames away from the town early today, might change direction and drive the conflagration back through Blythedale Canyon, which was hard hit yesterday.

PROPERTY MENACED

Burning debris, thrown high in the air, menaced property over a wide area. Millionaires and tradesmen, servants and volunteers fought side by side to save the little cottages and the pretentious homes in the wooded beauty of the mountain slope.

Mill Valley's water supply was reported to have been somewhat replenished during the lull in the fire early today, but as the flames spread farther up the canyons the city mains were of little use, as only occasionally were there fire plugs in the outlying sections.

TAVERN IN DANGER

Fire Marshal E. B. Gardener announced the flames were menacing the famous tavern at the summit of Mount Tamalpais and said unless "plenty of men" were available at once to fight the fire another heavily populated section containing costly homes would be doomed.

A contingent from the Thirtieth Infantry, which had been sent to fight the blaze, returned to the Presidio here early today. Fire departments from a half dozen towns near Mill Valley and a section of the San Francisco fire department remained on the job.

Service on the quaint little 16-mile Mount Tamalpais and Muir Woods Railroad, known as "the crookedest railroad in the world," was suspended. The winding tracks, over which specially geared engines pull carloads of sightseers from Mill Valley to the top of the 4,000-foot mountain, had been so bent and twisted by the heat that trains could not run.

PARKS CLOSED

DENVER, July 3.—(AP.)—National forests in five western states were closed to campers except at points where improved camp grounds are established, in an order issued by Col. Allen S. Peck, U. S. district forester, in an effort to cope with the growing hazard of forest fires incident to dry weather.

The states affected are Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

TWO LOSE LIVES

CASHMERE, Wash., July 3.—(INS.)—A forest fire in Yaxon Canyon near here had claimed two lives today. William A. Doelle, merchant, was trapped in the narrow canyon as he fought the blaze. David Koontz, rancher, was burned to death on his ranch which was in the path of the flames.

Physician Must Pay Alimony or Be Jailed

NEW YORK, July 3.—(INS.)—Dr. Reginald Van Wert, prominent physician, today faces a jail sentence unless he pays $3,790 back alimony to his former wife, Mrs. Edna Van Wert. Supreme Court Justice Joseph H. Callahan issued an order for the payment of the money. Following his divorce from Mrs. Edna Van Wert, Dr. Van Wert was married again in Columbus, O., but his second wife lived only a few months after their marriage, dying at Hebron, O., last January.

Two Men Convicted In Reporter's Death

LAREDO, Tex., July 3.—(AP.)—Raymo West and Tomas Hernandez, Laredo peace officers, were convicted last night of murdering Harry Williams, Laredo reporter, here in January. West was sentenced to serve 99 years and Hernandez 20 years in prison.

GILLESPIE GETS GARBAGE FIRM

the garbage disposal business through my connection with the Detroit Reduction Company. we do not average one complaint a day. And Detroit is twice as big as Pittsburgh."

CALLS ACTION UNFAIR

Gillespie said it was unfair for the city to hold up payments to the American Reduction company for current service, as there was little profit in the business and the money was needed to meet the payroll and other current expenses.

He said he regarded it as proper that the return of the $500,000 dividends recently disbursed by the company should be demanded by the city, and felt confident the money would be put back in the company's treasury.

"The company will be well able, then, to meet the city's claims," he said. "In the meantime it does not seem either fair or necessary that the city should postpone paying its bills for garbage collection."

BREITENSTEIN SILENT

H. S. Breitenstein, whose resignation as chief accountant and statistician in the city controller's office followed the expose of the American Reduction Company's alleged overcharge of $1,000,000 to the city for collecting garbage, will make no statement on the matter. It was Breitenstein's duty to audit the garbage account.

While Breitenstein maintains silence, Controller Henry O. Evans has held up the Reduction Company's June bill of $132,000 for garbage collection, in line with his action of declining to approve payment of the May bill of $146,000.

He is withholding payment until a decision is reached on the city's claim that $1,000,000 was improperly charged to cost of removing garbage and rubbish during eight years under a cost-plus contract.

When an effort was made to ascertain why Breitenstein had resigned and to learn something about the audit revelations, Breitenstein, shook his head.

"I suppose that whatever develops will come out in the process of settlement whether in or out of court." said Breitenstein, who lives at 5910 Elgin avenue. "It would be entirely improper for me to say anything at this time. Any statement made must come from the Controller's office."

Gettysburg Visit Suggested for Holiday

With hundreds of local motorists planning to make excursions into the country and to distant cities over the holiday, the Pittsburgh Motor Club suggests a trip to Gettysburg, Pa., an appropriate tour for Independence Day. The trip can be made through Delmont, Greensburg, Ligonier, Bedford and Chambersburg, a distance of 180 miles. Roads are good throughout.

The return trip may be made through McConnellsburg, Mt. Union, Tyrone, Holidaysburg, Cresson, Blairsville and on to Pittsburgh. The return route covers 260 miles.

BOMB WRECKS EXCHANGE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 3.—(INS.)—Perry Larson, bookkeeper for the Los Angeles Grain Exchange, today confessed to setting the bomb which this morning wrecked the company's office in an attempt to destroy evidence of embezzling funds amounting to $1,000, according to Police Captain Bert Lynn.

Larson was arrested as he was leaving the office of the exchange shortly after the blast which rocked the seven-story T. W. Hellman building, in the heart of the financial district.

LIMA, Peru, July 3.—(AP.)—Alexander P. Moore, American ambassador, announced yesterday that he would leave for the United States on July 10 because of ill health.

PRIEST GIVES EX-WIFE VEIL

MILAN, Italy, July 3.—(AP.)—Prince Paterno Castello, of Biscari, who was ordained as a priest on Monday, yesterday bestowed the veil upon his wife, Donna Angela Auteri. Henceforth he will be Father Ignatius and she Sister Maria of Jesus.

The couple was married 25 years ago, but after more than a score of years together they decided to retire to the religious life. The Prince became a novice in the Monastery of Carrobiolo d Monxa and the Princess entered the convent of Restocco. After a long study the Prince was ordained by the Bishop of Lodi and he officiated at his first mass Monday.

The Restocco Chapel was crowded with church dignitaries and many friends of the former Prince and Princess. The latter came to the altar railing accompanied by Carmelite sisters. While she took her vows the Mother Superior removed the white veil of the novitate.

Her former husband saw her features for but a moment and then they were hidden from him by the black veil. At the conclusion of the ceremony, Father Ignatius chanted the te deum and then placed a crown of roses on the head of Sister Maria of Jesus.

Wales' Visit Costly In Taxes on Estate

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 3.—(AP.)—Because he entertained the Prince of Wales once, James A. Burden has been paying additional taxes on his Long Island estate at Syosset. He found the reason when he complained to the assessors about a 225 per cent increase. His protests resulted in a reduction of assessment from $600,000 to $500,000.

AX FIEND KILLS HEALER, WIFE, 4 CHILDREN

Detroit Family Wiped Out; Remains Found by Realty Dealer After Farm Sale

DETROIT, July 3.—(AP.)—Benjamin Evangelistia, 43, his wife, Santina, 42, and their four children were found slain in their home in St. Aubin avenue here, shortly before noon today.

All apparently were victims of an ax slayer. Evangelistia's head was completely severed and the heads of the others had been beaten in.

The children were Angeline, 8; Margaret, 6; Jean, 4, and Marrow, 18 months.

VICTIM KNOWN AS HEALER

The body of Evangelistia, known in the Italian neighborhood as a religious healer and mystic was behind his desk, his arms folded across his chest. The others were found in the second floor bedrooms.

Discovery of the bodies was made by Vincent Elias, a real estate dealer, through whom Evangelistia yesterday completed arrangements for the purchase of a farm near Marine City, Michigan.

HEAD ON FLOOR

Elias pushed open the front door of the house which he found unlocked and walked into Evangelistia's office. He saw Evangelistia's body, the head lying on the floor beside the chair.

WOMAN, ESCORT HURT IN CRASH

Police are seeking light on an automobile crash on Babcock boulevard near Keown Station, early today, that sent a woman to Allegheny General Hospital seriously injured and her escort wandering dazed through the countryside.

Mrs. Anna Montgomery, 30, of 941 North Lincoln avenue, North Side, was found in a field 100 feet from the roadway by C. E. Sherrick, of 110 Railroad avenue, Carnegie. He took her to the hospital where it was said she had suffered a broken right leg, cuts on the head and possibly internal injuries.

The woman told police she and her brother-in-law, Otto Horne, of Diana street, had gone for a ride early today, following a family reunion. She remembered nothing, she said, after being blinded by the headlights of a car coming toward them, until she regained consciousness in the hospital.

Police could not establish that there had been a collision with another car. They learned that Horne later was found wandering, dazed, in West View, his head cut.

DISBARMENT WARNING

ESTHER I. KATTEN

Miss Katten, Pittsburgh woman attorney, rebuked and warned of disbarment by the state Superior Court, sitting in Philadelphia, for advising a client to ignore a writ of supersedeas allowed last April 29 by Judge Linn, Superior Court.

MOTHER SICK, COURT DEFIED

Fear that separation of a child from her sick mother might result in the parent's death prompted Attorney Esther I. Katten to advise the mother to ignore the court's order that the baby be returned to its father, it was revealed today.

Attorney Katten advised Mrs. Ida Kaufman not to turn over her 5-year-old daughter, Ruth, to her father, as Superior Court directed, and because of her action was rebuked and warned of disbarment by the Superior Court, sitting yesterday in Philadelphia.

Judge Richard A. Kennedy, of the County Court, made an order April 24 of $10 a week on Lewis Kaufman, the father, and awarded the mother the custody of the child. The husband appealed to the Superior Court, and the appeal, giving him the child, was granted April 29.

But when notice was served on Mrs. Kaufman and Miss Katten, the latter told the mother to keep the child. Miss Katten said she was warned by the mother's physician that if the child were given to the father, the mother's health would be impaired and her death might result.

MARLOW CASE NEAR SOLUTION

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP.)—With the story of Humbert J. Fugazy, boxing promoter, added to their fund of information, police today sought the person who hired the killers of Frank Marlow, night club owner.

Fugazy told Police Commissioner Whalen that he occupied a table close to that where Marlow ate his last dinner and saw the night club owner answer a telephone call shortly before he went to his death in Flushing, Queens, 10 days ago.

CONTRADICTS WILSON

The promoter also said that Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion, who was a member of the Marlow dinner party, had been called to the telephone a few minutes before Marlow.

Fugazy's statements contradicted denials by Wilson that Marlow had been summoned to the telephone.

Fugzy told the commissioner that he dined with his daughter, his son-in-law and Detective Anthony Grieco, of the Coney Island district, at a restaurant in the Times Square district a week ago last Monday night.

FIVE DINERS HELD

A few feet from their table was one occupied by Marlow, Wilson, Mary "Mickey" Seidan, Al Seigal, dancer, Edward I. (Boston Louie) Lewis and Ignatius Coppa, proprietor of the restaurant.

These five are being held under $50,000 bail each as material witnesses.

The promoter said he chatted with Marlow for a moment about boxers. He said he remembered distinctly that both Marlow and Wilson had been called to the telephone.

WHALEN OPTIMISTIC

After questioning Fugazy, Commissioner Whalen said:

"We have all the essential material right under our fingers. We believe we have caught up with two of the killers and are now on the trail of the third one, on whom we have excellent leads. We are positive that this third man was the one who hired the shooting—who put Marlow on the spot—and who lured him into the death car."

TALK BOUNTY FOR SUGAR PROMOTERS

Plan Suggested in Congress To Replace Flat Rate; Auto Tax May Be Lifted

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—A tentative proposal for paying a bounty to American sugar producers was injected today into the congressional war over sugar tariffs.

Senator W. H. McMaster (Rep.), of South Dakota, announced that the bounty plan was being considered on Captitol Hill as a substituate both for the flat rate of $2.40 on Cuban sugar, adopted by the House, and the tentative "sliding scale" of tariffs, favored by some administration leaders. McMaster declared the bounty proposal would help American producers directly and at a cost to the consuming public of only one-sixth the cost of the proposed tariff increase.

OPPOSITION VOICED

Democratic opposition was immediately voiced against the plan by Senator Pat Harrison (Dem.), of Mississippi. He declared Congress should not pick out the sugar industry for special protection when it had refused to pay an "indirect subsidy" to other agricultural products. They may propose inclusion of the sugar industry in the debenture in such a way that the bounty would be paid directly to the producer and not upon exports.

McMaster meanwhile pointed out that the increase in sugar tariffs, adopted by the House, would cost the American people about $80,000,000 a year in higher prices for sugar. As but one-sixth of this consumption is produced in America, he added, a bounty paid direct to the producer would be but one-sixth as costly as the tariff increase.

TALK BOUNTY PLAN

"There are some economic students who believe that a bounty to the producer would solve the producer's problem without adding enormous financial burdens to the American public. As we produce but one-sixth of the amount of sugar consumed in this country, a bounty of one and one-half cents (1½ cents) a pound would cost only one-sixth as much as an increase in the tariff from $1.76 to $2.40 a hundred pounds, as has been approved by the House," McMaster said.

Lifting of Auto Tax Discussed

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(AP.)—Whether American automobile manufacturers are willing to stand for a reduction or removal of the present 25 per cent duty on imported passenger cars and trucks shares interest with other tariff developments at the Capitol.

Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee replied to charges by Democrats that the farmers were being given a "raw deal" in the revision, declaring they were "so anxious to make political capital out of the situation that they are imagining all sorts of rates and unjust schedules."

Meanwhile, Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the metals sub-committee, awaited replies to the invitations sent yesterday to four of the leading automobile and truck manufacturers, asking them to appear July 11 to give their views on a proposal to reduce or wipe out the automobile tariff.

Reports have been circulated for the past year that certain manufacturers believe they would be better off without a tariff, or at least with a reduced duty, and Senator Reed is understood to have been actuated in sending the invitations by a desire to bring into the open the producers' views.

The Finance Committee has not acted on any schedules as yet and is not likely to do so for some time, adding that so far as the revision has go the farmers and producers by far have been given "the best of it."

"Love Intoxication" Plea May Save Woman's Killer

International News Service.

BERLIN, July 3.—Principal figure in one of Germany's most sensational murder trials, Dr. Peter Richter, a young and rising physician of Bingen-on-the-Rhine, is under sentence of death today for the murder of his sweetheart, Fjukaethe Merten, a young and pretty divorcee.

The death sentence marked the climax of a trial which for a week flooded the front pages of newspapers throughout Germany. But in spite of the death sentence, it is unlikely Dr. Richter will have to lay his head upon the executioner's block, because the circumstances of the murder were so extraordinary that the court itself declared it would "use all its means to obtain an amelioration of the sentence."

According to testimony of expert alienists, the murdered woman exerted an influence over Dr. Richter which led him into acts no normal man would commit. Prof. Huebne, noted psychiatrist, said this influence was so pronounced that Dr. Richter was in a state of "love intoxication" and committed one crime after another for her sake.

Frau Mertens died from the result of drugs alleged to have been administered by the doctor. An autopsy performed immediately after death revealed no poison, but the body was exhumed some two weeks later and a drug was found in large quantities in the woman's stomach.

Richter at first denied administering the poison, until a druggist revealed his frequent purchases of it.

'Old Folks at Home' Sung At Foster Kin Funeral

Another was "Nearer My God To Thee," written by Sarah Flower Adams, a cousin of Mrs. Foster.

It was the wish of Mrs. Foster's son, William Barclay Foster, 1251 Murdock avenue, that Mabel King, contralto, of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, sing one of his uncle's favorites, because, as he put it, "The old folks really are at home."

A large number of relatives, friends and neighbors of Mrs. Foster, widow of Morrison Foster, one of the few Democrats to serve in the State Senate from Allegheny County during his lifetime, were present at the services conducted by the Rev. Mr. Cheatham, of Calvary Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Foster was buried at Allegheny Cemetery beside her husband, in the same lot in which the great composer was laid to rest.

Mrs. Foster was the granddaughter of Judge John M. Snowden, third mayor of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Foster's grandmother, Eliza Oliver, founded the Edgeworth Seminary at Edgeworth, a school for girls, and also the Sewickley Presbyterian Church.

JACK BLACK, EX-CONVICT, TELLS OF PRISON EVILS

CONFERENCE HEARS NEED OF REFORM

Author, Once Prisoner, Backs Ideas Offered by W. R. Hearst to Social Workers

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Prison bars, convict stripes, the deadening thud of the lock that shuts out liberty and admits misery, sullen hatreds, confused thinking, the tell-tale prison pallor.

The hope that gleams in every convict's breast, the plans to escape, the monotony of the daily grind and perchance, the question, What is life?

Visions of these shot through the consciousness of those who crowded Polk Hall, civic auditorium yesterday at the national conference of social work to listen to Jack Black, author of "You Can't Win," relate his experiences in prison and give his observations.

As a summary of his ideas on crime, crime prevention and prison reform, Black read the letter William Randolph Hearst wrote May 20 to the American Study Commission.

"This document has in it the things we believe in and stand for. It has been printed in many newspapers and should be translated into every language." He fairly shouted—

QUALITIES MISDIRECTED

With the emphasis that can be imparted only by deep conviction, Black made this paragraph stand out from the letter:

"The qualities of courage and resourcefulness which make a successful criminal might, if properly directed and developed, make a successful honest man."

Black then brought out the following paragraph with almost as much prominence:

"It is the duty, and indeed the advantage of us reputable American citizens, who have the power and numbers to control circumstances, to see that this viril youth has the RIGHT opportunity to make GOOD CITIZENS out of them and not CRIMINALS."

Starting his talk with a consideration of the fundamentals of conduct—the ideas that move individuals to be good or bad—Black said that persons who do not learn to think fairly straight sooner or later land in jail.

"Most persons who begin to reason after landing in the penitentiary, reason wrongly for the simple reason that they use the false ideas and the warped mental processes they had when arrested."

HOLDS NO GRUDGE

Black said he had no animosities held over from his time behind bars, that he was still trying to arrive at correct ideas and to apply them in a way that would keep him in step with society.

Referring to his own childhood, and the beginnings of those thought processes that eventually brought him into conflict with the law, Black said the ideal of successful boyhood in his community was the lad who could steal the most coal off the railroad cars during winter time.

Some idea of the long road Black traveled in rehabilitating himself was indicated by the somewhat whimsical references he made to breaking of wrong habits.

"The hardest habits for a criminal to break are those that are purely or largely mental.

"Gambling, for instance, is a hard habit to break because it is 100 per cent mental.

"The drug habit is difficult to overcome because it is about 90 per cent mental. I know, because I have gambled and I have dallied around with narcotics.

"The booze habit is not so hard to break because it is only about 50 per cent mental.

"But the hot biscuit addict doesn't have much difficulty in weaning himself because that habit is purely physical."

CENSURES METHODS

Referring to some of the discipline practiced in prisons, Black said he could not agree with the practices in general.

"I am sure there is something wrong with our prisons.

"Some intelligent people say the officers and guards should be reformed before trying to do anything with a prisoner. Confucious said that man differs only a little from an animal.

"I can testify from my own experience that jailers try to separate him from that 'little' when he goes to jail."

Dignity and self-respect for delinquent girls, the development of personality among them, is the aim of an experiment in New York, Mrs. Fannie French Morse, of Hudson, N. Y., told the conference.

"The result of this experiment is to develop in the individual girl a realization of her own worth and dignity. We have changed the guard house into a social center and have discarded that bugaboo of most institutions—'discipline.'"

It is also alleged that Daisy Kirker Lewis had ingratiated herself in the esteem of the deceased and that from and after March 1, 1929, he had turned against his family.

The property in question belongs to Nellie Brothers, it is stated. A preliminary injunction has been granted and the hearing set for Saturday morning.

HUGE INCREASE SHOWN IN TAX REFUNDS

U.S.Steel Given $15,756,595 Rebate; Other Firms Each Get More Than Million

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(AP.)—An increase of nearly 80 per cent in the monthly rate at which tax refunds have been made by the Treasury is noted in a report published today by the joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation covering the period from June 1 to December 31, 1928.

The total for the period was placed at $106,569,893, including payments received by the Treasury in excess of amounts due and interest on those sums. This brought the monthly average up to $15,224,270 as compared with $8,402,147 from March 1, 1927, to April 24, 1928.

FIRMS GET BIG SUMS

The United States Steel Corporation and subsidiaries received the largest refund, $15,756,595, while more than a dozen other corporations, including the Aluminum Company of America and subsidiaries, obtained settlements in excess of a million dollars each. The Aluminum Company refund was $1,287,426.

The committee found that 83 per cent of the total settlements involved excess profits taxation between 1917 and 1921, that 42 per cent touched the questions of invested capital, special assessment and amortization, and that 33 per cent had to do with "the most troublesome provisions of our present revenue act" requiring "valuations which are based largely on judgment."

REFUNDS TERMED JUST

The increase in the rate of refund was attributed to "the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the National Life Insurance Company case; the large refund to the United States Steel Corporation, and the drive of the bureau of internal revenue) to settle old tax cases."

"In regard to the individual refunds," the committee asserted, "it appears that on the whole the action of the commissioner in making these allowances shows proper, just and careful handling in the face of many difficulties."

The closed session was requested, it was said, for the purpose of keeping from the public the terms of a separation agreement made between O'Neill and his wife last February.

One of the provisions of the agreement, it is understood, is that Mrs. O'Neill shall keep out of the press anythiug referring to their married relations, the penalty for which would reduce the size of her alimony.

DerelictMinister, Once War Hero, To Get Vets' Aid

International News Service.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Sorely in need himself of the helping hand he so often extended to unfortunates, the Rev. David Brown, 60, and haggard and penniless, today found no dearth of offers of aid to restore him to society and health and happiness.

Unkempt, homeless and hungry, Brown collapsed in the street. He arrived here three weeks ago from Montreal, he said, and became a derelict. He wore the British distinguished service medal and carried letters of commendation for his part with the American Army in the Filipino resurrection. Credentials identified him as a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, ordained in 1894 at Montreal.

Today he was to appear before Judge Joseph Burke, who is past commander of Blackhawk Post, American Legion.

"We must do whatever will rehabilitate and reclaim the Rev. Mr. Brown," said the jurist. "The American Legion will naturally interest itself in him. I have also called his plight to the attention of George Dixon, a leading Methodist layman."

U. S. AGAINST PARIS DEBT STRINGS

Washington Will Refuse to Accept Any Reservations In French Settlement

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The American government will accept no reservations to France's ratification of the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement—at least, no reservations that make French payments to the United States contingent upon Germany's reparations payments to France.

Administration officials were quite positive on this point today, while expressing gratification at the belated steps which the Poincare government is taking to obtain parliamentary approval of the three-year-old pact.

The expectation now is that France will ratify the agreement considerably in advance of August 1 and thus escape having to pay $400,000,000 in cash on that date for the purchase of surplus A. E. F. stocks. The war stocks debt, under the general debt accord, is merged into the greater war debt of some $4,000,000,000, payable over 62 years at very low interest.

There is considerable curiosity here, however, and some concern over the threat in Paris to ratify "with reservations." Of course, a thousand and one reservations could be attached to the ratification so long as they were not attached directly to the pact itself. But any attempt to insert a proviso in the agreement to the effect that France will pay the United States as long as Germany continues to pay France will be promptly and firmly rejected by Washington. On that point State Department policy and Senate policy are one.

PARIS, July 3.—(AP.)—The Mellon-Berenger debt settlement, which fixed terms of payment of war obligations between France and the United States, has negotiated a difficult hurdle in its path to ratification by the French Parliament.

Both the committee on foreign affairs of the Chamber of Deputies and the financ committee voted to recommend passage of the ratification measure. They qualified their approvals by inserting the clause "with reservations," in their decisions, but it was understood last night that these reservations would be outside of the text of the document which will be presented to President Gaston Doumergue for signature and then be forwarded to President Hoover.

YOUTH ADMITS 32 ROBBERIES

John Sandor, Jr., 23, of 4710 Gladstone street, confessed early today that he had burglarized 32 houses in the Squirrel Hill and Hazelwood districts, police said.

The alleged confession came after Sandor, in company with police, had made an all-night tour of the two districts, Sandor pointing out, police said, houses he had entered. So far as he could remember he described what he had stolen in each place, the officers declared.

CAUGHT BY GIRL

Sandor was arrested early yesterday after he was trapped by Hilda Huntsman in her home at 4606 Poland street. He was subdued by police after a struggle. An accomplice escaped after a revolver battle with a policeman.

Police today were notifying owners of houses pointed out to them to call at the Hazelwood police station to identify, if possible, some of the truck load of loot found in the Sandor home following his arrest. Already 21 persons have identified articles of clothing, jewelry and furniture stolen from their homes over a period of several months.

Police arrested John Sandor, Sr., and Mrs. Mary Sandor, parents of the prisoner. The mother later was released to care for several smaller children of the family, but the father still was being held today as a suspicious person.

KNEW HIS "ROSES"

"I know my roses," Mike Josvai, of 554 Frayne street, told the sergeant at the Hazelwood station, when we went there to ask permission to dig up two bushes growing in Sandor's front yard.

"A few weeks ago two of my bushes were stolen from my yard," he continued. "Soon as I heard of Sandor's arrest I recalled the theft and went over to his house to see if I could find them. There they were, growing in his front yard."

Inspector Albert Beebe, after investigating Josvai's claim, ordered police to allow him to dig up his roses today.

Police said that one of Sandor's victims was a washwoman, whose home had been entered and robbed of eight bars of soap.

The other accident occurred near Cracow where, in artillery practice, a shell landed in a group of military observers, killing one and injuring several others.

MALONE OPENS MAYORALTY DRIVE IN CARRICK SPEECH

CITY REFORMS PLEDGED BY CANDIDATE

Mellon, Armstrong Confer; Mayoralty Race Still Lies Between Kline, Malone

President of Council James F. Malone has fired the opening gun in his campaign for mayor by declaring a familiarity with the problems confronting that office and pledging their solution by "efficient and diligent service to the people that pay the bills."

Malone's maiden speech of the mayoralty campaign was made at a dinner given last night by the Twenty-ninth Ward Republican Committee in the Southern Country Club, Claus avenue, Carrick. Former Burgess Ellsworth C. Trott was toastmaster.

Other speakers were Senator Frank J. Harris, Chairman Eugene L. Crowe, Vice Chairman Mrs. Sadie Braun, Harry Close, James Kelley and Harold (Pie) Traynor, of the Pittsburgh baseball team.

DESCRIBES DUTIES

Malone dwelt at length on the duties of the mayor and declared he would be administering the office not only for a day or a month, but for the entire term.

"I never believed that a public official was bigger than the people who elected him; on the contrary I have always realized that the public office holder was merely the servant of all the people," Malone averred.

Outlining the moral tone he would demand for the city, the speaker said:

"Pittsburgh will not be known as the home of the racketeer when I am mayor. The racketeer does not get by because he gives any value to the community, but because he gives something else to somebody."

PLEDGES CLEANUP

The speaker paid a tribute to the committeemen and women of the Twenty-ninth Ward in organizing to make the community a better place in which to live.

He pointed out that politics properly directed was the legitimate agency for the people's use in obtaining recognition from officials when public improvements were demanded.

Regarding unsavory politics that caused many citizens to refrain from taking interest in public affairs, Malone said the end was near.

IN FIGHT TO FINISH

He said the leaders were preparing to begin conferences with a view of getting behind one candidate and eliminating the others.

"No shuffling of the cards can take me out of this contest. If I was not convinced that I was capable, willing and ready to fill the mayor's office I would not have submitted my candidacy," Malone declared.

LEADERS CONFER

Following a conference yesterday afternoon both former State Chairman W. L. Mellon and Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong denied that they had discussed politics. Mellon is understood to have talked with Senators James J. Coyne and M. G. Leslie, also.

Lack of action by the leaders yesterday left the mayoralty fight as previously outlined, with Mayor Charles H. Kline and Councilman James F. Malone avowed candidates, and with Judge Richard W. Martin undecided whether to run. There is a report that, if Judge Martin decides to stay on the bench, Commissioner C. C. McGovern may enter as a candidate for mayor.

Wild Deer Move To County Park

Wild deer have taken up a habitation in North Park, County Commissioner E. V. Babcock announced today. Driving through the park this morning with park employes, the Commissioner came across two large does which had evidently adopted the park as a feeding ground. He announced that every effort would be made to encourage the deer to roam the park. The county's domestic deer are kept behind an eight-foot wire fence.

El Chicorriti, Bull Killer, Finds U.S. Girls Different

Pittsburgh will have the opportunity to see a bull fight before it is many weeks older, if the intentions of El Chicorrito, Spain's leading toreador, do not turn into paving blocks.

El Chicorrito, whose name is a touchstone to enthusiasm wherever Spanish blood boils, is in Pittsburgh planning just that event. His plans are a little indefinite now, but he has the desire, and he has the experience.

El Chicorrito assures you—and displays newspaper clippings to back up his word—that he has fought bulls wherever fighting bulls were to be found. He began at 16. Since then he has acquired 70 wounds, some medals, the friendship of his king, the admiration of countless senoritas and a thirst for other worlds to conquer.

AND IN AMERICA—

"Life," said El Chicorrito, pointing to his head, "is not there. It is here," laying a hand over his heart.

"It is in the charm of graceful women, the taste of a good cigar, the zest of the people's acclaim. There I find romance."

While the senor has been looking about for an angry bull and a smooth arena, he has been making some other observations.

"The American girl is a what you call jolly good fellow; but she knows nothing about love. Always she thinks about money, clothes, to go here, to go there. She is beautiful, but businesslike. The women of Spain! Ah, senor, love is their life."

He would like to conquer Pittsburgh, and believes that all he needs is sufficient publicity, an arena and the bull. He would prefer a bull of the tough Miauri breed—the sort raised in Spain especially for the arena. Several bulls have been offered to him here, but none of the right sort. There is a probability that he will have to fall back upon plain American bull; which he regards as an easy solution.

Possessed of a magnificent physique, he garbs it with the grace of a Beau Brummel. His speech is soft, but his handclasp convinces you that the odds are against the bulls. His courtesy and tact seem consistent with his devotion to his one pet—a canary. He is an enthusiast-in-general.

The case was settled by paying the girl the entire sum, he was told. Testimony disclosed that Popp and Blazier kept $700.

The CORRECT OIL

for your car . . . and for today's faster driving speeds

THE speed at which you operate your car has a very direct bearing on oil consumption—and consequently on the grade of oil you should use.

More than ever do you require an oil that combines high viscosity with low volatility . . . an oil that will neither thin down nor evaporate appreciably at high speeds.

Used in the correct grade, ATLANTIC Paraffine Base MOTOR OIL is the most amazingly slow-consuming oil your motor has ever known. Slow consumption means longer efficiency—and, of course, less oil to buy.

Consider these things when choosing a motor oil—especially in the light of who makes it. Experience is the most important ingredient in it. The Atlantic Refining Company puts sixty years of experience into ATLANTIC Paraffine Base MOTOR OIL.

Orange Apple Slips On Banana Peel, Falls Plumb

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP.)—Orange Apple faw'd down and went crash yesterday and wound up in the hospital.

Orange is only 7. They asked him his name and he said "Orange," so the obliging nurse brought him one. They asked him again and he said "Apple," and the nurse got suspicious. She peeked into a phone book and found Orange Apple listed. She called him up, and sure enough he was little Orange's daddy.

They asked Orange, Jr., how he happened to faw down. He said he slipped on a banana peel.

FEW DETOURS FOR HOLIDAY

Pennsylvania highways over tomorrow will carry the heaviest traffic in their history, the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh declared today, providing the weather is fair. The state highway system is in splendid shape for the holiday rush, despite some major construction programs now under way. Highway crews virtually suspended oiling operations last week and detours were put in shape.

West of Pittsburgh there are two detours in effect on the Lincoln Highway, U. S. Route 30, between Crafton and Moon Run and between Imperial and Clinton. The William Penn, U. S. Route 22, is closed from the Allegheny County line to the West Virginia line. West Virginia Route 2 between Wellsburg and Wheeling is closed and the detour is in poor condition.

South of Pittsburgh the National Pike, U. S. Route 40, has a detour from Brownsville to Uniontown over paved roads. On U. S. Route 19, the Perry Highway, the detour from Canonsburg to Washington via Houston and Meadowlands, has been removed. On State Route 88, two detours, between Finleyville and Monongahela, and between Charleroi and Speers, are in fair condition.

North of Pittsburgh the detour on Pennsylvania Route 18, between New Castle and New Wilmington, is reported fair, and there is a detour between Harlansburg and Mercer on U. S. Route 19, the Perry Highway.

On the Lincoln Highway east of Pittsburgh there is a long detour between East McKeesport and Greensburg. Farther east there are two stretches of one-way traffic just west of Ligonier.

The William Penn, U. S. Route 22, is clear east of Pittsburgh except for a detour between Hollidaysburg and Water street. Pennsylvania Route 31, south of Greensburg, has a detour between Mt. Pleasant and Donegal.

BATTLE LOOMS FOR JURY JOB

There may be a battle for the minority party place on the board of jury commissioners at the Democratic primary in September.

"The incumbent of this office has had two terms and we believe some other Democrat is entitled to consideration at this time," said Dougherty.

Mrs. Alberta Hull, of Duquesne, has told friends that she intends to seek the Republican nomination for jury commissioner.

SECOND WISSER WILL LEAVES SON OUT

One of Eight Children Loses Share in McKeesporter's Estate Valued at $325,000

One of the most unusual cases ever to crop up in the Allegheny Count register of wills office came to light today with the finding of a second will in the $325,000 estate of Christopher H. Wisser, of McKeesport, dead two years.

The second will disinherits entirely a son, Florence Wisser. The first will distributed the estate among the wife and eight children. McKeesport residents regarded Florence as his father's favorite son.

The unusual circumstances became known today following a probate hearing before the deputy register of wills, Henry Erisman, and revealed that the discovery has developed a contest over the estate.

8 CHILDREN IN FIRST

The first will, filed in June, 1927, gave the wife one-third and the eight children two-thirds of the estate. In December, 1928, Attorney John F. Oyeman, of Baltimore, suddenly appeared with the second document. He explained he had forgotten its existence for months and sad come across it one day among his effects.

He had witnessed the will in the Baltimore law office of a friend, Attorney Albert S. Gill. Gill died before Wisser, and many of his legal documents were turned over to Oyeman, the latter said.

SECOND HEARING CALLED

Oyeman's unexpected appearance was none too soon—in fact, just two days before the $325,000 estate was to be distributed by the terms of the first will. The executors had asked for the decree of distribution and eight of the 10 days usual grace had elapsed.

Besides ignoring Florence, the second will increases by $25,000 the inheritances of a daughter, Mary, and a son, Albert. The wife's share of one-third is unchanged and seven children, with Mary and Albert favored, share the remainder.

The case was far from cleared up when the hearing was ended and a second hearing will be held in Baltimore. Executors of the first will have asked for more information on the drawing up of the second document. They are unable to understand why Wisser went to Baltimore to make the second will.

M. A. Wheeler asked $25,000 damages for personal injuries from the Harris Pump and Supply Company in a suit filed in Common Pleas court, alleging that while his automobile was held at a railroad crossing on Neville Island, May 25 it was struck by a truck of the defendant company. A protruding pipe on the truck penetrating the rear of the automobile and struck him, causing serious injury, he charged.

GIRL, 9, KILLED BY TRUCK

On her way to summer parochial school, 9-year-old Helen Baksur, of 618 Second street, Versailles, was struck by a truck and fatally injured in Walnut street, near Olympia Park, McKeesport, according to a report to the coroner. She died half an hour later in the McKeesport Hospital.

The truck, owned by the Seven Baker Brothers, Wabash avenue, was driven by Joseph Collins, of Wittman street, West End. He was arrested by Versailles police and turned over to the coroner. He told police the child walked directly into the path of his machine.

SPARK OF HUMAN LIFE

Where does it come from and where does it go? Everything begins in Electro chemistry and everything ends the same way. Youth is the great jewel of life. With a clean blood stream it is glorious, and every one is entitled to this heritage for a Happy Old Age. Health makes us more kind and considerate, and that is about all that is needed to make this world a better place to live in. If the Spark is not in Protein substance our body would die.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, former New York Health Commissioner, now U. S. Senator, said: "There is one food without which life would soon end—Protein." This sun-kissed atom that gives and sustains life finds solace in your blood stream. The principal object of this laboratory is to restore health to suffering men and women and thereby enable them to earn a livelihood.

KONJOLA AGAIN DEADLY ENEMY TO RHEUMATISM

For Twenty Years Man Sought In Vain for Relief That New Medicine Brought

Remarkable, but true, Konjola, the new and different medicine, seems to be at its very best when pitted against those obstinate cases that have held on, year after year, defying all sorts of medicines and treatments. The records of Konjola fairly overflow with the amazing reports of its success in such stubborn cases.

MR. R. A. SMYERS

Yet this is not remarkable, for all of Konjola's 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs—work together, yet singly, at the very source of the ailment. Konjola battles the causes; that is why its results are quick, certain and lasting. Konjola is not designed to give mere temporary relief; its goal is complete and glorious health in place of pain and suffering. Learn how Konjola works; learn why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends. Meet the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. Hear from him the wonderful history of this wonderful medicine for the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and for rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. See what Konjola does, then decide what you will do about Konjola. Be guided by the experiences of others. For instance, consider the case of Mr. R. A. Smyers, of Bulger, near Pittsburgh, who exclaimed to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"What words of mine can pay fitting praise to the medicine that relieved me of rheumatism that had tortured me for twenty years! I never expected to be rid of this stubborn affliction, for in those twenty years scores of medicines and treatments failed utterly to afford the slightest relief. The pain started in my ankles and knees and as time passed the pains visited every part of my poor body. It was with difficulty that I was able to get around. When a friend urged me to give Konjola a trial I was so disgusted with medicines generally that I paid little attention to his advice.

"But as I read day after day about Konjola's triumphs I began to have a little faith. Finally I decided to try Konjola, and what a lucky day that was for me. Just as I was told it would do, Konjola lost no time in getting to work. My organs were stimulated, and as the poisons and impurities were swept from my system I could feel myself growing better in every way. Then the rheumatic pains became less and less severe. How happy I was to realize that I had, at last, come to a turn in the road. In four weeks I was free absolutely from rheumatism, and certainly feeling better than in years. What a splendid medicine Konjola is. Never before have I indorsed a medicine for the very good reason that not one of them helped me. But how different with Konjola, the master medicine of them all."

Of such splendid experiences is the history of Konjola made up. Here is a medicine for the aged and the infant; a medicine, indeed, for all who are ill and who would know again the joy that comes with health.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

DUERR BOND UP IN VOTE CASE

John B. Duerr, former Stowe Township commissioner, accused of election frauds, waived hearing and posted $1,000 bond before Alderman George J. Anderson yesterday. Until three weeks ago Duerr was commissioner of Stowe Township.

During the recent trial of the election board of the Eighth District of the township, Duerr was mentioned as having been the man who deposited 100 ballots in the ballot box at the September, 1927, election. Several days after the trial District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner ordered Duerr's arrest.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Social Set to Turn Out In Force to Observe 'Glorious Fourth'

PARADES and picnics and shooting-crackers and special parties and tournaments at country clubs—mix them all together and you will have the essence of the Glorious Fourth that arrives tomorrow to give us all a holiday. While from a purely social point of view very few large affairs are set for Independence Day, there are lots of small parties and the country clubs probably will attract their full memberships, with ample additions of friends, to enjoy the sports and the dancing.

One party arranged for the evening will be given in honor of one of the girls who made her debut during our "little season." This is a dinner dance which the Frank Scott Willocks, of Sewickley, will give in the Allegheny Country Club, having as their guest of honor Caroline Crittenden. Caroline was introduced, you remember, at a tea which was given June 22 at the home of her parents, the William Jackson Crittendens, of Shields.

ANOTHER debutante party set for this week is a dinner dance which the William Christopher Robinsons, of Franklin Farm, Sewickley Heights, will give Saturday evening in the club. The Robinsons are entertaining for Margaret and Anne Rose, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Don Rose, who were introduced to their parents' friends last Friday.

MR. AND MRS. HOWARD S. JONES, of Ben Avon, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anna Mae Jones, and Harry C. Bixler, son of Mrs. C. N. Bixler, of Conneaut, O., which was solemnized June 28.

AN engagement of interest is announced today in the betrothal of Nancy Lea Paull, daughter of the George Paulls, of Stanton avenue, to Robert Baldwin Nation, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Nation, of Muncie, Ind.

Nancy Lea is an Ogontz School girl, and, incidentally, is an accomplished horsewoman. I understand that she is planning to set a fall date for her wedding.

AT this time of year, though, we can't keep away long from the topic of traveling, since it is uppermost in most minds. Among those who are away from home just now is Mrs. Moses B. Suydam, of Pembroke place. Mrs. Suydam is down at Walnut Hall, near Lexington, Ky., visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harkness Edwards, the former Mary Suydam.

Mrs. Howard S. Evans, of Beechwood boulevard, and her two daughters, Evelyn and Laura, have been in New York for several days, I hear. They stopped at the Barclay, I believe.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Kingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Kingston, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Arthur Jackson Stewart, son of Mrs. Alexander Stewart, of Parnassus, which was solemnized Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church of Poughkeepsie by the Rev. Earl L. Douglass. Mrs. Harland M. Stollar, of Parnassus, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and Miss Grace M. Eames, of Baltimore, roommate of the bride at Russell Sage College, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Josephine Plowman, of Philadelphia; Miss Helen Perry, of Cleveland; Miss Bernice Wood, of Watertown, N. Y.; Miss Matil Hanffman, of Jamaica, L. I., and Miss Elsa Ransom and Miss Genevieve Caven, of Poughkeepsie. Milton A. Hopf, of Linwood, N. J., was best man and the ushers included Robert F. Knox and John Cavo, of Poughkeepsie; Paul Schuman, of New York; Elliott Harris, of Philadelphia; James Hutt Davis, of Angola, and Edward F. Vreeland, of Brewster, Mass. After a trip to Seagirt, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will be at home in Parnassus.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Carol Clemenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Clemenson, of Pelham, N. Y., to John Hazlett Carrison, of this city, the ceremony having been performed on Saturday, June 15, in the manse of the First Presbyterian Church, Altoona, Pa. Following the ceremony, which was witnessed only by the two families and close friends, a wedding supper was served at the Penn Alto Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison will make their home in North Park avenue, Warren, O. The bridegroom is a Lehigh University man.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. GILBERT E. BLAINE, of Homewood avenue, have left for an extensive western tour. They will spend some time in California before returning home about August 1.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement of Miss Mary Violet McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. McKee, of Butler, to Hugh Stuart Fullerton, Jr., of New York, son of Hugh S. Fullerton, noted sports writer. The engagement was announced Saturday at a bridge-luncheon given in her home. Miss McKee was graduated from the May Lyon School at Swarthmore, Miss Ilman's School at Philadelphia and Mt. Holyoke College, later doing graduate work at Columbia. Mr. Fullerton was graduated from Mercersburg Academy and Princeton University. No wedding date has been set.

A BRIDGE party will be held Saturday afternoon, July 13, on the lawn of the P. J. Donahoe home in Stanton Heights under the auspices of the Alumnae Association of St. Xavier's Academy. Mrs. Clara Donahoe Tebbets, president of the association, is chairman.

MRS. MARJORIE KEIL BENTON is in Atlantic City for the week as the guest of her mother, Mrs. John J. Keil, who has been there the last three months.

New York's Most Beautiful Hands

They are the hands of Miss Annette Grandin, the most photographed hands in the world. They are so white and smooth that they can stand "close-up" reproduction. And here's the secret according to Miss Grandin:

"I use no fancy or expensive lotions, but make a skin bleach of my own. I get three ounces of Orchard White at the corner druggist and mix it with the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a remarkable, and at the same time perfectly harmless, bleach. I rub a little into my hands—also my neck and face—every night, and don't worry about freckles, tan or redness. This simple mixture not only keeps the skin clear and white, but luxuriously soft and smooth to the touch.

HEBREW FUND NEARS GOAL

CLEVELAND, July 3.—(AP.)—The Hebrew Union College announced that its campaign for a $5,000,000 endowment fund had passed the $4,000,000 mark and that the $500,000 subscription of Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist, offered on condition that $3,500,000 be raised by July 1, was made a certainty.

Dr. Julian Morgenstern, president of the college, said the fund would not have totaled $3,500,000 yesterday had not Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, and Mrs. Ochs increased their original constribution of $200,000 to $500,000. The second Ochs gift assured the college of the Rosenwald subscription.

President Morgenstern said subscriptions total $4,119,382.76. He expressed confidence the $5,000,000 goal soon would be reached and said the endowment campaign under Mr. Ochs' chairmanship would be continued.

The college, a rabbinical training school, was founded by the late Dr. Isaac M. Wise, father of Mrs. Ochs.

HEARST LAUDED FOR STAND IN FILM WAR

Independent Theater Owners Declare They Are Being Forced Out of Business

WASHINGTON, July 3.—William Randolph Hearst stands commended by the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors for his editorial condemning monopolistic combination in the motion picture industry, published in the Hearst newspapers last Sunday.

Approval of the editorial was unanimously voted yesterday at the conference of individual theater owners, who declared they are being forced out of business by "high film rentals and unfair trade practices."

The following telegram was sent to Mr. Hearst:

"Motion picture theater owners representing fifteen states, meeting under auspices Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors today voted unanimous approval of your editorial in Washington Sunday Herald entitled, 'What is the Administration Going to Do About This?'

"Testimony at this meeting showed that independent exhibitors are being forced out of business by the hundreds due to mergers of producers, high film rentals and other unfair and discriminatory practices."

KEEP UP FIGHT

"Exhibitor leaders commend you for your editorial calling for strict enforcement of the law and urge that you continue your efforts to the end that unlawful and monpolistic practices are stamped out in the motion picture industry."

Senator King (Dem.) of Utah, in a letter read at the meeting declared that "Congress should promptly enact measures that will preserve the principle of competition in the motion picture industry."

"Upon various occasions I have called the attention of the Department of Justice to practices of various producers which I believed were in violation of the Sherman law and the Clayton act.

"I believed that there was a determination upon the part of certain organizations to destroy the independent producer and the independent exhibitor and to establish an oppressive monopoly covering the entire motion picture field.

GREED RULES

"It would be little less than a calamity for the moving picture industry if it should be monopolistically controlled.

"Unfortunately, greedy and grasping individuals and organizations are seeking to monpolize substantially all fields of production of human endeavor. Giant corporations are being organized, and mergers and consolidations in every field of industry are being formed in order that monopolies may control in our industrial an economic life.

"In my opinion, the anti-trust laws now upon the statute books, if vigorously enforced, would afford substantial protection to the independent producers."

Shot Accidentally, Woman Asks $15,000

Mrs. Rose Hanula, and her husband, John Hanula, of 652 Becks Run road, filed suit against Ben Silverman, of Lombard street, in Common Pleas court, seeking to recover $15,000 for injuries suffered by Mrs. Hanula when she was shot accidentally.

Silverman was visiting the Hanula home January 29 and desired to look at a revolver which a son, John Hanula, Jr., was cleaning, it was alleged. Despite a warning by the son that the revolver was loaded, it was discharged by Silverman during the inspection, the bullet striking Mrs. Hanula according to the statement of claim.

COMPANY BARS MILK RIOTERS

The Liberty Dairy Products Company will not restore to employment striking drivers "who destroyed the company's property and brutally abused employes who remained loyal," said Paul E Reinhold, general manager, today in a circular letter to customers.

The letter, designated by the company as an answer to customers' questions in regard to the drivers' strike, asserts the trouble was fomented by Communists.

"UNIONISM A BLIND"

"No attempt has been made," says Reinhold, "to involve other companies, although their situation is identical; and the conclusion is that the cry of unionism is a blind to conceal other motives.

"At the time the strike began, the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation paid its drivers a guaranteed minimum wage of $31.50 a week, and some of the drivers earned as high as $70 a week. The week prior to the strike the drivers of the wholesale milk routes averaged $44.08 and the drivers of the retail routes averaged $35.20.

"WAGES INCREASED"

"Since then the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation has increased its weekly guarantee to its drivers to $35, with one day off each month with full pay and one week's vacation with full pay. This met the demands of the strikers so far as wages and working conditions are concerned.

"It never was compulsory for a driver to work every day. Days off were granted upon request. Some of the routes could be run in three hours and no routes required more than eight hours' work."

RAILWAY STRIKE THREATENS

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP.)—Locomotive engineers of six western railroads are considering a strike to compel carriers to recognize an individual-grievance agreement with their international brotherhood, R. E. Edrington, assistant grand chief of the brotherhood, revealed last night.

Engineers of the Missouri Pacific, the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis, the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Pacific railroads already have voted, Edrington said, and the vote now is being tabulated.

Negotiations between engineers and officials of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroads have come to an impasse, Edrington declared, predicting a strike vote by the engineers of those carriers soon.

Oother railroads in all parts of the country have become involved, Edrington said, and the strike threat might become national.

The controversy is based on the refusal of the railroads to deal with the engineers independently of the firemen and enginemen.

Drowned

HOWARD SWARTZ

BOY, 6, DROWNS AT PICNIC

An outing of a dozen telephone operators ended tragically last night when Howard Schwartz, Jr., 6, of 1 Bennett place, Homewood, a brother of one, was drowned in the Piney Fork swimming pool, Snowden Township.

Howard, according to his parents, had been taken by his sister, Ethel, 19, who informed them that the girls at work were having a little outing. Ethel wanted her brother, the baby of the family, to share in the fun. They left at noon yesterday. Six hours later Howard's lifeless body was recovered by Andrew Vaira, a life guard. Attempts to resuscitate him proved futile.

4 INJURED AS 4 AUTOS CRASH

Four persons were injured and four automobiles damaged in two accidents which occurred within a few minutes of each other in Bigelow boulevard near the Seventeenth street incline shortly before last midnight. Four motorists were arrested.

The first accident occurred, police said, when C. A. Rombach, 32, of 1901 Rockledge street, eastbound in the boulevard, brought his car to a stop in order to avoid striking a car coming in the opposite direction. The rear of Rombach's automobile was struck by one driven by C. N. Johnson, 46, of 4628 Henry street, the police reported.

In a traffic jam which followed, a machine operated by John Pagano, 29, of 160 Carver street, crashed into one driven by A. L. Bowser, 24, of 71 Crafton avenue, Crafton, injuring Bowser, his wife and their 1-year-old daughter, Jean. They were taken to the West Penn Hospital. Robert Bice, of 1508 Federal street, another motorist, who alighted from his machine when the first crash occurred, was cut by glass from the second accident. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

Rombach, Johnson, Pagano and Bowser were arrested and later released on forfeits.

GLADYS BROCKWELL

FILM STAR DIES OF INJURIES

HOLLYWOOD, July 3.—(INS.)—A colorful career on stage and screen that waxed brighter with the advent of sound pictures had ended tragically today with the death of Gladys Brockwell, one of filmdom's foremost character actresses. She succumbed in a hospital to injuries suffered last Thursday in an automobile accident.

A car in which she was riding with Thomas S. Brennan, Hollywood advertising executive, rolled down a 75-foot embankment near Calabassas. Brennan was only slightly injured. Miss Brockwell remained unconscious four days until her death last night from internal injuries.

Her first appearance before the footlights was made at the age of 3. She was starring in her own stock company at 17. She entered the films in their early days and attained stardom.

Introduction of the talkies afforded her an opportunity to win fresh recognition due to her speaking voice and legitimate stage experience. She scored a hit in "Lights of New York," one of the first all-talking productions. Thereafter her services were much in demand.

Flier's Own Story of Perils at Sea

was accidentally injured, quite seriously. He was hit on the head by a falling bag of tools, and had five stitches taken to close the wound.

Weather Favorable

On the same afternoon, he was already in condition to start with us on the proposed flight, however, so strong was his constitution and his will to be among the conquerors of the Atlantic.

The information we received from the weather bureaus before the start told us that weather conditions were extremely favorable for our journey as far west as the Azores. With this information in hand, we entered the plane at 4 o'clock that afternoon.

Our friends gathered around us to bid us good luck and godspeed. Among the prominent presons there to see us off were H. R. H. Don Alfonso de Orleans, a noted aviator, and General Sanjurjo, who holds an honorary aviation title, who is the enthusiastic sponsor of the Spanish air forces.

The plane we used was a Dornier 16 with Hispano-Suiza motors, made in the Hispano factory at Barcelona. They are of 640 horsepower each. We also carried a wireless transmitter capable of sending signals 200 miles while in flight.

Radio Range Cut

However, should the plane have to land on the sea, we could not extend our aerial, and consequently, the range of the transmitter then would be only 40 miles. This leeway was provided especially for the sending of SOS signals.

Our anchorage equipment consisted of a four-pronged anchor of crucible steel, weighing about 55 pounds, a hawser about 50 yards long, strong enough to withstand even the highest running sea.

Our navigation equipment consisted of two sextants, of a type improved by Gago Coutinho, the great Portuguese admiral, and which we discovered to be the best for our particular needs. We had a pair of Zeiss prismatic field glasses with seven adjustments for field, and which are very powerful.

We had a Wimperis compass and another made by Major Ruiz de Alda himself, and also a deviation-check instrument invented by Coutinho. We also had a magnesium compound in an instrument which checked the inclination; a torpedo speedometer, three magnetic compasses—two finely adjusted Hughes' instruments of wonderful accuracy adjusted to half-degrees, and another—an Ascania—with less precision.

We also had an instrument to check the deviation of our magnetic compasses and a slide-rule made by Gygrave to calculate our latitude in conjunction with other instruments; and four brands of navigation tablets—those caluculated by Newton, Pinto, Raddler and De Aguiro. We also had Bearson's Meridian navigation tables and also those those required by the royal Spanish navy.

Saved by Flares

Besides these things, we carried the necessary marine charts for the sea routes over which we were to fly; rules, compases, pencils, and all the other odds and ends that go to make up equipment for such a flight.

We also carried signal guns and flares—these finally saved our lives when we were drifting on the ocean during the dawn of the day the Eagle saved us. And, besides, we had a complete magnesium night lighting system; this is very powerful.

At 4:30 o'clock that Friday afternoon, we turned over the motors, with the intention of taking off right away.

But we had illy adjusted the weight in the plane—the balance was toward the front, moving the gravity center.

Of course, we did not know that at the moment. We said our goodbyes, and took off bravely—only to plunge the nose of the plane deep into the bay, and we ourselves got thoroughly drenched and chilled to the very marrow of our bones.

This did not deter us, however, and 10 minutes scarcely passed before we tried again—only to get our second drenching and discover the cause. The weight was still forward—and we could not get off the surface of the water.

Before attempting to get the plane into the air for the third time, Sergt. Madariaga and Major Gallarza took themselves back into the stern of the boat, toward the tail.

As we left, we threw off one of the fire extinquishers and one of the sextants, and then—without any difficulty—in less than a minute we felt our plane skimming up and out over the water with mighty speed. We at last had taken off on our trans-Atlantic crossing—or so we believed.

Delayed by Wind

In almost no time, the good old ship drummed up speed and altitude, and soon we were up 700 metres. We first pointed our plane out over the Mediterranean, then made for the mouth of the Bay, describing a semi-circle, and then we headed straight for Palos—the place from which Christopher Columbus cast anchor on his voyage of discovery to America.

At 4:54 o'clock, we set our course for Cape Cat; at 5:40, we flew over the cape, heading now straight for Tarifa, the extreme southern point of Spain, on the strait of Gibraltar.

When we flew over Tarifa, strong winds from the Orient, cutting crosswise over our tail, delayed us. An insufferable heat added to our discomfort at the moment.

'bove Trafalgar, the cross-winds were so strong we feared greatly for one of our wings, which seemed strained. For the weight of the plane was a little more than the wings could stand. This detracted from the degree of security characteristic of the plan, and placed us all in danger.

Soar Over Warships

Not long afterward, we passed over Cadiz, and as darkness had descended upon us and the strong cross winds and Sahara-born heat still made the flight almost unendurable, we then found ourselves over Cape St. Vincent. We were then seeing land for the last time for more than a week—and little did we know it.

We then flew over three separate groups of warships, which we took to be English. Two consisted of destroyers and small craft, and the other was made up of three superdreadnaughts.

Until this moment, we were in constant radio communication with the coastal station at Cadiz, whose operators were, by the way, the best friends we had in that city.

We lost touch with them one hour after passing over Cape St. Vincent. During that hour we radioed farewells to our families and friends.

Once we had passed over Cape St. Vincent we should have started to make directly for the Azores. But the cross-winds still were bothering us, now more fiercely than ever, and the heat was almost driving us crazy.

Our deviation from the set course was almost unnoticeable at this time. A hundred miles further, however, we struck an immense bank of fog, which forced us to climb and climb, trying to hurdle it. Because of this, we lost sight of the sea, never seeing the Atlantic again until we flew over the Azores Islands.

Above the bank of fog, there were myriads of vapor clouds, making the visibility extremely poor, and the flight more than ever in danger of failing, especially with a plane as fully loaded as the Numancia. A trifling drop in speed at that moment might have plunged us all into the ocean never to be heard from again.

By this time there was forming overhead a new layer of clouds, which were shot with quivering rays of the waning sun—beacons in the midst of the desolation in which we unluckily found ourselves

We tuned in on our wireless and heard Morse (code) conversations between ships and costal stations. We, however, did not try to establish communication with them because we had no time.

At midnight, the lower field of clouds was rising gradually until it reached a height of 8,000 feet, without leaving us the slightest open space in which to creep under and get a view of the ocean—which was the thing that held us in suspense all the time, because it was the only touch we had with our course.

Flying Blind

It was utterly impossible to take any new reckonings, and we then had to fly blind. Meanwhile, the Numancia was plunging on steadily, sometimes flying lopsidedly at an inclination of 25 degrees.

So disagreeable and full of peril were these side-slips that two men had to remain constantly at the control—Gallarza and myself. Rutz de Alda then had to take care not only of navigating but also the wireless, with no help at all from us.

The motors, however, functioned excellently all the time, not missing a single crack, a thing that undoubtedly gives them a place in the history of fine mechanics. Despite even the intense heat, they ground onward perfectly. The radiators registered about 90 degrees centigrade.

At last we shifted our course a bit toward the south, trying to get a sight of some of the islands of the archipelago, for we had been flying for some time.

STEEL COMMON PASSES 200 MARK

'Outside Money' Forces Market Upward After Selling Halts Advance

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP.)—Heavy selling of the public utility shares, several of which dropped 2 to 6 points, temporarily unsettled today's stock market, which was again pointed to higher ground.

Curiously, the low prices of the day were recorded after the call money rate had dropped from 12 to 8 per cent, but strong buying support made its appearance, particularly in the so-called "Morgan stocks," and the market was headed upward again in the early afternoon.

MONEY MARKET EASIER

The mid-year stringency in call money, which sent the rate to 15 per cent on two successive days this week, passed late yesterday when the "outside rate" was dropped to 14 per cent. Money renewed at 12 per cent and then dropped abruptly to 8 when a large volume of funds made its appearance. Funds were available in the "outside market" this afternoon as low as 6 per cent. Further indications of a definite easing in credit conditions were seen in the drop of ⅛ of 1 per cent in bankers' acceptances, the second within a week, and the easier undertone for time money.

Weekly steel trade reviews continued to paint a roseate picture of conditions in the industry. The Iron Age reported that "the rate of pig iron production in June at 123,255 tons a day was the second highest of any month on record, being exceeded only by the daily average of 125,745 tons for May." Ingot output for the first half of the year established a new high record for that period.

U. S. Steel common crossed 200 to a new high record for all time, an overnight gain of 4 points. Other "Morgan stocks" in brisk demand included Union Carbide, up 7 at 120⅝, and General Electric, up 5½ at 355, both new high records; Advance Rumely, Checker Cab, Great Atlantic and Pacific, J. C. Penney and Briggs Stratton made moderate gains. Hazeltine, however, slipped back a few points in profit taking on its recent advance. Aviation shares generally moved in narrow ranges, although Sikorsky made some headway on rumors that it is being sought by powerful interests.

In the oils, Cosden was again in demand, climbing 6 points, but losing much of its gain later. Gulf was under pressure.

Eastman Kodak, Underwood Elliott Fisher and Bendix Aviation advanced 4½ to 6½ points to new high records. Western Union and Motor Products each rallied, Safeway Stores 6 and the American Tobacco issues, National Surety, Fidelity-Phoenix Insurance, National Cash Register and several others advanced 3½ points or more.

In the railroad group, Jersey Central soared 21 points. Norfolk and Western moved up 5 to 250, Atlantic Coast Line 4 to 201, Atchison 3½ to 248½ and New York Central 2½ to 221½, all new tops for the year, or longer.

American and Foreign Power was the hardest hit in the utility group, dropping 6 points. American Water Works, North American, Pacific Lighting, Columbia Gas, Detroit Edison, Standard Gas and Electric and National Power and Light fell 2 to 3 points before the selling movement was checked. On the other hand, American Power and Light jumped 7 points to a new high at 144.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP.)—With Argentine wheat at a premium over United States for the first time this season, the wheat market here averaged higher today. Drought complaints from most spring wheat districts Northwest continued, but advances were checked by selling to minimize holiday risks tomorrow. Opening unchanged to ⅜c higher, wheat afterward held near the initial figures. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer with corn starting ¼c to ⅝c up, and subsequently gaining a little more.

Wheat trading was of large volume today, but kept within relatively narrow price limits, advances being restricted as a result of pre-holiday selling, whereas declines met with resistance from standing orders to purchase. Friends of higher prices appeared to have an advantage much of the time owing a good deal to notice taken that July deliveries of wheat at Buenos Aires was no longer on a competitive basis with that delivery at Kansas City, an unprecedented circumstance in 1929.

Possibilities of labor troubles spreading in Argentina and thus curtailing wheat exports from that country attracted special notice. Meanwhile, overnight export demand for wheat from North America was reported good, including more or less hard winter wheat from the United States. On the other hand, some moisture relief in the northwest was noted, but there were also advices that thousands of acres of wheat in drought-stricken regions, South Dakota especially, would never be cut.

Rails-Oils Promising.

Though oil shares as a group have been disappointing, the Trader says in Barron's Financial Weekly that "the buying that has been going on for weeks seems likely in due time to make itself felt in the trend of quotations. Not only is the trade situation reasonably healthy and profits in marked contrast to those of a year ago, but there are signs that important negotiations are going on. Undoubtedly this implies merger negotiations."

Rails, too, are promising, in the opinion of Barron's stock market expert. "Those most conversant with railroad shares cling to the opinion that the O'Fallon decision is highly significant in its support of the right of railroad capital to a fair return. Railroad shares are going out of the market every day into strong boxes." That the market is still a two-sided affair is indicated by the resumption of bear operations in Radio and the motor shares. Liquidation reached its greatest intensity, for the time being, when the central figure in most of the bull movements of the past few years threw large blocks of his holdings, especially General Motors, on the market. "Knowledge of this development and of the winding up of several ill-starred pools may account in some measure for the more optimistic attitude of the big banks toward the market."

Chemical Industry in U. S.

Because most of its products do not come into direct contact with the individual American consumer, the chemical industry has never been fully comprehended by the public, says a review by Dominick & Dominick. Its products, however, have long been essential in most of the fundamental American industries, and business has placed more and more emphasis upon chemical research. The recent formation of the American I. G. Chemical Corporation, supported by some of the leading industrial figures in this country and by the largest chemical corporation in Germany, introduces another factor of importance and brings the industry directly before the public. The American chemical industry today ranks as the largest in the world. Among American industries it stands third in capitalization, fourth in value of its products, third in number of employes, first in consumption of coal and second in consumption of electrical energy. The industry handles a wide diversity of products. These are sold quite generally throughout the world, with Europe the best market. Although the exports amount to a relatively smaller proportion of the output than in other leading chemical countries, the American industry has become increasingly self-sufficient, and such products as sulphur and the sodas have disappeared or diminished from American imports and appear today as exports.

American Locomotive.

Present condition of the American Locomotive Company is in sharp contrast with a year ago. When there was a spurt in buying late in 1927 some hope was held out that 1928 would be a good year, but the demand petered out and earnings were disappointing. Naturally when hopes were expressed late last year and early in the current year that engine buying would be on a large scale, many believed the experiences of the preceding year would be repeated. Officials of American Locomotive are naturally more optimistic now than they have been at any time in several years. With record earnings assured and some business still in sight the management's enthusiasm is justified. The decided turn has come after several years of unusually lean business and is therefore more important in the affairs of the company than many outsiders realize. Some interests are now insisting that estimates made early this year of the possibility of earnings of as much as $20 a share on American Locomotive may actually be realized.

Lone Star Opens Ex-Rights At Small Gain; Foundry Reaches New Record Top

Pre-holiday trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange was active, with business well distributed and quotations generally showing firm to strong.

The recent leaders in the fuel group held the limelight with Western Public Service and Lone Star Gas selling around the high levels established earlier in the week. Lone Star Gas, old stock, sold ex-rights today, the first transaction at 82⅝ representing a slight fractional gain over last night's close at 89 with the rights "on." The rights closed last night at 6⅞. They represent the subscription privilege of buying one share of "new" Lone Star at $12.50 for each three shares of the old stock held. The "new" stock results from the change in capital from 2,000,000 shares of $25 par value to 7,000,000 shares of no par value and an exchange of the old for the new on a 2½-for-1 basis.

Pittsburgh Steel Foundry registered another gain on the opening today when it sold at 46, a new high record and an advance of 9½ points from last month's low point. Accumulation of the stock had been evident the latter part of June, and the Street heard rumors of another dividend. This report was confirmed when directors this week declared a payment of $1 a share, similar to the dividend ordered at the end of last year. The plants are operating at 100 per cent and railroad equipment prospects indicate that a high operating rate will be maintained throughout the year.

Good News for Communities Leading Store Chain's Plan

By B. C. FORBES

THIS news, presented here exclusively, will interest every community in America—and especially every merchant:

A leading chain store organization has decided that "the time has come when chains must begin to put back into the town what they have heretofore only taken out;" and, accordingly, it is instituting a comprehensive program to "stock" civic consciousness in its hundreds of stores in 36 states.

WARD MELVILLE, vice president and general manager of the Melville Shoe Corporation, retailing 8,000,000 pairs of shoes a year in 222 cities from coast to coast in its Tom Mcan, Rival and John Ward stores, tells me that by fall every store manager will have been "imbued with the selfsame community zeal of the better type independent merchant." The program calls for:

1. The immediate joining of more than 150 chambers of commerce in cities where stores of the Mcan chain are located.
2. A training course in civic affairs for all store managers.
3. Working out of a broad gauge plan for the equitable handling of charity donations in the towns.

THE end sought is not a "remote control" dabbling in local civic affairs but rather the co-ordination of every store with the individual ideals of the city it serves.

"While we believe that our prime economic and social function lies in providing maximum retailing efficiency," said Mr. Melville, "there is a secondary service which we are convinced can be rendered only by playing a fuller role.

"Mere passive membership in chambers of commerce will not suffice. If the best interests of both stores and towns are to be served, our managers have got to be active, articulate and willing to work for the general community good. They must realize that their towns are essential to the welfare of the stores, and that the well-being of the towns depends upon their citizens. If they are not able to become citizens of their towns in the best sense of the word, they have failed as merchants. And merchants they must be."

MR. MELVILLE defined his company's new policy as a bit of practical chain technique with reverse english, because it "decentralizes" support of community affairs in the various cities.

The training of the store managers in civics, instead of being shaped and designed purely to get additional business in the towns, seeks only to pave the way for an intimate, personal, human relationship between the managers and their respective towns. They are urged to study how best they can serve their towns in community chest, Red Cross and hospital drives; they are stimulated to analyze the needs of boys' and girls' clubs, parent-teacher associations and other city-wide movements.

Upon such study will be based all charitable donations by the Melville Company.

A BALANCED budget for the stores as a whole is now being worked out. When this is arrived at, each store will be notified what amount it is to disburse in its particular community, and it is pointed out that such sum may conceivably be more than the store itself earns.

It is felt, for example, that the highly successful store in the more prosperous community will seldom, if ever, be called upon to give to the same extent as the poorer store in a less prosperous community. Therefore a policy of establishing a definite percentage of net profits of the individual store as a charity fund was decided against, on the basis that such a plan would work a hardship upon many communities sorely in need of support.

"The poor community needs a hospital just as badly as its richer neighbor, perhaps more," said Mr. Melville. "So we have decided to pursue the plan of balancing town against town and budgeting our charities according as they are needed."

WHAT do you think of that?

STEEL OUTLOOK CONSIDERED FAVORABLE

Iron Age Forecasts Little Change in July Output Despite Holiday Recess

The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

The rate of pig iron production in June, at 123,255 tons a day, was the second highest for any month on record, being exceeded only by the daily average of 125,745 tons for May. The decline from the previous month was less than 2 per cent, according to blast furnace returns to The Iron Age.

Most of the loss was in merchant pig iron, the recession in the output of steel-making iron having been only 361 tons a day. This showing is not surprising in view of the reduced operations of such large users of merchant iron as the cast iron pipe plants, the makers of radiators and heating equipment and heating equipment and producers of sanitary ware, in contrast with the well-sustained activity of the steel mills.

CLOSE TO CAPACITY

Throughout June steel ingot output was at close to capacity and variations in operations were due chiefly to the physical limitations of equipment, making weekly percentage estimates of production futile. While accurate statistics for June will not be available until the American Iron and Steel Institute publishes its monthly report, it can safely be said that ingot output in the first half of 1929 approximated 25,000,000 tons, establishing a new six-month record by a margin of nearly 16 per cent over the last half of 1928.

Steel output in the first week in July will be adversely affected by the holiday, with some mills scheduled to shut down from Wednesday night until the end of the week. Advantage will be taken of this interruption to make greatly needed repairs. The outlook for the rest of July is excellent; in fact, a leading steel producer looks for no appreciable change in the operating rate for the next two months. Fluctuations in the output of different kinds of finished products have thus far tended to neutralize one another, leaving the demand for crude steel substantially unchanged.

Mills catering to the automobile industry continue to reduce their backlogs, but unfilled orders for the industry as a whole have held up exceptionally well. Although the Steel Corporation is expected to report a reduction in its unfilled tonnage as of June 30, the decline will probably be small.

The mid-summed falling off in the steel requirements of the motor car builders has been rendered less severe than usual by the sustained operations of makers of low-priced automobiles. The July schedule of the Ford company calls for the manufacture of 190,000 cars.

RAIL MILLS BUSY

Rail mills, as a result of supplementary orders, will maintain present operations through July and August instead of undergoing the customary seasonal curtailment. The Norfolk and Western has distributed orders, subject only to formal confirmation, for 39,000 tons of rails. The Pennsylvania has exercised options on 20,000 tons.

Pipe lines are again conspicuous for their contribution to mill commitments. The National Tube Company and the A. O. Smith Corporation share equally in 100,000 tons of steel for a 22-inch gas line connecting Birmingham with Atlanta. A projected line from Texas to Omaha has been revived, with the probability that it will be placed soon. A 1,000-mile gas line is in prospect and the laying of lines to the populous centers along the eastern seaboard is now receiving serious consideration.

The buoyancy of steel demand in the face of seasonal influences is particularly notable at Chicago, where specifications again equal shipments and sales for the week were the fifth largest this year.

Prices om semi-finished steel are not yet well defined. The extension of contracts at second quarter prices and the fact that little third quarter business has yet been closed raise doubt in the minds of buyers as to whether advances can be maintained, although some mills are taking a firm stand at $35 for billets and slabs.

Total pig iron production for June at 3,697,628 tons showed a decline from May's 3,898,082 tons, but was the largest for any 30-day month. Output for the first half of the year at 21,621,363 tons established a new six months' peak, exceeding the previous record made in the first half of 1923 by 3.75 per cent. Furnaces in blast July 1 numbered 218, a net loss of one, compared with June 1.

Both of the Iron Age composite prices are unchanged. Pig iron is $18.63 a gross ton for the fourth week, and finished steel stands at 2.412 cents a pound, from which it has not deviated since April 1.

IRON TRADE REVIEW

CLEVELAND, July 3.—Steel-making operations having concluded June on a basis only slightly under the all-time peak reached in May, final statistics for steel, like those for pig iron, undoubtedly will reveal a record June and a record first half year. Indicative of the pressure for steel, the July 4 holiday will be a one-day interlude for most mills. Chicago operations continue at 95 to 98 per cent, and Pittsburgh at 95. Valley production is down about one point.

It still is true that, considering all makers and all products, specifications for steel are giving some ground, but the retreat from the first half gait is so moderate that some large producers have dropped "midsummer recession" from their vocabulary. Structural requirements have diminished, but sheet, plate, bar and pipe needs are such that they promise unusual mill activity well into the autumn.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP.)—The curb market failed to follow the bullish demonstration on the "big board" today, as profit taking persisted in the utilities, the most prominent section of the curb list. A sharp ease in call money, which dropped to 8 per cent, as compared to 15 yesterday, had been expected and failed to stem a tide of preholiday liquidation.

There were a few strong spots, however, some continuing with violence.

There were a few strong spots, howecer, the upward movement in Long Island Lighting continuing with violence. The stock shot up more than 10 points during the forenoon. The Long Island Capital Corporation is seeking control of the company. A $100,000,000 expansion program is planned for the next eight years. American Light and Traction and United Light and Power B were also buoyant, and Middle West Utilities made a moderate advance.

Utilities generally, however, were heavy, such shares as American Superpower, Electric Bond and Share, Allied Power, Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern, Northeastern Power, American and Foreign Power and Commonwealth and Southern losing from about 1 to more than 4 points. Electric investors moved up sharply only to fall back abruptly. This led to the belief that the merger developments in the eastern utility field had been discounted marketwise for the time being.

Aluminum Company was again in demand, rushing up 12 points, but failing to hold all of its gain. Goldman Sachs made a fair gain, reflecting appreciation of its holdings in the recent stock market.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

C.-O. ABSORBING ROAD IN TRUNK LINE SYSTEM

By MERLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, July 3.—John J. Bernet, who recently took over the presidency of the Chesapeake and Ohio and two other affiliated Van Sweringen lines, in a message to employes made it plain that the C. and O. is to be absorbing road for the consolidated Eastern trunk system which the group is developing.

In former times, as in 1889, when Mr. Bernet entered railroading as a telegraph operator, employes were merely "hands" and it was not considered necessary to take them into the confidence of the management. The new leadership recognizes a responsibility to keep the rank and file of workers informed concerning larger managerial aims and objectives.

PRAISES WORKERS

"Railroad men the world over," Mr. Bernet said in his message to employes of the C. and O., "are the same substantial, hard-hitting, result-getting lot, and you have been fortunate in raising on these railroads a breed of men who get the business and get the traffic through. I am looking forward to a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction in working with such a family of railroad men.

"We are entering into an era of greater public service for the Chesapeake and Ohio. A long-planned project of extending its lines into new territory has been realized, and we hope that, eventually, the property will become the nucleus around which will be built another great trunk line system.

"I know that I can count on the whole-hearted co-operation of everybody on these roads to promote everything that will strengthen them and make them greater and more useful."

The foregoing remarks give an insight into the human side of Mr. Bernet, the transportation genius who successively transformed the Nickel Plate from weak to stronger railroads. He takes charge of the Chesapeake and Ohio when it is in far more prosperous condition than either of the two roads which he headed previously. Mr. Bernet must be regarded as the chief operating official in the whole Van Sweringen system, which has not yet been legally merged.

COPPER BOOM STARTS

Immediately after the formulation of the Young plan for the adjustment of reparations in Paris, this column presented opinions from leaders of the copper industry to the effect that the buying of American copper would be thereby stimulated. Increased buying activity has already been reported. Other raw materials, especially cotton, are also likely to feel the beneficial effects.

L. K. Salsbury, president, Cotton Estates Company, Memphis, and one of the outstanding cotton growers of the world, in a statement prepared for this column, said:

"Answering your query, 'what effect the settlement of the reparations agreement will have on trade,' my judgment is that it cannot have anything but a 'bullish' interpretation. I believe it means greater activity and demand for American raw materials.

"I feel certain that this reparation matter, now concluded and finally settled, is bound to stimulate the European buying of cotton for the balance of this year and I would think for the year 1930. It certainly puts Europe in a position to obtain her raw materials and finance same, and really this is the first time they have had this opportunity since the war. I think they are in need of raw cotton and I believe that the demand will increase from now on for this commodity."

FAST PACE IN BUSINESS

Business has been proceeding at an exceedingly rapid pace in recent months. Accordingly the sages of the Harvard Economic Society point to the need of a readjustment. "Intense activity in basic industries, firm money conditions and declines in the prices of important international commodities," the society points out, "are conditions which in recent years have preceded periods of business readjustment. These conditions exist in the present situation, and, in addition, foreign demand for our manufactured products, as reflected in exports of finished manufactures, has recently fallen off sharply. But recession, though it appears definitely in prospect is slow to materialize, even though the period of spring seasonal demand upon industry is now practically at an end.

"If basic industry continues to operate at a high level, there is the distinct probability that the ensuing readjustment will be more severe than if the pace of industry had begun to moderate earlier."

This is in line with the view of some of the leading bankers to the effect that moderation at this time would tend to prolong prosperity.

FISK OUTLOOK GAINS

NEW YORK, July 3.—Few rubber goods manufacturing companies have suffered more than the Fisk Rubber Company in recent years from the effects of the abnormal fluctuations in the cost of crude rubber which have been witnessed from time to time since 1920. As a result a study of Fisk's earnings record during the past 10 years provides some rather discouraging documents and reveals the fact that average net earnings for the 10 years ended December 31, 1928, have been less than $300,000 a year.

Consideration of Fisk's current position, however, and a review of what the management has accomplished in the direction of expanding business and manufacturing capacity brings to light a somewhat brighter picture and indicates that from now on the company's operations are likely to be much more satisfactory.

The Fisk Rubber Company ranks as one of the five largest tire producers in the United States, its current capacity being upwards of 45,000 casings a day. It has the facilities to easily increase this capacity to 60,000 tires daily within the next few years which is about the peak capacity of the largest tire company at the present time.

RELIANCE LIFE SALES GAIN

One of the largest monthly gains in paid business made by the Reliance Life Insurance Company in several years is reported for June. Its paid life business last month was $7,269,427, an increase of 22 per cent over June, 1928. Its paid accident business of $3,036,350 and paid weekly indemnity health business of $6,905.50 were both more than 22 per cent over that of the same period last year. The three departments of the company showing the greatest percentage of increase in paid life insurance last month were Oregon, Northern California and North and South Carolina.

During the first half of 1929, the paid for new life insurance in Reliance Life amounted to $34,723,077, an increase of 6.7 per cent over the same period of 1928. Accident insurance amounted to $16,297,850, an increase of 11.7 per cent and weekly indemnity health insurance was $38,321.50, a gain of 15.7 per cent.

Insurance in force June 30, was as follows: Life, $422,894,056; accident, $152,422,022; weekly indemnity health, $336,966.25. The assets of Reliance Life now total more than $58,000,000.

Save Yourself Worry

SOME men and women hesitate to take protracted vacations because they have no person trained to look after their securities while they are away.

Placing the custodianship of such stocks and bonds with The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh insures not only safe-keeping but the collection of interest or dividends when due and their reinvestment by officials of long experience, if desired.

The fee for this service is very modest.

Stock Market Rushes Up as Call Money Drops to 6 Per Cent.

FURTHER aggressive advances took place in the stock market in the afternoon under the influence of pronounced easement in credit conditions. With the call rate lowered to 6 per cent, and bankers' acceptances down ⅛, all along the line, prices in the well-established trading stocks pushed upward impressively after a short breathing spell. New record highs were attained by United States Steel, Union Carbide, American Can, Westinghouse Electric and the whole industrial list maintained a buoyant tone. Rails were featured by sharp advances in issues with a thin market, including Texas and Pacific and Jersey Central.

Mounting above the $7,000,000 mark at the end of June, Stock Exchange member borrowings passed another milestone. But on this occasion there was a good deal less discussion of the rapidity of the increase than was occasioned in May of last year when the aggregate of such borrowings crossed the $5,000,000,000 mark for the first time, and later in November when, following the post-election boom in stocks, the total of such borrowings was found to have crossed the $6,000,000,000 level. The increase of $406,000,000 reported for last month, naturally proved something of a surprise at first glance in view of the fact that Federal Reserve figures for the nearest comparable period showed an increase only about half, or $254,000,000, but the discrepancy was accounted for by the fact that the Stock Exchange figures covered June 27 and 28, two days of heavy loan making not included in the Reserve account.

AS expected, the holiday recess in schedule for Thursday was effective in prompting a rather heavy run of realizing in the market generally. This selling to convert paper profits into cash assumed substantial proportions throughout the forenoon and made some impression on prices in a general way. By midday many stocks which had rushed into new record territory at the outset were ruling somewhat under the best levels. But the precipitate drop in the money rate from 12 to 8 per cent during the noon hour, served to check the selling and encouraged a resumption of brisk buying operations in the speculative leaders.

Breaking away from the irregularity which marked the coppers as a group, Kennecott was responsive to brisk demand which developed for it during the day. Buying of the stock was on a heavy scale, lifting it for a substantial net gain on the day. Wall Street is rather confident that an increase in the present $5 dividend rate is very likely at next month's meeting of directors. A $6 rate had been expected in May, but presumably because of the abrupt decline in copper prices just prior to that time the board voted an increase in the rate to the present $5 basis from the $4 rate which had prevailed since the split-up. With copper rather firmly fixed at 18 cents, it is estimated that Kennecott can earn about $10 a share, which it is argued could readily support the higher rate reported in prospect.

SUDDEN activity developed in the tobacco stocks, making that group a feature of strength. The tobaccos have been more or less neglected for a long period, due to internal strife in the industry, but this intense competitian which had been restricted te the cigaret field has given way to more amicable conditions. Its effect, however, was not so greatly disturbing to the producing companies, but rather was more trying in the merchtndising units. Profits of the manufacturers continued to grow with the steady increase in demand for their products. The group as a whole has lagged behind the market for many months, much the same as the rails had previously. Interests in close touch the situation, however, are confident that improving conditions in the trade will shortly be reflected marketwise.

Stock Exchanges Banks Close For Fourth

NEW YORK, July 3.—(INS.)—In observance of Independence Day, all American markets, banks, clearing houses and most of the wholesale and retail commercial concerns will close tomorrow.

The New York Cocoa Exchange will remain closed from this evening until next Monday, but the Stock Exchange, Curb Exchange, Produce Exchange, Cotton and other markets reopen Friday morning. The banks will close tomorrow, also the New York Clearing House.

Though the Liverpool markets are open, trading in American staples, spot and future, will practically suspended. No quotations will be furnished on the foreign exchanges, and British grain and cotton quotations will be nominal.

LEAD AND ZINC DEALS SEEN

WASHINGTON, July 3.—While copper as a commodity has been fluctuating for months now in what seems possibly a permanently higher range, lead and zinc, two metals more or less loosely associated with it in the non-ferrous group have been standing pat in the zone where industrial past experience has generally found them. The copper performance has been associated with a whole series of financial movements linking up producers and users in closer combination, the latest of which is exemplified by the Anaconda fusion with the Andes and Green-Cananea mining companies. The lead-zinc field has given few manifestations of the financial trend exhibited by the copper world, but Elmer W. Pehrson, specialist for the mines bureau in zinc-lead statistics, points out that there are some similarities.

"In recent years lead and zinc production appear to have fairly balanced consumption," Mr. Pehrson said, "with level prices in consequence, except for some fluctuations, possibly due to indirect influence of the copper market excitement. Trade statistics indicate that world lead output is now 164,605 tons per month, an increase over recent average monthly outputs, while zinc output is placed at 131,000 tons for April, which is considerably higher than the output reported for previous months.

"In recent years, improvements to metallurgical processes have stimulated a good deal of new production of both lead and zinc in Rocky Mountain territory, and in Idaho, but the Mississippi Valley remains still a most importan source. Both metals are mined from comparatively shallow depths in Missouri, and in the tri-state territory of Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, to the west. The outlook is for maintained production in the Mississippi Valley deposits, but there are continuous reports of consolidation activity which is putting the operation more into the hands of fewer and larger organizations."

HIGHER PROFIT FOR SKELLY

NEW YORK, July 3.—Skelly Oil Company in the first six months of 1929 earned the equivalent of $3 a share on the 1,089,510 shares. This compares with 41 cents a share in the same period in 1928.

It is understood a development is pending along the lines of a new company which will pool natural gas interests of Skelly Oil Company and two other important companies. A subsidiary of this new company would also be organized to attend to distribution of the natural gas from the combined properties.

HALF YEAR CAR BUSINESS LARGE

Railroad Equipment Bought Exceeds All Purchases Of Previous 12 Months

NEW YORK, July 3.—Freight car orders as reported by "Railway Age" for the first six months of 1929, have surpassed the total purchased by railroads for the entire year of 1928 by more than 7,400. During the first six months of this year orders for 58,629 cars were placed, as contrasted with 51,200 for the entire 1928 year, and 22,323 for the first six months of last year.

While second quarter business this year was smaller than for the quarter ended March 31, orders were more than double those for the corresponding quarter of 1928. Indications are that the recent O'Fallon decision will be an added stimulus to the railroads not only for repairs and replacements, but also for the purchase of new rolling stock. Many of the railroads have not as yet completed their programs for the improvement and expansion of their operations to take care of the rapidly growing demand of the public for transportation service. Among these roads are the Pennsylvania, New Haven and Rock Island.

LOCOMOTIVE ORDERS

Locomotive orders for the first six months of the current year are also running far ahead of those for the corresponding period of last year. Orders for the period aggregate 521 engines, as contrasted with only 148 in the similar period a year ago. Probably the most outstanding single order placed in the last few years, was let last month by the New York Central for 150 locomotives. This order was placed with the American Locomotive Company, which has been getting the bulk of locomotive business this year, and will cost approximately $14,000,000. In addition to this order, Central also placed an order for 25 switching engines for use on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie with the Lima Locomotive Works. These two orders brought the total for the month of June to 181, the largest this year, and compared with 44 locomotives ordered in the month of May and only seven in June, 1928.

PASSENGER CARS OFF

Passenger car orders for the first six months of 1929 failed to show an increase over the corresponding period of 1928, amounting to 839 as compared with 1,094 in the same period of last year. However, it is pointed out by the trade that 1928 passenger car orders did not recede from the normally expected annual total, but were above the 1926 and 1927 figures. Orders placed in June amounted to 176, compared with 111 in the previous month and 57 in the same month of 1928.

Freight car business during the month of June was featured by the placing of the Pennsylvania's $6,400,000 order for 4,000 box car bodies with four of the leading builders. Another large order placed during the mouth was for 1,000 box cars to be built by Standard Steel Car for the Boston and Maine. Total business for the month of June aggregated 5,869, compared with 8,364 in May and 2,286 in June, 1928.

Prairie Pipe Line Shipments at Peak

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., July 3.—The Prairie Pipe Line Company in June shipped 6,482,036 barrels of crude oil through its lines, or 216,067 daily, a new peak, against 6,098,692, or 196,732 barrels daily in the preceding month and 176,485 daily in June, 1928. The previous peak was 6,254,380 barrels, or 201,754 daily in October, 1928.

Shipments for the first six months were 35,532,347 barrels agaainst 31,330,982 in the 1928 period.

MARKET TREND ANALYZED

NEW YORK, July 3.—Commenting on the stock market trend, Barron's Weekly says:

When the Dow-Jones averages were last discussed in these columns, in the issue of May 20, it was pointed out that 13 fluctuations since the beginning of the year to that date, averaging 16 points, did not convery any necessarily bearish implication, although the unusual development inspired caution in the study of the price movement. At that time the railroad average was 11 points below the last high, and it failed to confirm, therefore, the new high point in the industrials.

Both averages have now made the highest recorded figures in their history, the railroads having recovered all their leeway. It need hardly be said that on accepted and well established rules of reading the stock market barometer this is a definitely bullish indication, carrying the implication that the great bull market which has now ruled for four months short of six years has resumed it upward movement, with each average confirming the other. The position indeed is technically one of peculiar strength, as a little analysis shows.

It will be clearly seen that the sharp and extended fluctuations, especially in the industrial average, have amounted in effect to a distributive period not at all dissimilar to that which has occurred at lower levels when the averages have made a "line." Such a line indicated either accumulations or distribution and the movement out of it in either direction has historically carried marked significance. At these high levels a much wider range of fluctuation in a distribution period is only to be expected. The advance of both averages above that area is a clear indication that a large quantity of stock has not only been distributed but effectively absorbed, presumably by investors or those who can finance their purchases by taking the stock off the market.

It only remains to be said, therefore, that the new high points are definitely and strongly bullish, indicating a clear resumption of the major movement.

New Gas Making Process Used By Standard

NEW YORK, July 3.—"Hydrogenation" process by which it is possible to convert 100 per cent fuel oil or low gravity crude oils into gasoline will be made generally available to the petroleum industry of the United States by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, after completion and a study of operation of its 5,000 barrels daily plant now under construction at Bayway, N. J., according to the current issue of The Lamp, official publication of the company. Article states it is confidently believed this process makes a real forward step in the art of petroleum refining.

GAS INCREASE APPROVED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 3.—(AP.)—The Comet Oil and Gas Company, which serves consumers at Pruntytown and vicinity was authorized today by the Public Service Commission to increase its gas rates, effective immediately.

The new rates are, first 2,000 cubic feet, 50 cents per thousand; next 98,000 cubic feet, 42 cents a thousand and all over 100,000 cubic feet 38 cents a thousand. The rates are subject to an additional charge of two cents a thousand feet if bills are not paid within ten days after presentation.

The old rates were 40 cents a thousand cubic feet with a discount of two cents a thousand if bills were paid within 10 days after presentation.

AM. FOUNDRY INCOME UP

NEW YORK, July 3.—Earnings of American Machine and Foundry Company during current year are running at record levels and based on returns during first six months ended June 30, 1929, net for 12 months will approximate $11 a share on 197,231 common shares outstanding. This would compare with net of $1,491,508 after all charges equal to $6.88 after preferred dividends reported for year 1928.

Substantial increase in earnings during 1929 is due in part to recent introduction of a new cigaret packing machine on which installations were begun before end of 1928. In addition to expansion of earnings of American Machine and Foundry its most important subsidiary, International Cigar Machinery Company, has also shown materially higher income.

OIL OUTPUT UP 50,000 BBL. IN WEEK

Petroleum Institute Reports Daily Crude Production At New High Record

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP.)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 50,900 barrels for the week ended June 29, totaling 2,815,400 barrels, a new high record, says the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. Daily average production east of California was 1,954,900 barrels, an increase of 25,900 barrels.

Refineries representing 90 per cent of the estimated daily potential refining capacity, operating at 87.8 per cent of their capacity, reported daily average run of crude oil to stills as 2,637,600 barrels. Daily average the previous week was 2,415,300 barrels for refineries representing 84.6 per cent of potential capacity operating at 85.6 per cent of their capacity.

MAY SETS RECORD

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Production of crude petroleum in the United States during May totaled 84,415,000 barrels, establishing a new high record.

The Department of Commerce announced today the production averaged 2,723,000 daily and that the total for the month was an increase of 12 per cent over May, 1928.

"Increased production in Texas, which again raised the daily output of the state to a new record of over 800,000 barrels, was mainly responsible for the gain in national output," the Commerce Department said.

"Daily average production in California showed little change from the previous month, but that of Oklahoma increased 15,000 barrels to slightly over 700,000 barrels. The production of Kansas reached a new high level as production in the Sedgwick district continued to increase. The majority of the other producing states increased, the two most notable exceptions being Arkansas and Louisiana."

GAS STOCKS SMALLER

Gasoline stocks declines 2,367,000 barrels in May, the Bureau of Mines reports, comparing with a 1,190,000-barrel drop in April. However, stocks of all oils increased 3,726,000 barrels against a 6,273,000-barrel gain in April.

Total stocks of crude and refined oils on May 31 totaled 653,529,000 barrels, a new peak, against 649,617,000 on April 30, the previous peak, and 616,382,000 on May 31, 1928.

Gasoline stocks on May 31 totaled 44,648,000 barrels, or 35 days' supply, against 47,105,000 in April, or 39 days' supply, and 38,224,000 in May a year ago, or 35 days' supply.

Continental Can Plant Expansion

The Continental Can Company, Inc., is spending $5,000,000 this year on new plant construction and improvements. Additions are to be made to the Can manufacturing plant at San Jose, Cal., the machinery factory at Seattle, Wash., the plant at Clearing, Ill., the Baltimore properties, and the factories at Syracuse, N. Y., and Canonsburg, Pa.

Coal Company Seeking Rail-River Route

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

WHILE the major trunk line systems are jockeying for advantageous positions in the consolidation race, the Pittsburgh Coal Company is fighting for its own rail merger plan. The company's proposals do not embrace long-distance systems, but if they are successful they may have a widespread effect on the freight rate structure in this district.

The Youngstown and Suburban Railway Company recently was purchased to give the company a means of reentering its case before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A petition has been filed requesting the reconsideration of the plan for a combination rail and river route from this district to Youngstown, but no action has been taken by the commission.

First Plan Rejected

FOLLOWING the purchase of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon and Western, the coal company asked permission to build one extension south to Smith's Ferry on the Ohio River and another north to Youngstown. These would have given the operators of mines on the Monongahela River in this district the advantage of a low rate to Youngstown by shipping coal first by barges and then by rail.

Permission to make the extension was denied by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the grounds that the extensions would constitute a duplication of existing facilities. It did recognize, however, that the service was needed, and it intimated that if other lines failed to provide the service, the application might be reconsidered.

The Youngstown and Suburban operates south from Youngstown. Only a short connection would be needed to tie the line to the Pittsburgh, Lisbon and Western. The coal company now takes the stand that much of the duplicated mileage will be eliminated by using this combination of existing routes.

Rates Filed

BOTH the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and the Pennsylvania have selected sites for river transfer terminals and have filed tentative rates. It does not appear likely that they have any intention of actually rendering a competitive rail-river service to Youngstown, however, since they wished to charge $1.02 a ton.

This rate would be prohibitive. Shippers of coal from this district would have to pay about 30 cents a ton for the river haul and would have to bear the cost of transferring the cargo. Thus the total cost would be over $1.32 a ton, compared with an all-rail rate of $1.34.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company intended to have a rail rate of 75 cents a ton or less, which would have given mines in this district a very favorable basis for reaching the Youngstown market.

Commission's Powers

IT IS GENERALLY believed that the Interstate Commerce Commission can do nothing to definitely establish a rate for the proposed haul. It must either accept or reject the rate proposed by the roads.

Unless the commission decides to reconsider the application for the development of the Lisbon road, the case might be protracted almost indefinitely by the proposal of one unsatisfactory rate after another.

Coal operators here have another reason for violently opposing the $1.02-a-ton rate in addition to the fact that it would block the plan for the rail-river route. If other coal freight rates should be made comparable, a sharp upward revision would take place. This would be in spite of the fact that local operators believe that they are being unjustly treated under the existing freight tariffs.

To Get Line Eventually

IN VIEW of the commission's statement that the proposed line is justified, it seems reasonably probable that eventually the coal operators will get the route, either through the opening of the Lisbon line or through other roads being forced to give the service. But it is also likely that a considerable period of time will have to elapse before definite action will be taken.

It is quite probable that Youngstown is only one of the markets which the coal operators are trying to get by the new route. It would be logical for combination rates to be established to the Lake ports as well, after the line is set in operation.

The volume of coal being moveed from this district to the Lakes is not as great as last year, due to the fact that the existing 35-cent differential is not particularly satisfactory for mines in this district. The recent decision of the commission not to reopen the Lake Cargo Coal Case has made the chances for an increase in the all-rail differential rather remote.

PACIFIC GAS GAINS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Pacific Gas and Electric Company reports net after charges and preferred dividends for 12 months ending April 30, 1929, of $9,733,198, equivalent to $3.07 a share on 3,166,265 shares of common outstanding or subscribed for on that date. This compares with earnings of $3.05 a share for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1928, on shares then outstanding.

Gross revenue for 12 months ended April 30, was $63,075,695, an increase of $2,679,608 over gross for corresponding period last year. Sales of electricity increased by 135,354,575 kilowatt hours to a new peak of 1,821,709,603 kilowatt hours, while gas sales increased by 1,595,088,100 cubic feet to record of 21,912,528,800 cubic feet.

According to report increase was stimulated by unusually cold weather in the early part of this year as well as by load-building campaign upon which company spent $1,000,000 in 1928. Connected electric load April 30, 1929, was 2,157,970 horsepower, an increase of 130,172 over previous year. On that date the company had 1,009,837 customers, representing a gain of 36,263 in 12 months.

Producing Wells Increased by 50

OIL CITY, Pa., July 3.—(AP.)—The Derrick says that 2,058 oil wells were completed east of the Rocky Mountains in June. This was an increase of 50 wells over the previous month's figures. Initial production credited to these wells was 327,054 barrels daily, a decrease of 62,662. Dry holes totaled 579, a decrease of 72. Gas wells aggregated 218, a decrease of 15. New work under way at the end of the month amounted to 5,003 rigs and drilling wells, an increase of 191.

CITY'S RETAIL TRADE GOOD

A digest of data just issued by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland shows Pittsburgh in a favorable light when compared with other cities in the matter of retail department store sales. Seven stores reporting from Pittsburgh rendered reports from which it is learned that sales here in May this year were 4.4 per cent larger than in the same month last year. Six stores reporting from Cleveland indicated an increase there of only 1.8 per cent. In Chicago there was a decrease of 2.5 per cent and in Philadelphia a decrease of 5.4 per cent as compared with May, 1928. In the cities of Wheeling and Youngstown conditions were not so good, there being decreases in those places amounting to 4.6 per cent and 1.6 per cent, respectively, as compared with May, 1928.

Considering individual items of stock in the Cleveland district of the Federal Reserve Bank, of which Pittsburgh is a part, the greatest increase in sales in May was in Oriental rugs, the sales being 28.3 per cent greater than in the same period last year. Then followed increases in sales of children's shoes, 20.3 per cent; furniture, 13.3 per cent, and misses' dresses, 11.2 per cent. There were slight decreases in men's furnishings and hats, and in domestic floor coverings, but all other decreases were in items having their largest sales in the winter season.

In the city of Pittsburgh during May, 1929, 63.8 per cent of all sales were on charge accounts, and 7.1 per cent of all sales were instalment sales.

Chain Drug Store Field Open In Japan

WASHINGTON, July 3. — A great opportunity awaits some chain store magnate in Japan. That country is practically devoid of drug stores, and entirely ripe for the enterprise of one who will give its people the blessings of the corner dispensary of everything from strychnine to raincoats Leonard N. Green, American consul at Yokahama, officially reporting on the sad state of the Japanese in this respect, says that hospitals provide the drugs for the native population, and that the only private drug establishments are in Yokahama and other large seaports where foreign colonies maintain their trade.

SHEET AND TUBE TO USE RIVER

YOUNGSTOWN, July 3.—Iron and steel companies in the Youngstown district will suspend in virtually all departments over the Fourth, excepting those requiring continuous operation, such as blast furnaces and by-product coke plants. Rolling mill operators take advantage of the lull to make needed repairs to equipment. Strip mills resume Friday morning, for the most part. But sheet mills remain inactive for remainder of the week.

In seeking lower hauling charges to meet competitive conditions, the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. will ship as much tonnage as possible this year, destined for the south and southwest, via the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers. At Memphis, Tenn., the Youngstown Independent has leased a large house.

Finished steel will be shipped over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie to the hoist of the Rodgers Sand Co., at Woodlawn, 16.6 miles below Pittsburgh, where the material will be hoisted onto barges.

Heavy tonnage products, such as steel pipe, plates, shapes and bars, will be shipped in this manner, and the Youngstown maker expects to effect subsequential reduction in freight costs by such action.

JOE HARRIS CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

Clarence Mitchell

IN KEEPING pace with the league-leading Cubs by knocking off the Cardinals here yesterday in the opening number of the series, the Pirates handed a second consecutive jolt to an old pitching jinx in the person of Clarence Mitchell, whose loss of control in the seventh round was fatal. This 38-year-old chucker, the only left-hand spitballer in captivity, has always had two favorite victims in the National League, Pittsburgh and New York, and how well he has been going against the Pirates may be judged from the fact that yesterday's victory was only the third the Bucs have scored over him in three seasons. In their last seven meetings he has beaten them five times.

The Bushmen have now beaten Mitchell twice in succession for the first time since he gained an uncanny mastery over them, and singularly enough, Ervin Brame was the local hurler to defeat him on both occasions. The preceding reverse was handed to the veteran in St. Louis on May 28, by a score of 5 to 2, almost the same as yesterday's count.

UP TO TODAY Donie Bush's pennant chasers were within a single step of the Cubs' record of eight straight victories over the Redbirds. Yesterday's win was the seventh in succession for Pittsburgh at the expense of the Missourians. Three were registered here and four in St. Louis.

The Cardinals do not look nearly so impressive as they did in the early spring. They have lost 12 of their last 15 games up to today and are already being counted out of the race. Against the other first-division clubs they have won only eight games out of 31. Poor pitching has been mainly responsible for the slide. None of the hurlers has been able to win consistently. The club is further weakened at present by the loss of the services of Grover Alexander, who is laid up with an attack of stomach trouble and was unable to come here with the team.

"JOE HARRIS for sheriff!" That's the slogan that has been started in Venango County, and those behind it are confident

ZIVIC BEATEN BY BAKER IN BOWL BOUT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Just as lion-hearted as ever, but lacking his old dash and punch, Jack Zivic, former Lawrenceville Bearcat and terror of the welterweight division, went down to defeat in his 10-round main bout with Sgt. Sammy Baker, of New York, in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, last night before a good-sized crowd which braved a chilly night following the rain-out of the night before.

Zivic, who was making his first appearance in his home section in more than a year and only his second start anywhere since his trip to California a year ago, little resembled the once cocky, left-hooking puncher who sent Lew Tendler tumbling to the only knockout defeat of the latter's career. True, he kept trying, and he rallied time after time to spray Baker's face and body with punches, many of them left hooks—but the old sock wasn't in them, and Baker, a sharpshooter with both hands, shook them off and raked Jack fore and aft with solid punches.

At a distance, Baker pecked Jack with a straight left and pounded his right to the head and body, and in close he belabored Jack's short ribs with his right and brought up jolting uppercuts to the head. He also dragged Jack about with his left hand around the local man's neck and pulled him into sucker right-hand punches that traveled only a matter of inches but had Jack dizzy from their constant repetition.

BAKER HARD HITTER

Baker, a very slow-moving and apparently slow-thinking fighter, but a good mechanical worker, carried too many heavy guns for Jack and won all but two of the rounds, the fifth and sixth, which went to Jack on his forcing. Jack suffered a cut over his left eye in the third round and was bleeding from the nose and mouth later, while Baker was unmarked. At times Jack floundered badly, but there never was a time when he flinched in the face of severe punishment. He took it all and kept coming and trying, and only the fact that he was throwing blanks instead of the sleep-inducing punches that he formerly propelled kept him from getting anywhere. It was a slow affair, featured only by Baker's deadly punching and Zivic's amazing ability to absorb it and stage sporadic rallies. A less game opponent might have resigned in the face of the battering dealt out by the machine-like Baker.

Zivic weighed 146¾ pounds and

L. WANER GETS 100TH HIT

Lloyd Waner's hundredth hit was a typical single over second and as clean as a whistle. Lloyd probably would have reached the century safety a few days ago had it not been for a sore hand that kept him out of action. He may get more hits this season than he chalked up in his two previous camapaigns, yet both of these years saw him in a sensational stride. The younger

CARDINALS HARD PRESSED FOR HURLERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Perhaps our Pirates will come out of the Fourth of July excitement in first place—and maybe they won't. But they just missed being in first place today and if those Cubs don't watch out the Goblins are going to get them. A few minutes after the Buccos had trimmed the Cardinals, 5 to 3, yesterday word came in from Chicago to the effect that the Reds were out in front with a two-run lead in the eighth, but the ambitious Bruins forged ahead to a deadlock in the ninth and won out in the end.

The Freebooters, nevertheless, are in a fine spot at this phase of the race. True, they will not object to jumping into first place anytime, but the honor position by a game or two at this point of action doesn't mean much. Be that as it may, the Oaklanders will go to their task this afternoon behind the best pitcher in baseball, and that is a big advantage anytime.

GRIMES ON DECK

The Wisconsin Wildcat has had three days of rest since he blanked the Reds. Grimes gave evidence a few weeks ago of being overworked, but apparently he has caught up with his normal strength again, in any event he is primed for the assignment today.

The skidding National League champions are in a bad way for pitchers, but Manager Southworth will rely upon Bill Sherdel or Harold Haid. Beaten six times in succession, aside from a deadlock with the Cubs Monday, the Redbirds are in a tough spot on account of inferior pitching. The Cubs measured the Cardinals eight times in succession while the Pirates, it seems, started the St. Louis boys on their descent by trimming them

WASHINGTON CARDS DIRT TRACK STARS

Board and dirt track racing enthusiasts will have their fill of the speed sport tomorrow, July 4, with three 100-mile racing events listed on the day's sport program. Bridgeville will offer the feature race of the day for Pittsburgh, with 17 of the country's outstanding race pilots entered in a century grind. Washington, Pa., offers the cream of the district's dirt track specialists, white and Negro, in another 100-mile race, which will be featured by the attempt on the part of an Ohio driver to break the existing 100-mile record for the Arden Downs oval.

Another race is scheduled for Clarion, where pilots will also test their ability and their cars' durability over the 100-mile distance.

CRACK DRIVERS ENTERED

Scattered through the field at Bridgeville will be pilots who have gained gold and glory at Indianapolis and Altoona, as well as on the other bigger tracks, and at the command of these same demons will be the very latest in motor mechanism. There will be front-drive creations that have attracted so much attention in the Hoosier 500-milers; the famous Millers will outnumber the other cars, but there will be a few Deusenbergs and special makes that are capable of holding their own with the more popular steeds.

Of the 17 entered, five will have to be content as spectators. Only 12 will be permitted to compete in the perilous 200-lap ordeal. The qualifying trials will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, and at which time all drivers will be put through a rigorous physical exam-

SIMPSON HURT, MAY DROP OUT OF CENTURY

Anything May Happen Now: Helen Wills Suffered a Defeat

A. A. U. TITLE MEET OPENS TODAY

DENVER, July 3.—(AP.)—George Simpson, Ohio State sprinter and holder of the unofficial world's record of 9.4 for the 100-yard dash, pulled a tendon in his right leg during a practice trial at the Denver University Stadium yesterday afternoon. His coach, Frank Castleman, said the sprinter probably would be withdrawn from the dash event of the Senior National A. A. U. track and field championships tomorrow.

Simpson's injury is a recurrence of that which he received in the N. C. A. A. meet at Chicago. Today's workout was the first he has had since the Chicago meet. The Ohio State meteor came here to defend his title the "world's fastest human" in an all-star century event.

CENTURY OF CENTURY

This race, advertised as the "Century of The Century" because it includes the name of almost every American sprinter who has broken or equalled the accepted mark of 9.6 seconds this year, will be the foremost event of the senior championships to be held in the University of Denver Stadium tomorrow.

No less authority than Charley Paddock, who will be one of the contestants for the honor of the "world's fastest human" held for many years by Paddock himself and recently acquired by George Simpson of Ohio State, selects Frank Wykoff of Glendale, Cal., as likely winner.

Bracey, the Rice Institute flier, has profited by his two weeks of conditioning in the mile high altitude.

TOLAN IN TRIM

Tolan, who holds the distinction of running the 100-yard dash in 9.5 seconds twice within a week this spring, feels very much at home in Denver. The University of Michigan's negro star was born here 20 years ago. He has been working out for several days and says he is ready for and expects to run the fastest race of his career.

The Junior championships, the first of the three-act athletic drama, will open the championships this afternoon and the finale will be held Friday with the decathlon and relays occupying the spotlight.

SCHUEBEL TOPS STATE FIELD

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(AP.)—Johnnie Schuebel, Philadelphia, professional, led in the first round of 18 holes in the Pennsylvania open golf championship at Whitemarsh Valley Country club yesterday. He had a 71, one under par. In second place was Charley Lacey, professional of Pine Valley, New Jersey, with a 73.

Vincent Eldred, Pittsburgh, found his 74 good enough for third place. Johnnie Beadle, Paxton Hollow amateur, scored a 75 to tie with Ted Longworth of Texas. Andy Campbell of Spring Haven was next with a 76. A. W. Heron of Reading came in with 79 and Robert Barnett of Chevy Chase, Washington, with 80.

WILCE, SR., DIES

MILWAUKEE, July 3.—J. W. Wilce, father of the former Ohio State grid coach, now en route to Europe, died at his home here yesterday.

Long's Sport Comment

that they can win the Republican nomination for the former Pirate at the September primaries and then elect him to office in the November balloting.

Harris went out to Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League to play this year, but several weeks ago decided to give up baseball for good and return to his home in Franklin to enter business.

Joe Harris

WHEN Joe landed back in his home town yesterday he found that his friends had launched a movement to make him a candidate for sheriff. There are half a dozen other candidates in the field for the nomination, and with indications pointing to the splitting of the county vote in an equal number of ways, Joe's followers figured that the wide reputation and popularity of the World War veteran and retired ball player would make him a candidate strong enough to win the office.

SO FAR as they are concerned it's Harris for sheriff, and nobody else, and they say that the progress they have made already in winning support for the well-liked ball player is very encouraging. The movement is similar to the one that was made for Honus Wagner for the same office in this county several years ago.

Harris is not the only former Pirate to be taken up as a candidate for a political office this year. In Wilkinsburg, where Bill McKechnie is as popular as Harris is in Franklin, friends of the ex-Buccaneer player and manager are making a determined fight to have him elected tax collector of the borough.

IN AN abstracted moment on Monday, the Athletics dropped a game to Washington, but yesterday they resumed feasting on the Senators and took them for two rides in one afternoon. That makes 15 times the A's have beaten Washington this year while losing to them only twice.

It is a peculiar fact that the Mackmen's best pitcher, Bob Grove, has been the least successful against the Senators. In three starts he beat them once and had to be lifted twice. Rube Walberg has downed Walter Johnson's gang six times in seven games. Three of his victories were pitched in succession within a period of six days. George Earnshaw's victory yesterday was his third over the Senators. Eddie Rommel has won from them twice, and Jack Quinn, Howard Ehmke and Bill Shores have earned one decision each.

D. Ward Beam

IN VIEW of the fact that automobile racing was severely criticized on all sides, following the death of Ray Keech in Altoona, the suggestion being offered in many quarters that a halt be called on it, D. Ward Beam, promoter of the race to be staged in Bridgeville tomorrow afternoon, in which some of the men who raced against Keech will participate, was asked if any defense could be offered for the game. His stand is the same as that which has been taken by other promoters—that racing has served a purpose in making automobile pleasure riding safer for others.

THE ACCIDENTS that caused the deaths of Keech and others were deplorable," said Beam, "but I do not believe it can be truthfully said that racing is not serving a good purpose. But for the sacrfices made by the racers, our people would have less enjoyment of life than they have today.

"Time was when a tire was a treacherous, uncertain thing. It could not be trusted by the owner of a pleasure car. Many tests were necessary to bring tires that could be depended upon. How was it done? Why, the racers went out on the tracks, burned up the tires and tore them apart. Then came better tires.

"AND EVERY part of an automobile went through a grind in these races. But for that grind cars today would not be what they are. There just had to be racing. It was part of progress, a contribution to the welfare of the world. And back of each test, behind each motor, had to be the hands of a man—a racing driver.

"As a result, many thousands of cars, carrying human freight, will be pushed up steep grades, and gears and axles will not break. Steep descents can be negotiated and sudden stops made in safety. This safe pleasure riding that millions enjoy would not have been possible but for the tests and improvements that must be credited to the racing game."

NOW we're to have another wearisome squabble in the heavyweight division of the fight game before the staging of the Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey near-title bout which the fans began to anticipate following Schmeling's victory over Paulino Uzcudun last Thursday. The New York Boxing Commission has ordered Schmeling first to go through a contract made by his discarded manager, Arthur Bulow, for a bout with Phil Scott at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn on August 7. Schmeling has declared he will not carry out any match made by Bulow, so there is another Marathon wrangle in prospect. Wonder if the Brooklyn promoters would have insisted on Schmeling's appearing in a Scott match if Max had been defeated by Paulino last week?

Earl Sheely

EARL SHEELY'S brilliant first-base play continues to be almost a daily feature of the Pirate's games. It's a rare occasion when he doesn't turn in a sensational capture of a wide or low throw. He has saved the Buccaneer infielders from a flock of errors this season. Yesterday he turned in one of the greatest pick-ups seen here in many moons when he snatched Pie Traynor's low throw off the base line with his gloved hand for the third out in the first half of the third inning, cutting off at least one run.

Sheely's hitting is greatly improved, too, since his recovery from an injury to his left arm, suffered in the second series of the season in Cincinnati. He batted safely in 12 straight games prior to today, and in that time made 16 hits in 44 times at bat, an average of .364.

GRIMES SEEKS 13TH WIN

Ervin Brame pitched smart ball and was accorded exemplary support in yesterday's triumph of the Buccos. Paul Waner, Sheely and Grantham turned in some brilliant plays that staved off possible defeat for the Pirates. Brother Paul robbed Chick Hafey of a potential triple or homer by a one-hand catch near the rightfield exit gates. Sheely made a remarkable one-hand scoop of a Traynor low throw for the third out with a run going over the plate, while Grantham was a star in two clever double plays.

BRAME CHECKS SLUGGERS

Brame, himself, rose to unusual heights in the third by taking Frisch and Bottomley out of the picture on lofts with runners on third and first and none out. The Bottomley fly was caught by Grantham in right, Boots following through with a fine shot to the plate that doubled Douthit.

Clarence (Lefty) Mitchell spilled the beans for the Redbirds in the seventh when he issued three passes in succession on top of a single by Lloyd Waner. The three gifts were followed by a sacrifice fly and two runs were scored. The Buccos owned a victory margin of two tallies at the finish. Sylvester Johnson relieved Mitchell in the big round.

Correct Baseball Scoring

(Watch for this instructive daily feature in correct baseball scoring if you are interested in our national pastime. It will take you through representative plays which may come up any day at the ball yard.)

PLAY

There is none out. Jamieson is on second base. Fonseca bunts to Dykes, who overthrows first base, Jamieson scoring and Fonseca reaching second.

What goes in the box score and summary?

ANSWER

Credit Jamieson with a run. Credit Fonseca with a sacrifice and no time at bat, although there was no out on the play. Charge Dykes with an error. No credit is given for run batted in, this coming as a result of the error.

MAUREEN, BILL WIN

WHITE PLAINS, N. ., July 3.—(INS.)—Maureen Orcutt, women's metropolitan champion, teamed with Wild Bill Mehlhorn, defeated Helen Hicks and Leo Diegel, P. G. A. titleholder, in an exhibition match over the Fenimore Country Club links, here, by five points.

FAVORITES WIN IN CLAY COURT TITLE PLAY

INDIANAPOLIS, July 3.—(AP.)—Favorites were easy victors in the opening round of the annual national clay court tennis singles championships here yesterday.

Fifteen of the 16 seeded players were winners, taking their matches in consecutive sets in all but one instance. In that, Walter Martin, Toronto, Canada, defaulted.

The near defeat of Ben Gorchakoff, Los Angeles intercollegiate star, by D. K. Murray, Jr., of New Orleans, was the closest thing to an upset. Gorchakoff, beaten in the first set, 6-3, and trailing in the second by four games to two, rallied brilliantly to eliminate the Southerner.

PYLE HAS EDGE AT HEARING

LOS ANGELES, July 3.—(AP.)—C. C. Pyle, of trans-continental bunion derby fame, was a five-time winner and a one-time loser at a hearing before the California Labor Commission yesterday. Five claims against Pyle, filed in connection with his recent coast-to-coast footrace, were dismissed by Commissioner R. Richardson for lack of jurisdiction. But Elden Allen, a patrolman, was granted $60.26 for services. Attorney John J. Wilson, representing Pyle, said he had never heard of Allen's claims before, but he paid it immediately.

Charles Thompson, a publicity agent, told the commission Pyle left him and his wife stranded in Arizona "with only 20 cents and two flat tires." Thompson's claim was denied, however, because he had not served Pyle in California.

Attorney Wilson informed the commission none of Pyle's 15 runners, who won prizes totaling $60,000, had complained. He said seven of them had been paid and settlement with the rest awaited payments on contracts by cities through which the race passed.

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Thomas Weiskoof, 15, was medalist in the qualifying round at the Beaver Valley Country Club for the second annual Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph West Penn junior amateur tournament which is to be played at the Schenley Park golf club, Thursday, July 11. Tommy scored 42-43 for an 85 in the preliminary test held under the direction of Caddie-master Eugene Erath.

The play at Beaver Valley was held under ideal conditions and the following boys qualified aside from the medalist: Tommy Carlton, 43-46-89; James Kinseman, 46-46-92; Samuel Nelsmick, 47-46-93; Russell Beightley, 47-48-95; Everett Kosack, 50-46-96; Robert Thompson, 51-45-96; Buster Wertz, 48-42-100.

Colonel Strong Wins Grand Circuit Race

CLEVELAND, July 3.—(AP.)—After a hard four-heat battle, Colonel Strong, owned by O. M. Powell, of Rochester, Ind., and driven by Charles Valentine, of Columbus, O., won the annual renewal of the $3,000 2:12 Edwards pace at North Randall track yesterday. He was the favorite.

brother annexed 221 hits in 1927 and 223 in his first season.

The wee centerfielder has been running out in front in three-baggers and would seem to have a fair chance to lead the procession in what has proved to be the rarest hit in the sport. The epidemic of Chinese homers makes the triple stand out as a real offensive offering.

WILSON GREAT HITTER

A great hitter who wore the Pirate regalia holds the record for three-base wallops. The gentleman was and is Owen (Chief) Wilson, one of the best rightfielders the National League has had. The big fellow generally spoke his pieces with his bat, and his mark of 36 triples in 1912 probably will stand for many years to come.

FOLINS WINS

ZAPPA RESIGNS

Al Zappa, popular manager of the J. L. Thomas club of the City League, announced last evening his retirement from the management of the club, to take effect at the end of the week. Bloomfield fans and the ball club are losing a willing and hard worker in Zappa, but Al feels that the fans have not been supporting the club, and he wants to see a winner out Bloomfield way.

HUGE SALES
REDUCED WHITE OWL FROM 10c

MILLIONS of White Owls were sold at 10c. Men called it an outstanding value at that price. But the sale kept on increasing. We were able to reduce the price to 3 for 20c . . . The ten cent quality of White Owl remains unchanged; mild, mellow, sweet-tasting. Only the value has changed . . . upward.

TODAY, thousands and thousands of former 10c smokers depend on White Owl for thorough enjoyment. A really fine cigar at a mass-production price . . . and, in addition, foil-wrapped to seal in all the full, sweet flavor.

BOBBY TO PLAY IN AMATEUR, OPEN ABROAD

ATLANTA, July 3.—(AP.)—Bobby Jones announced here today that he planned to play in both the British open and British amateur championships next year. His next big tournament will be the national amateur at Del Monte, Cal., in September.

Bobby's last appearance in the British open was two years ago, when he successfully defended the championship he won in 1926. He also played in the 1921 tournament, but failed to win.

He entered the British amateur twice, in 1921 and 1926, but failed both times. This is the only major championship he never has won.

Al Praises Bobby

(Al Espinosa, noted professional golfer and managing director of the Sportsmen Country Club, Chicago, who topped his contemporaries in the national open golf championship at Winged Foot last week only to fall before Bobby Jones, 'the Atlanta wizard', in a heart-breaking play-off, writes the following signed article exclusively for Universal Service, telling how he lost the championship and lauding Jones for his well-earned victory.)

By AL ESPINOSA.

Written exclusively for Universal Service, Inc. Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, Inc.

CHICAGO, July 3.—I was beaten by a great golfer and a true sportsman. Bobby played a remarkable game and deserved his victory.

I do not believe in an alibi and have none to offer, but I know that I never played two worse rounds in my life than I did against Jones in the last frame.

I was tired out. Tournament golf most of the winter and a trip abroad took the steam out of me.

CAN'T BE BEATEN

But that is neither here nor there—show me the man who can beat the rugged Bobby when he is shooting his real game. I can't do it and I don't believe it can be done.

The shots I wasted at the twelfth hole in the last round of the championship were costly. These resulted from a bad lie near a trap, where I had to take a cirucs stance to even hit the ball, which found another trap at the green.

After getting on in five, I used three putts. On the last six holes I was two under fours, but that didn't help when Bobby put "Calamity Jane" to work on the last green.

At the three green in the play-off you will remember that Jones downed a 30-foot side hill putt that made the gallery gasp. I put it mildly when I say I was surpised and I did some serious thinking. I believe that Bobby was surprised himself. However, He just steps up and bangs them down.

FINISH AMUSING

Shortly after that I weakened—and you know the rest.

Several people advised me to quit after the first 18 holes. I told them I'd shoot it out and take my medicine, be it ever so bitter. Towards the end it was really amusing. However, I'm glad that I did as well as I did in the championship and I hope to get another crack at the title next year.

WIFE LEAVES MICKEY

RUMSON, N. J., July 3.—(INS.)—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion of the world, stood revealed as a "bachelor" today when the news leaked out that his wife had taken their 5-year-old son, Mickey, Jr., and had gone to live at the home of her parents in Brooklyn. Rumor has had the Walkers separating numerous times in the past.

Walker felled his chauffeur in a fight in Red Bank, N. J., two weeks ago, and it is thought that this incident may have hastened Mrs. Walker's departure. The champion is reported to have told friends recently that his personal fortune of $250,000 earned in ring and motion picture work has been virtually dissipated.

ZIVIC BEATEN BY BAKER IN SLOW BOUT

Baker 145½ when the pair scaled in on Monday.

Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, 122 pounds, defeated Young Nanci, of Swissvale, 122¾, all the way in the eight-round semi-final, their third meeting in the Bowl ring. He was entirely too rangy and too smart a boxer for Nanci and won hands down, despite a badly puffed right eye from the second round on and a split and bleeding nose. In spite of the onesidedness of the contest, the referee's vote was required to settle the decision when Judge Jack Henderson called it a draw. Judge Ferris voted for Haggerty.

SOLMEN BEATS ZELNACK

Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, making his first start since his knockout by Buck McTiernan in the Moose Temple, forced the fighting all the way to defeat Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, in the second bout. This was a three-way decision, with Judge Henderson again voting for a draw and Judge Ferris finding for Zelnack. Referee Grayber handed it to Solmen. Zelnack won only the last round, when he came out of his shell and took a chance, and got an even break in the second round. Both weighed 155 pounds.

In the opening bout, Sammy Chiodo, of the West End, 146 pounds, slugged throughout the first round with Howard Williams, Negro, of Swissvale, 144½, and then collapsed twice early in the second, for a count of nine the first time and then the full count.

Al Grayber refereed the main and second bouts, and Joe Keally the other two. Cuddy DeMarco was introduced from the ring and challenged the winner of the main bout. California Joe Gans also was introduced. Pitts Blackman, One-Eye Connelly's rival as a gate-crasher, hopped into the ring before the main bout and tried to introduce himself, but got the bum's rush from the crowd and the officials. He claimed he had crashed the gate for this show.

JABS AND JOLTS

The first show of the season in the Temple of Music, Conneaut Lake Park, Pa., will be held tonight. Henry Firpo, middleweight, of Louisville, meets Lee Meredith in the 10-round main bout, and Harry Crisp boxes Frankie Sunday in the semi-final.

Jackie Rodgers, North Side Negro bantamweight, who boxes Dan Billick in one of the 10-round bouts of the double-windup card in the Meyers Bowl next Monday night, along with Tony Herrera and Phil Goldstein, also has been matched to box Pancho Dencio, of Cleveland, in the main bout at Junction Park, New Brighton, Thursday night of next week.

Herrera, by the way, turned in a neat job when he knocked out Ray Rychell, of Chicago, in the fifth round at Flint, Mich., Monday night, in his first start since he fouled Goldstein here several weeks ago.

With last night's Zivic-Baker show out of the way, the Meyers Bowl will be put in readiness for another offering tomorrow night, when Rudy Ceder, of Tarentum, will meet Dick Ramies, of California and Canton, O., in the 10-round main bout of a special holiday show at popular prices of $1 and $2, and Mike Payan, Indian stablemate of Ramies, will oppose California Joe Gans, clever Negro lightweight, of Gary, Ind., in the eight-round semi-final. Ken Hargraves boxes Young Terry McGovern in the opening bout, and Jimmy Belmont meets Mark Carr in the second number.

LEGION GAMES TOMORROW

The fourth round of the Allegheny County American Legion junior baseball tournament will be played tomorrow when six teams continue their eliminations.

Crafton Post No. 145 will meet Dravosburg at the Crafton High School field; Waner Club of Swissvale meets Pitcairn Post No. 256 at the Union Switch and Signal grounds, while Burt Foster Post No. 361 clashes with the Sun-Telegraph Newsies at the Rankin Car Barn field.

COLUMBIA WINS IN HENLEY REGATTA

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 3.—(AP.)—In the finest race of the opening day of the Henley Regatta, the Columbia University 150-pound eight beat the Westminster Bank Rowing Club in its first heat for the Thames Challenge Cup.

It was a grilling affair over the entire course, with the Americans leading the greater part of the time. The determined struggle wound up dramatically when the American boys launched a magnificent spurt about 300 yards from home.

RETAIN ADVANTAGE

They flashed ahead by a canvas—about six feet—and held their advantage despite repeated efforts by the Britons, passing the winning post in 7 minutes and 32 seconds amid tremendous applause from the big crowd which had gathered for the day's event.

They were given a rousing reception when they landed.

Columbia, rowing with a faster stroke, was up by a third of a length at the first quarter mile and this they increased to half a length at the half mile. At Maidenhead the British crew spurted and was level at the half distance. From there, however, Columbia gradually went ahead to win.

COACH CONFIDENT

Coach Don Farley, of the Columbia crew said he was delighted with what his boys had done and he felt completely confident as to the races still ahead of them.

Joe Wright, Jr., of Toronto, holder of the famous Diamond Sculls, came safely through his preliminary trial, defeating E. T. Purslow, of the Pengnern Club, without much difficulty in the comparatively slow time of 9 minutes 11 seconds.

R. T. Lee, winner of the classic event in 1927, and Viscount Tiverton also won their heats.

J. Guest, another Canadian sculler, beat J. E. Hemens, of Maidenhead, by a half length in 8 minutes 50 seconds.

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., July 3.—Nemacolin and Mt. Braddock baseball teams, members of the Pleasant Valley League, which have played 23 consecutive innings without scoring on each other, will resume play tomorrow at an elaborate Fourth celebration at Nemacolin.

The double bill between the two teams is creating much interest in the coke region.

POP AND BIFF IN SUMMER HUDDLE

By JESS CARVER.

Capt. L. McCall (Biff) Jones, head football coach at West Point, passed through here early today en route to California, where he and Pop Warner will go into a mid-summer huddle and discuss the Army-Stanford football game, booked for the Coast for next December. The exact date is December 28, and the site, Palo Alto.

The last time Coach Biff and Pop got together was at the John Gruber dinner here in February. At that time, Biff sought to find out just what those Stanford guards had done to his backs at the Yankee Stadium some months before. That and a few other things.

Tomorrow's the Fourth,
Hoo-ray, hoo-ray,
Don't shoot any 'crackers
Too near to the hay.

Speaking of the cards, if we were, how about the guy who dropped dead of heart failure at a bridge battle just to indicate that he had six to the king?

Football season must be near. A request was received yesterday for a pass for the Pitt-Ohio State game. Such forethought should be rewarded.

Then there is the gink who thought "Take Me Out of the Ball Game" was written for the benefit of the Red Sox pitchers.

LEE MEADOWS RELEASED BY PIRATES

Lee Meadows, veteran pitcher, today was made a free agent by the Pittsburgh Baseball Club. Meadows, sent to the Indianapolis Club of the American Association under an optional agreement about six weeks ago, was returned to the Pirates by Indianapolis last night when it was found that he had not fully recovered from an arm injury that incapacitated him last season.

The Pirates granted Meadows his unconditional release today, according to Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburgh Club. He is expected to return here from Indianapolis tomorrow, and he will be free to sign with any club seeking his services.

Meadows broke into the National League in 1915, and therefore is a 10-year man eligible to become a free agent. He started on the mound for Indianapolis yesterday, but was beaten.

Nancy Tells Roger That Her Aim Is to Marry A Wealthy Man

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Hollenbeck, young, vibrant and beautiful, reluctantly drops her latest beau, Mat Tully, when her mother warns her against marrying a poor man "as she did." At the rich Craigs' house party, Nancy receives the attentions of Jack Beamer, handsome sportsman unhappily married. Nancy and Louise, her sister, are called home. Their rich Aunt Ellie has arrived. She promises the girls a trip to Yosemite. Nancy hears from Jack Beamer. She pictures herself as the second Mrs. Deamer. Arriving at Yosemite, Nancy finds it dull until a handsome man enters the door. Next day Nancy "meets" him. He is Roger Decatur, a ranger. The Porters, rich but dull relatives, arrive. Nancy plans to use them as chaperones on a mountain trip to meet Roger. He appears the first night. The Porters are not pleased.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XI.

"VERY inconsiderate of her to go riding, when she knows you girls don't ride,'' Mrs. Porter said severely.

''Maybe the girls could learn a little—''

''Nonsense, Herman. Do you want that Essie and Gladys should fall off a cliff and get killed?''

Mr. Porter had to admit that he did not, so Nancy and her ranger rode alone.

They made long trips, starting out just after dawn, sometimes with a pack train, sometimes alone. ''Got to take a run up to Youngs Lake'' or ''the Dana River camp'' or ''Glen Aulin,'' Roger would announce the night before. ''Come with me youngster?'' Even Nancy guessed that the long trips into the back country were all in line of duty. Roger Decatur was ''hanging around,'' loath to leave and get back to his official duties. These semi-official tours of inspection were his excuse.

Shivering in the chill morning before the bright sun had warmed the day, Nancy would slip into her worn riding things, run a comb through her short, curly hair, and meet Decatur by the corral where the mules were already being packed. Camp beds, blankets, foodstuffs. Everything for the High Sierra Camps above the Meadows had to go in on mule back. There are no wagon roads, only the narrow, winding trails.

And riding through the meadows, starred with flowers, with the soft wind blowing, and the world of teas and parties and pretending far away, nothing seemed to matter but the sun and the wind and being alive.

Sometimes with a short, sharp stab of pain she thought of Louise sitting with Aunt Ellie on the veranda of the Awahnee, rocking . . .

Well, Lou's turn would come . . .after she and Jack Beamer were married. The things she'd do for Louise, and mamma and papa . . .

Not a word from Beamer since she had left the valley. Mail was slow up here in the High Sierras, and the days slid by so fast, so lightly, so full of beauty. Soap bubble days, coming and going so swiftly you could hardly keep count. Full of color and beauty and a strange sort of languor. Unreal days. Days in which you weren't yourself at all, but someone else, eating and sleeping and riding and laughing. Exulting in the feel of the saddle under you, not caring that your clothes smelt of horseflesh, that your nose was sunburnt, your hands grubby.

Roger Decatur was part of the spell. He seemed to understand her every mood. Words were hardly necessary, they could jog along over the trails for an hour, not bothering to speak, grinning at each other expansively, sometimes breaking into absurd little snatches of song.

Lunches were the big event of the day. With the horses tethered to trees, and one of Roger's tiny fires burning brightly in the circle of stones near the river bed, she would unpack the fruit and sandwitches while he watched the sizzling bacon, and pulled the coffee pot off the blaze at the very moment it frothed and started to spill its brown foam into the flame. Then, surfeited with food, they would stretch out on the soft green carpet of the grass, and smoke and yawn, and stare up through the trees to the bland, noonday sky.

Nancy found herself telling him things about home, things she had never told anyone before. About the house, little, weather-beaten and genteelly shabby, perched on a Piedmont hillside, between its more pretentious neighbors. The Freese's rambling stone house, closed nearly all year while the family were in Europe or New York, on one side, the Whaley's Italian palace on the other. About mamma, who was a Peebles, fuming because the Whaleys weren't anybody at all. ''And of course it is absurd,'' Nancy finished. ''It just goes to show that we haven't any real society in the West anyway. Why Mrs. Whaley's mother used to do a big family wash every Monday. Honestly! Mamma says the girls used to giggle as they passed the yard because she'd be out there with her mouth full of clothespins, and red flannel underwear and crocheted petticoats flapping all around!''

Roger laughed, showing all his even, white teeth. ''My mother did her own washing too, and sometimes some for the neighbors. I used to run the wringer for her when I was a little kid. We lived on a little ranch, in Nevada. Great days . . ."

"But that—that's different. On a ranch."

"Oh, I don't know. We were sort of poor white trash. Dad was what they used to call a remittance man—got a little money every month from home, to keep him away. A bribe as it were! He met my mother up in the Klondike. She was a dance hall girl. Had a mighty sweet voice."

After a little pause he added, ''She did her darndest to stick it out, but I guess it was the loneliness that got her, she was used to a crowd. Dad and I were away on a hunting trip for about 10 days, and when we came back she was gone. Lit out with a washing machine salesman. I remember how nice she left the cabin, with the fire all laid, and the bacon in the frying pan; Dad said he didn't blame her any, but he didn't want to stay there any more. We worked around the lumber camps in Washington for a while. Dad was killed in an accident in one of the hills about five years ago. Well, he had a pretty fair life. . .his share of fun . .''

''But his wife, going off like that . . .it's such a terrible thing to do!''

Nancy's eyes were wide with horror. One's mother running away. . .Leaving a bewildered little boy, and a heartbroken husband . . .

''I can't imagine any woman. . . being so cruel!''

Roger Decatur grinned, yawned and consulted the watch strapped to his sunburnt wrist. ''Oh, well, she was only a girl. A pretty girl, Nancy. She meant all right, only the going got too hard for her, so she gave up. If it were a man no . . .but a girl . . shucks! You can't expect too much.''

"But Roger, a girl ought to be willing to play the game like a man! You can't think very much about women if you think that they're all like that, all—''

He stood looking down at her, still laughing. ''Well, who'd fancy you'd have ideas like that. You and your pink teas, and what not!''

Nancy looked away, suddenly embarrassed. He teased her, good naturedly, all the long ride home. ''Why you aren't a modern girl at all! You aren't cut out for a society dame, Nancy. You're a throw back. Come on now, come clean, haven't you got some ancestors that aren't bluebIooded? I'll bet you have. How about your dad. I'll bet he is a two-fisted citizen with hair on his chest—''

Nancy looked straight into Roger's twinkling blue eyes, and chuckled. How papa would have loved that! Papa who could tell you all about all the prize fighters from John L. Sullivan on, and never read anything but the sport page and wild west magazines all about shooting and fighting and sudden death . . .

''Well, my father isn't very fierce. He isn't very well, and he works in a bank. But he is always talking about the wild and woolly, and my grandmother Hollenbeck lives in the country—''

''I knew it! You know more about the cows and chickens than you're letting on. Bet you marry a rancher and have about five kids, all boys. You're the kind—wiry even if you aren't husky. Say, some of the rides we've taken would have knocked out most men.''

She felt his keen, bright eyes sizing her up appraisingly, approvingly as he might notice the points of a young heifer or horse. Without the slightest consciousness of her as a girl, without any sentimental interest at all.

Unaccountably her cheeks began to burn. Her heart began an angry beating . . . thump—thump—thump.

She heard herself say in a quivering, unnatural voice: ''Oh, isn't that thrilling! I hate to upset all your wonderful detective work, but I never even saw my grandmother, let alone her farm. And if I'm going to marry a rancher — which I am—it isn't the kind you're thinking about. No love in a hovel, thank you! The ranch I'm going to live on about three months in the year is a rich man's hobby. There's electricity and plumbing and a swimming pool and thoroughbred horses and a French car—if you call that the primitive life!''

WONDER GIRL

By JACK WOODFORD

Daily Short Story

JACK PASTOR, hurring through a small village near New York, watching the performance of his car, under the impression that he was enjoying the country, suddenly spied a bit of scenery which produced an automatic emotional reflex, causing him to shut off the gas and apply the brakes.

She was leaning over the rustic gate before a small cottage set in a flower garden, the whole effect being that of a Millet pastoral.

Instantly Jack dismounted and approached her, with that invasive grin of his. He was a Go Getter from away back, and instantly he had made up his mind that he was going to win her.

Getting things had run in his family for generations. As a result, Jack was so wealthy he almost could have murdered, committed high treason or stolen outright, without any danger of being seriously molested in the Dollar Democracy.

Studying the girl's wonderous beauty, as he approached her, he decided that he would have her if it cost him forty million dollars.

"I'm sorry to trouble you, Miss, but I'm out of water. Would you permit me to get some from your pump and fill my radiator with it?"

When they got back from their ride, both had had the most exciting experience of their lives. They had conceived, had, and held that slightly ridiculous emollient known as "Love At First Sight."

Jack knew that he would never rest during the day, and certainly not during the night, until she was his wife. She was tiny. Worse, she was exquisite. Her neat, high-collared dress shut off milk white satiny skin, and her eyes revealed the secret that there were no naughty secrets in her life to reveal—probably the most devastating revelation that a woman's eyes may give, so far as man is concerned.

She was, in short, a rare creature whose beauty should ornament a more regal setting than this country town.

Again and again, in the weeks that followed, Jack returned to the charming little cottage. At length, one evening, with a harvest moon red overhead, and the pleasing odor of burning leaves over the countryside, Jack committed himself.

"I'm afraid that I can never become your wife," she said sadly. "We could never, be happy." Her voice was chromatic with regrets. "I couldn't leave the little house that I have lived in ever since I was a baby, for an unfriendly, large, bewildering home in the city.

"I am a part of that little cottage, I am rooted in it. If I were to leave . . . we wouldn't be happy together. Without my little home I would be eternally sad—queer—you'd become bored and impatient with me."

His only reply was a kiss, more fervent than the rest. He was busy thinking. And he came from a long line of Master Minds, it must be remembered.

When she had gone to bed, Jack tarried awhile to speak with her mother. The upshot was that he and the parent planned for hours, with the girl sleeping, all unsuspecting, in her narrow little bed upstairs, dreaming, one can only conjecture as politely as possible, what dreams—!

" 'Till autumn, then," said Jack with a grin as, at, last, he rose and went out.

The following day the wonder girl's mother begged her to accompany her on a trip to Maine, to visit an aunt there noted for her good advice and miraculous mustard plasters. Mary went, though her heart bid fair to break over the memory of that last kiss which had been like the painless sprouting of a wisdom tooth.

Two months dragged themselves by, as two months will, when a boy and a girl have not what they earnestly desire.

And then came autumn, and with it an invitation from Joe to visit him in New York.

Arriving, at eventide, in the wicked city, Mary and her mother were met at the station by Jack in a car that looked like a private railroad coach.

There were devious looks exchanged between Jack and Mary's mother, as the car set out, rolled north, and finally stopped before a large residence just off the drive. The entire building was evidently new.

As he assisted Mary out of the car, Jack met her glance, and her eyes glowed as she looked into his, after months of separation, during which the metaphorical wisdom tooth had ached incessantly, but, on the whole, not unpleasantly.

Without an explanatory word he led her through the gorgeous new house. Presently they reached a door that led to a large wing. It was a section built on to the house proper, looking something like a large conservatory. The roof was of glass, and the moon shone down through it, lighting up the interior with dim, silvery light. Presently Jack switched on huge lights, and there, before Mary's eyes, lay a miracle.

Her entire little house, even the garden and the fence, rustic gate and all, stood before her. Rushing into the house, she found everything unchanged; every piece of furniture was in its accustomed place; but, most miraculous of all, looking out of the windows, she saw the same scenes that had greeted her eyes since childhood. Jack had caused to be painted, by the best scenic artists in New York, exact reproductions of the view from each window. These paintings were cleverly arranged for a realistic effect outside the windows.

They were married and lived happily, not forever after, but for three delightful years; after which they were divorced, but remained good friends.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Mankind—and Unkind

NO TABLE ever "groaned" under a modern woman's diet. It's her husband who does the groaning.

Somehow the husband of a lady celebrity so often looks as though she had picked him out during a bargain rush and ordered him sent home without taking him out to see how he looked in the daylight.

* * *

When life, love and transportation were slower, we all "GOT there, just the same," and managed to stay where we got a great deal longer, whether it was at home or in love or married.

HELEN ROWLAND

There is nothing that seems to rest a man so much as lolling on the piazza and watching the weeds grow in the garden and the hedge waiting patiently to be trimmed.

It is getting so that a woman feels as though she had forgotten something when she lets two seasons go by without being divorced or remarried.

* * *

It isn't until quite a while after the honeymoon that she discovers that his "firm, strong character" is just "pig-headedness," and he discovers that her childish, cunning little ways are just "empty-headedness."

The American Idea: Giving your children everything on earth they want—then wondering why they have no ambition.

Everything is being made easy these days; even the lowly "hot dogs" come all peeled. But, a frankfurter without a skin must have about as much kick as a first kiss without a struggle.

* * *

When a girl is just a useless ornament, with nothing but a vacuum under her marcel wave, she is not fit for anything on earth, in the average man's opinion—except to be somebody's "helpmate."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Focal Infection Is Very Often to Blame.

RECENTLY I read a most interesting discussion about backache. It was written by a man who has made an intensive study of this complaint. This article took up in detail some of the more common causes of this ailment.

The average person looks on backache as a disease. It is not—it is a symptom. In some cases it may be merely the result of fatigue or overwork. As a rule it is a warning that there is some underlying condition which is responsible for the symptom.

DR. COPELAND

The doctor who so ably discusses backache classifies the causes. First on the list are those due to local infection. This includes the teeth, tonsils, sinuses and intestines. An infection in any one of these centers might be accompanied by pains in the joints and muscles. It might cause backache.

Second come those cases due to some disease of the abdominal organs. Gall bladder trouble, some infection of the kidneys, kidney stones, gravel, appendicitis, and uterine disturbance or displacement, would all come under this heading.

Many cases of backache are of nervous origin. It may be a passing sign of a disturbed nervous system.

Orthopedic conditions such as flat feet, fallen arches, misplaced vertebrae, strained ligaments, will naturally result in backache. This form of discomfort is merely a reflex.

In women the most common cause of backache is some disorder of the pelvic organs. It is wise to find out what is wrong.

The efficiency of the victim, whether a man or a woman, is sure to be lessened if persistent backache absorbs the happiness and vigor. The constant, nagging, down-bearing, twisting, aching pain is intolerable. No wonder loss of good nature and positive irritability are the natural accompaniments of this distressing symptom.

But, as you see, there are so many possible causes for backache that it isn't easy to get rid of it. But in order to do so it will be necessary to study the case very carefully to locate the trouble. If you do not find the cause at once do not be discouraged. There is a cause, of course, and patient search will find it.

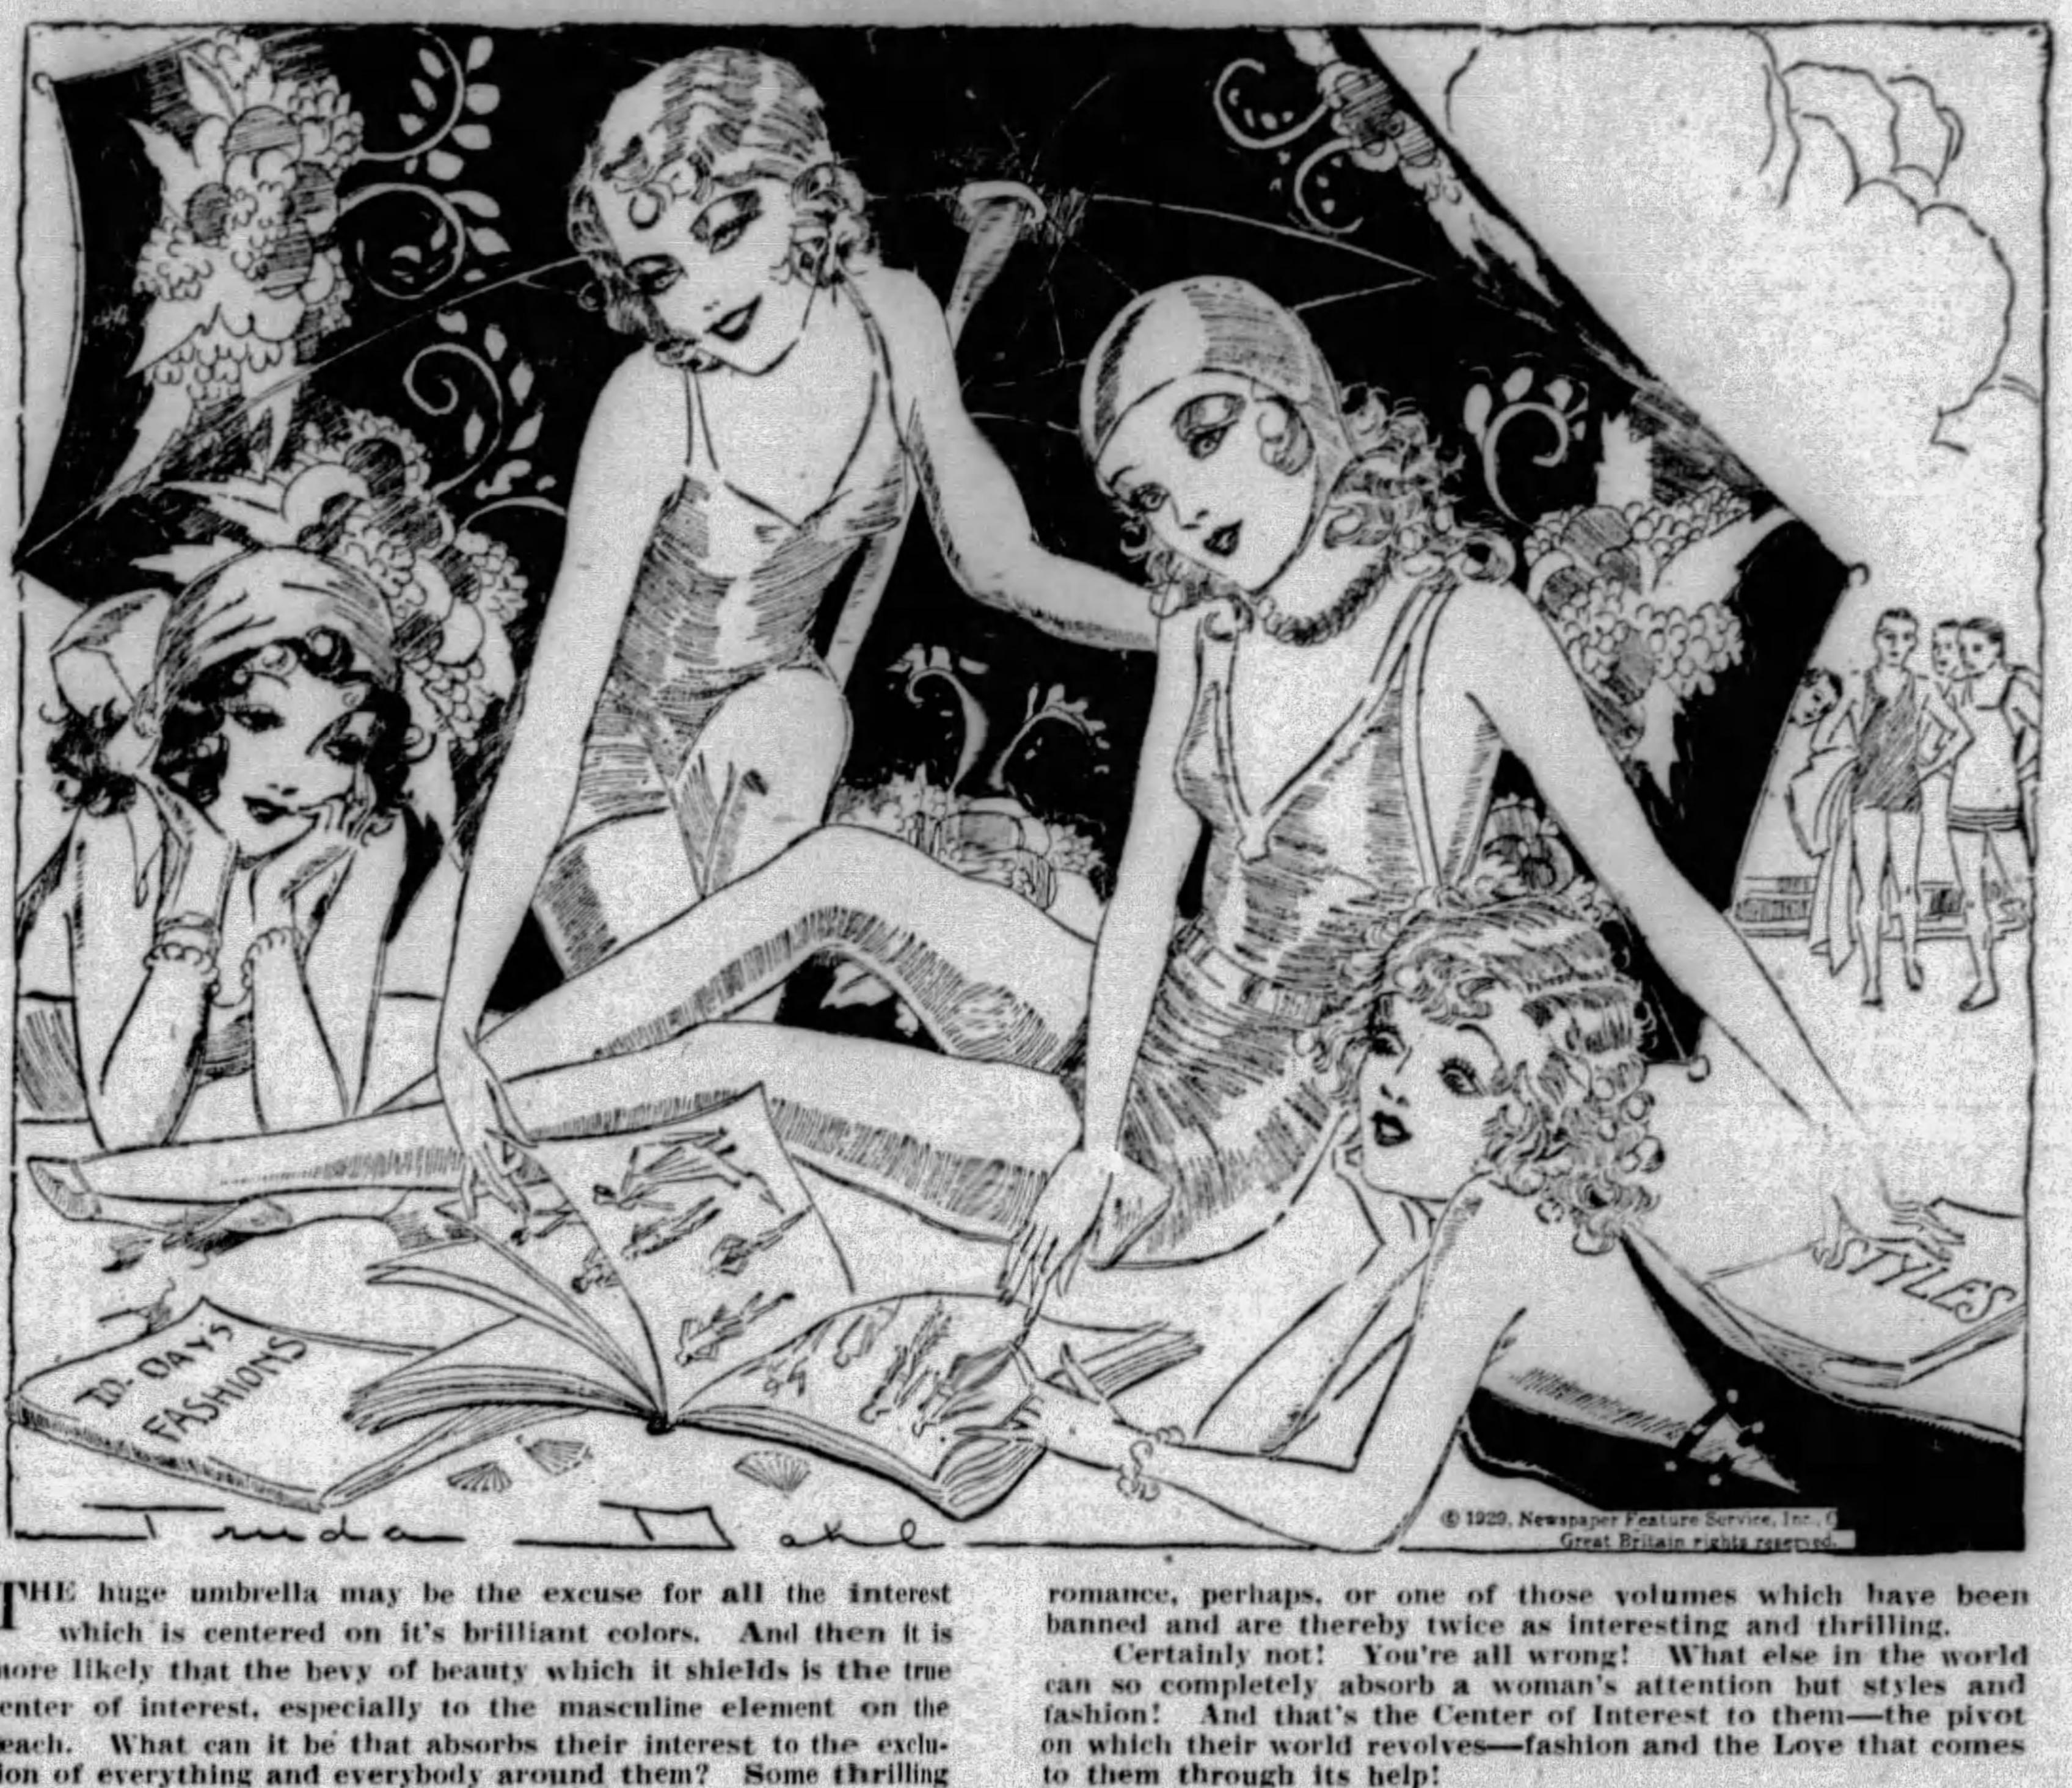
The Center of Interest

By Truda Dahl



© 1929, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

THE huge umbrella may be the excuse for all the interest which is centered on it's brilliant colors. And then it is more likely that the bevy of beauty which it shields is the true center of interest, especially to the masculine element on the beach. What can it be that absorbs their interest to the exclusion of everything and everybody around them? Some thrilling romance, perhaps, or one of those volumes which have been banned and are thereby twice as interesting and thrilling.

Certainly not! You're all wrong! What else in the world can so completely absorb a woman's attention but styles and fashion! And that's the Center of Interest to them—the pivot on which their world revolves—fashion and the Love that comes to them through its help!

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Edith Fairfax's Week-End Visit Is Planned.

"WE'RE to telephone the Dicky-bird when we reach the city. If he can, he'll meet us and ride out with us."

Harry Underwood took advantage of a traffic signal set against him to turn around and talk to me. When I had given up the wheel of the car to him at the little town where he had met us, I had made an excuse of fatigue to give Lillian the opportunity to leave me to myself and sit with her husband in front. I knew that she was anxious to tell him of Marion's return to her school, and so deeply had they both been absorbed in her recital that Mr. Underwood's little speech to me was the first sign that he remembered I was in the car.

His announcement brought me back with a jolt from the pleasant relaxed contemplation of Lillian's belated happines in which I had been indulging, and confronted me with a troublesome problem. Vividly I remembered Dicky's anger—real or pretended, I could not determine which—at what he termed my lack of courtesy in neglecting to set a definite date for Edith Fairfax's promised week-end visit to us. Harry Underwood's gibing upon Dicky's own forgetfulness had silenced my husband for the time, but I knew that the question was only put off, and suddenly I resolved to yield the point to Dicky.

"Would it take you very much out of your way to go around by the magazine office?" I asked.

I saw Lillian lift her head quickly, but she did not turn toward me. Her husband's eyes, however, were frank question marks.

"Of course not," he said, "if that's what you want to do."

There was disapproval in his voice, but I ignored it.

"It will be better than telephoning," I said with an effort at casualness. "Besides, I want to see Ede a minute. I must find out which week-end she wants to visit us."

Mr. Underwood turned back to the wheel with a shrug of his broad shoulders.

"When you find out the lady's decision will you relay it to me?" he asked. "My control tells me that I'll be sure to have a very important piece of business on hand that week-end which will require my presence—well!—anywhere besides the farm house."

"Harry!" chided his wife, but with a laugh in her voice, "have you no manners?"

"Nary a manner," he retorted, "not in this case, I can stand most anybody, but my idea of a thoroughly spoiled week-end is to be compelled to listen to the highly efficient Miss Fairfax, and watch her parlor tricks. She was bad enough when she was a sappy 'art student'—the Lord forgive me! with nothing but a pretty face and a sort of appealing feminine helplessness to recommend her. But since she's developed this competent streak from whatever sub-conscious strata she had it hidden, she's become absolutely impossible. Why the girl's as hard and ruthless as a bootlegger. I've always had the theory that these terribly mushy and helpless females have a streak like that underneath, only most of 'em never wake up to the fact that they have it. But she's fully aware of hers. So nay, nay, wife of my heart, also nix-nix—upon my being one of her audience. The rest of you can go as far as you like."

"We'll probably go farther," Lillian told him grimly, "and so will you. I don't imagine anybody is looking forward with any zestful anticipation to her visit."

But I could not share her belief wholly, though my heart echoed her words hopefully. Did Dicky really want Edith's presence at the farm house for the week-end, or was he simply making a hospitable gesture?

It sounds easy, doesn't it?—well, it is the easiest, the safest and surest way to lose fat you could possibly desire!

KRUSCHEN SALTS—a perfect combination of the six mineral salts your body must have every day to function properly—purify your blood of harmful acids, aid the kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material (the continual formation of which is probably the cause of your fat). They are carried by your blood stearm to give stimulus, life and new activity to every nerve, gland and body organ.

In this modern age of living, it's impossible to get these salts from the fancy food you eat—but don't worry just as long as you have KRUSCHEN SALTS.

Take a half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in hot water every morning and little by little that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes—but surely and you feel so wonderfully healthy, ambitious and energetic—more so than ever before in your life!

Horoscopes

Thursday, July 4

ACCORDING to the stellar rulership for this day there will be much travel and moving about, these attended by the most auspicious holiday conditions for pleasure and profit, where that is desired. Those who are disposed to attend to business or employment will find many channels of advancement and progress, with promotion and preferment, or favors from those in places of authority. It is a day to be taken advantage of by the ambitious. There is a hint as to discretion in personal contacts or social relations.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of advancement, preferment and the favor of those in high places. There is forecast of progress and prosperity in business and employment, but there is some sign of indiscretion or inharmony in the personal relations.

A child born on this day may have many talents and qualifications for attaining places of position and power, with its ambitions reached by their own efforts, as well as through friends of importance.

Come with us to the field, or go with our brothers to the sea and cast your nets; for the land and sea shall be bountiful to you, even as to us.—Gibran.

Friday, July 5

WHILE this day may be memorable for several advantages and opportunities, with encouragement for new contracts, fresh undertakings and worthwhile adventures into bold enterprises, yet there is a figure read as interposing a stubborn obstacle, with possible postponement or some disappointment. Under the circumstances it is advised that all effort be made with that prospect, but the delays and obstructions are not to be taken as final. Constructive work should be pushed to the highest bent, despite difficulties.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of splendid advantage and unusual openings, with much initiative toward new projects or renewals of old contracts, though the prospects for ultimate fulfillment of the ambitions may be deferred. But "all is not lost that is delayed," according to the proverb.

A child born on this day may be versatile, enterprising and should be equipped to attain success in its ventures, despite many stubborn obstacles in life.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Summer Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I am to be married during the summer and am going to have a large 5 o'clock wedding reception. Is it all right for me to wear white kid slippers, or must they be of satin?

2. Will you please also comment on my stationary and handwriting? BETTY.

THEY should be of satin.

2. Although in itself, as a piece of design, I like the design on your paper, it is too informal to be in good taste for letter paper. It would be better to have nothing on your paper, or to have an engraved monogram or address. The paper itself I like very much, and your handwriting and letter form are excellent.

(Will you please send me an addressed envelope, so that I can send you my pamphlet of suggested gifts appropriate for the bride to give to her bridesmaids).

The Formal Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Would you be so kind as to tell me whether or not it is correct to address invitations to a church wedding to Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, even though the bride-to-be has not been introduced to Mrs. Brown? The bride-to-be has several girl friends whose husbands she has not met, and this question has caused a great deal of discussion.

2. If the bridegroom is dressed in formal evening clothes, what color tie does he wear?

3. Will you please criticize my handwriting, letter form, and letter paper? V. S.

THERE is a very definite rule about this, and that is that formal invitations and announcements are always addressed to "Mr. and Mrs.", even though one does not perhaps know both the husband and the wife. Not to address the invitations to both husband and wife is to commit a serious breach of etiquette.

2 With formal evening clothes—the tail-coat—the groom wears the type of tie that he always wears with evening clothes, that is, the white tie. (I have a pamphlet about the correct attire for the groom at a day and an evening wedding, and I shall be most happy to send you one, if you will send me an addressed envelope.)

3. Your letter-form, your letter paper and your handwriting are all in excellent form and taste. And how happy I am that I can tell you that! Your paper is white—thank goodness!—and of a size in proportion to your handwriting. Your handwriting is full of character, and delightfully legible. Your margins make an artistic frame for this fine handwriting. And I can't find a single error in your letter form. Congratulations!

"My! you look lovely to-night"

SHE knew the compliment to be true—for the last pimple had vanished.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you must realize that the logical cause may come from the blood.

A clear, smooth, velvety skin bespeaks loveliness. Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. Hope, joy, happiness, and even love, may depend on the possession of a clear, unblemished skin.

On the other hand—skin eruptions are outward evidences of the condition within. Authorities state it is an indication that the body's power of resistance to disease and infection is low. Meaning, that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your red-blood-cells back to normal, that sluggish let-down feeling, loss of appetite, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again and you sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You are resistant to diseases.

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, By Premier Syndicate.)

Hollywood, July 3.

IN THE excitement of waiting for excitement to happen, this flicker bureau neglected to report that on June 26, Vilma Banky and Rod La Roque celebrated their second anniversary of "I do" and "I will." The couple were married amidst the glare of paragraphical spotlights in 1927. There were wise whispers that it wouldn't take. Like that first vaccination when you were a kid. The "ignorant" took all bets without giving odds.

Rod LaRoque

SEEMS it has taken. Vilma and Rod continue to get along like a coupla Siamese twins. Rod asked his Hungarian rhapsody what she wanted for an anniversary present. To indicate that romance still flourishes, Vilma replied she wanted a new fangled fishing tackle and some sort of "highs" that come from London. Um, Rod ordered it all.

Vilma Coming To Pittsburgh

AND then gloom came. Buck Private Banky received marching orders from General Samuel Goldwyn. Sam supervised her wedding, but business is business. She was given miles of railroad ticket and bundled aboard the iron horse, chief, bound for Kansas City, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and other cities where "This is Heaven" is unreeling. Vilma wires Rod from Albuquerque that she lost her breath in the desert and had no idea where she'd find it again.

Vilma Banky

Which agitates her "worser half" no end. He was planning to abduct Miss Banky to Catalina this week. The "Delightful Rogue" troupe sail across miles of windblown Pacific for locational purposes. But while Rod was performing before the camera, Vilma would have been rocking in a boat, hanging on to tackle and praying for a bite. Ah, well, life's a-like-a-that-a.

Parchesi Game Wins Attention

FAY BAINTER, W. K. stage emoter, is Dorothy Burgess' aunt. Dorothy is the little girl who double-crossed Warner Baxter in the film, "In Old Arizona" and was sent bullet bye-bye in the name of art.

Amidst wildest disorder last evening's championship parchesi meet between Bess Meredyth and Edward Everett Horton came to a bitter, unexpected end. Miss Meredyth's drawing-room was carefully arranged for the bout. The parchesi board was set on a Louis XIV table. High back antique chairs for the contestants faced each other. Beside each chair was a cushioned stool. Here Miss Meredyth's second, Sylvia Thalberg, sister of the W. K. Irving—and Mr. Horton's second—myself—were to sit. Lila Lee acted as referee. Miss Lee is very well known in parchesi circles herself.

Edward Everett Horton.

Mr. Horton arrived at 11:30 p. m., immediately after the conclusion of his performance in his current show. He arrived alone. He knew most of the guests: Evelyn Brent, Harry D. Edwards, Mrs. Jack Warner, Mrs. Darryl Zanuck, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Reisner, Jetta Goudal, John Farrow, Larry Weingarten (Miss Thalberg's husband), Major, the W. K. cartoonist, and his wife.

Horton Dislikes Antique Chairs

MISS MEREDYTH greeted Mr. Horton graciously. She introduced him to the guests. Because of the lateness of the hour, the parchesi bout began at once. Miss Thalberg arranged a small pillow at Miss Meredyth's back. Mr. Horton declared he wanted nothing but a glass of ginger ale.

The contestants waited until the spectators were quietly seated. Miss Meredyth tossed her two little dice. She couldn't get a "man" out. Mr. Horton tossed. He got a three and a two, making five and entitling him to put a "man" on the board. A murmur rippled through the room. Miss Meredyth tossed again and again failed. Mr. Horton tossed a six and a five, moving another "man" out and advancing his first six paces, one short of safety.

Evelyn Brent

At this tense moment, Mr. Horton requested a plain, ordinary straight chair. Miss Meredyth informed him what he sat upon was too good for him. Miss Lee, as referee, demanded silence. Mr. Horton ignored her. He wanted a straight chair. The antique made his neck ache. Miss Meredyth leaped to her feet enraged. Miss Thalberg remarked acidly that Mr. Horton was taking advantage of his position as guest. Furious, I denied the accusation. If Mr. Horton wanted a decent chair he ought to have it. The audience exchanged significant looks.

And the Contest Ends in Turmoil

QUITE calmly, Mr. Horton walked to the piano to get his hat. Miss Lee upset the parchesi board in rising. Miss Brent attempted to pacify Mr. Horton. With a shrug he asserted he was in nowise disturbed, merely appalled at Miss Meredyth's childish conduct. Evidently fearing she would lose complete control of herself, Miss Meredyth left the room, accompanied by the stormy-eyed Miss Thalberg.

"I claim the parchesi championship for Edward Everett Horton," I stated loudly. "Miss Meredyth has lost by default."

Miss Lee appeared perturbed. It was apparent the situation was a novel one to her. Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Zanuck, Mrs. Reisner, Miss Brent and Miss Goudal sided with Mr. Horton. Mr. Edwards, Mr. Farrow and Mr. Weingarten, with Miss Meredyth, though to be sure Mr. Farrow's protest was weak. He, too, is a parchesi player. After waiting five minutes and Miss Meredyth still not appearing, Mr. Horton smiled at the assemblage, thanked me for acting as his second, and departed. Miss Meredyth refused a statement for the press. The situation remains fraught with disagreements and bickerings. And—that's all.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 3.

See by the paper where this fellow Kemal Pasha, the head man of Turkey, is considering making us a visit. People that have been over there claim that he is the biggest man in the world today.

He is a Mussolino, Borah, Aimee McPherson, and Charley Dawes combined. He jerked the veils off the women, the fezzes off the men, rolled the flappers' stockings, made the people all learn to read and write a new language, put in a golf course, give the farmers relief, discharged his federal reserve board and whipped Greece all in one week. Certainly hope that bird comes over here.

Yours, WILL.

Sally Again

Marilyn Miller, Ziegfeld star, is in Hollywood making a talk picture out of her musical comedy success, "Sally."

COMING BILLS OF STAGE, SCREEN

Next Monday night the George Sharp Players in the Pitt will present a comedy that ran for 311 Broadway performances. It is called "Dancing Mothers" and is the story about a woman who is 40 and decides that if she is to stop her daughter and husband from ruining all their lives, she must also step on the gas. And she does.

"The Drag," Richard Barthelmess' new stellar vehicle, will be the attraction in the Stanley next week. On the stage Charlie Melson will present a revue, "Everybody Step."

"The Valiant," a 100 per cent talking picture in which Paul Muni, young legitimate stage actor, essays his first motion picture role, will be the attraction in Loew's Aldine next week. Included in the cast are John Mack Brown and Marguerite Churchill.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE

Vilma Banky, in her first talking picture, "This is Heaven," will be the attraction in the Penn beginning Monday July 8; Miss Banky also is to appear on the stage of the Penn Tuesday and Wednesday in a special act. "Theme of Love," a miniature musical comedy, will be presented by Wesley Eddy.

"The Cocoanuts," the first musical comedy to be reproduced through the sound screen medium, with the Four Marx Brothers and Mary Eaton and Oscar Shaw in the leading roles, opens its second week in the Grand Saturday.

Warner Baxter is featured in "Behind That Curtain," talkie that will open in the Harris next Monday and remain all week. Lois Moran is a member of the supporting cast.

EAST END PROGRAMS

Douglas MacLean, one of the screen's popular comedians, will be featured in "Divorce Made Easy" in the Enright for the week beginning Saturday. On the stage Dick Powell will present "Circus Week."

"The Squall," all-talking screen version of the stage play, with Myrna Loy in the leading role, will be the attraction at the Regent for three days beginnin Saturday.

The Liberty and Colonial theatres will present "Coquette," Mary Pickford's first all-talking picture, for a week, beginning Saturday, July 6, and Monday, July 8, respectively.

Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians will be seen and heard in "Syncopation," talking and singing screen feature in the Sheridan Square Theatre the last three days of this week. The cast includes Morton Downey and Barbara Bennett.

Accent Problems Confront Stars In Talkies

Accent problems can't be overlooked in a talking motion picture. For Paramount's all-dialogue picturization of "The Virginian" Gary Cooper had to acquite a westernized accent. Mary Brian was forced to forget the soft drawl of the South. Walter Huston had to replace a cultured New York attorney's inflections with those of an early Wyoming cattle rustler, and Richard Arlen had to forget the intonations of the circus performer for those of the cowboy.

Cooper's problem was the most difficult. An orthodox Dixie drawl had to be tempered with the inflections of cattle land as the character he portrays had lived on the open range of the West after leaving his native Virginia.

As Charles "Buddy" Rogers' leading woman in "River of Romance," Miss Brian portrayed a Southern girl and had merely to revive her own East Texas drawl for the part. Without a day's delay after finishing that role she stepped into the character of Molly Wood, a girl from Vermont, in "The Virginian."

Huston had just completed his part as a Park avenue attorney in "The Lady Lies" when he was cast as Trampas in the Owen Wister production. The width of a continent and a gap of 49 years had to be bridged in his manner of speech.

Arlen was a circus tight-wire walker in Clara Bow's "Dangerous Curves" before he donned chaps and spurs for the part of Steve in "The Virginian."

Victor Fleming, the director, had the biggest problem. He had to guard against momentary lapses on the part of any of his players.

HARRY M. WARNER

Mr. Warner as he appeared today in Pittsburgh. He is looking over his theater interests.

WARNER VISITS THEATERS HERE

A short, smiling figure of a youngish middle-aged man, who, 25 years ago paid all of $15 to rent one of the first moving pictures, came to town today to "look over" the millions he has invested in Pittsburgh.

It was Harry M. Warner, one of the three Warner brothers, who staked their last dollar on the Vitaphone talking pictures and saw it returned many times.

"Pittsburgh is a good city," he tells. "Our business indicates that conditions here are exceptionally sound and that you people don't know what a slump is."

Mr. Warner, of course, had something to say about talking pictures. He feels that eventually they will establish a universal language—English—and that world affairs will be the better for it.

He tells with more gusto of his Pittsburgh days, of his wife, Rae Levison, an East End girl, of the days when he sold clothes, cider and soap in this territory.

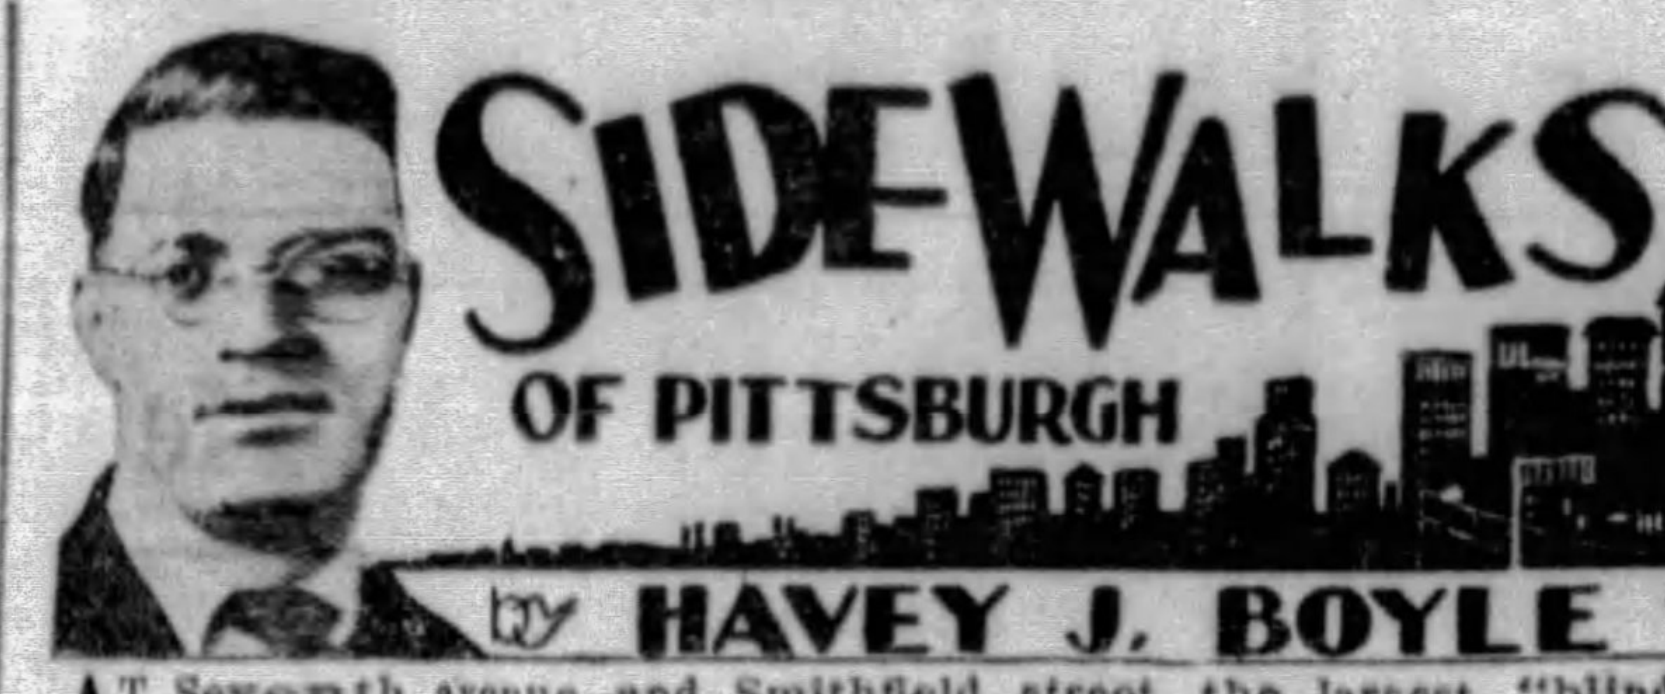
EARLY THEATER DAYS

"Two of my children," he boasts, "were born in East End in what was Bond street. We built the first theater in East End—the Rex in Penn avenue, near Highland. Our very first theater was in New Castle and I rented the film in Pittsburgh for $15 and we borrowed chairs from the undertaker's next door for the customers.

Mr. Warner told of plans to remodel the Grand Theater, which, with the Stanley and Enright, are the leading Warner Brothers theaters here. The theater will be remodeled before September, the better to show long-run pictures.

Thieves Walk Off With Refrigerator

Mrs. James Nichols, of Boyds Hill, Patton Township, reported to county detectives today that thieves had carried away her icebox which she kept on the rear porch. She discovered her loss while preparing breakfast this morning.



by HAVEY J. BOYLE

AT Seventh avenue and Smithfield street the largest "blind" troupe in the city can be seen as the evening rush hour begins—unless the law by this time has overtaken them. Two men and a woman play the banjo and the violin.

A rare sight is a blind man smoking. The reason: He can't see the smoke. While various reasons are giving for smoking—stimulation, nervousness, lonesomeness—the basic reason seems to be a desire to see the smoke. (No, I can't say why then a man shouldn't get as much pleasure out of watching another man's smoke). The fact that seeing the smoke is one of the big urges in the habit is proved by the blind men's lack of desire and the fact that few people enjoy a smoke in the dark. Persons who must get up in the middle of the night to take a puff usually turn on the light.

* * *

TRAFFIC policemen are at their best in two attitudes: First, a solicitous care in helping the blind across the street; secondly, in the neighborhood districts and at those corners downtown, near schools, where the officers escort the "kids" across the street. To be escorted across the street by the policemen is an event in the daily routine of the "kids." It is, by the way, the thing about their jobs the policemen like best.

* * *

Timid Timothy thought there was something wrong with the traffic lights as one light showed red for five minutes, but

Timid Timothy instead of going through, backed up a square and made for a corner where the lights were working.

A RECENT reference to Dutch Henry's brings a reminder of another near-famous restaurant which has gone the way of all flesh. It was Sala's Mexican restaurant at Third avenue and Grant street, in the heart of the onetime tenderloin district of the town. Chili con carne, of course, was the principal dish, with tamales getting a big play, and there was always a large supply of kidney beans for the folks who liked that sort of fruit.

Business was only fair in Sala's until the clock struck two or three in the morning when the young blades of the town, now deploring the antics of the younger generation, visited Sala's and made whoopee with the hot food.

As in all all-night restaurants located in tough districts fights were not infrequent in the early morning hours at Sala's. In retrospect, of course, it seems far more romantic than it really was. The real truth, stripped from the purple haze of reminiscence, was that it was rather an unkempt place, frequented by blondes with husky voices and over-dressed male companions.

Progress and improvements keep shoving back the frontiers of the city's down and outers. Fourth avenue, near Grant and Ross streets, once was the borderline, but gradually the district for the bums is being pushed closer and closer to the river.

Even the Chinese quarter is taking on a business air and the little Chinese boys and girls making their way to school certainly dispel the idea that beneath every queue there is a load of hop, and behind every door there is the odor of the poppy seed burning.

I LIKE Y'PAL Y'CAN HAVE ANY BUILDIN' IN TOWN — THEY'RE ALL MINE

The fact is that the boys who lean against the bamboo never go near Chinatown, but have rooms in various parts of the city where their chefs roll the stuff and load the pipes, while the dreamers dispense with the various bridges of the town to dear friends, and to satisfy a whim purchase the Frick Building.

PATRIOTIC SPIRIT TO MARK BROADCASTS ON FOURTH

Foster's Life to Feature Holiday on Radio

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

SEVERAL years ago when the boys on sparsely settled Penn avenue hauled cannon to the Bloomfield hill tops to do their Fourth of July celebrating, there moved among them a youngster who was destined to become one of the world's greatest composers. When this fellow pulled the string to the cannon he derived a dual thrill for it was not only Independence Day but his birthday.

Stephen Collins Foster was born on the Fourth of July. In tribute to Pittsburgh's musician, the National Broadcasting Company tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock will tell in song and story "The Life of Stephen C. Foster." Pittsburghers will hear the program through KDKA.

FULL OF COLOR, VARIETY

Tonight and all day tomorrow the national networks and local stations will conduct a musical extravaganza as part of the holiday bill.

The program directors have been wise in their selection of material. It will be Fourth of July outside with thunderbolts booming and sky rockets shooting, but entertainment emanating from the loud speaker will be varied and full of color, carrying the Independence Day spirit but still not too predominant.

Those who sit by the dials this evening will enjoy one of the best nights on the air this summer.

"TOM SAWYER" ON SHOWBOAT

What could be more appropriate for a curtain-raiser than the Show Boat presentation of "Tom Sawyer" over WJAS at 8 p. m.?

The evening holds in store many other good things which may be found listed in the "Best Bets."

Thursday will not be dull. Special services in the afternoon, a patriotic hymn sing in the evening and a varied program including a July Fourth Sketch, will bring listeners keen enjoyment.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph follows its usual custom of presenting complete, detailed programs for the holidays, as follows:

"Tom Sawyer."

"Tom Sawyer," Mark Twain's great story of early boyhood days along the Mississippi River, immortalizing the pranks and adventures of its title character and his equally mischievous crony, Huckleberry Finn, will be dramatized.

The play, which is divided into four acts, opens with the eventful and unusual meeting between Tom and "Huck" in Bogg's grocery store. They celebrate the beginning of their long friendship with a stirring fist fight that causes much excitement and rapid palpitations of old Bogg's heart while the damage is in progress. The next act finds the two boys in a graveyard at the witching hour of midnight where they unexpectedly play witness to a murder. The trial of Lush Strubbs, father of Tom's girl, comprises the third act, which abounds with dramatic interest and suspense, while the last scene takes place in Judge Sawyer's home where a happy ending is effected.

KDKA—Life of Stephen Foster.
Tunes Rarely Heard.

Stephen C. Foster, whose tender, homely melodies have won for him the title of the father of American folk music, was born on Independence Day.

The life of Stephen Foster in song and story will be told by an ensemble, including Rosalie Wolfe, soprano; Mary Hopple, contralto, a male quartet and a concert orchestra under the direction of Robert Armbruster. The selections will lead off with "Tioga Waltz," one of the earliest of Foster's compositions, and will consist principally of the less frequently heard fragments from his pen. James J. Geller, an authority on old music, assisted in preparing the program, complete details for which follow:

Gang Rule Terror.

This broadcast will be a sensational expose of the St. Louis underworld gang murders, the information in which has been obtained from Ray Renard, known as "The Fox," who has been a purse-snatcher, shoplifter, freight thief, payroll bandit, bank robber, gunman and gangster. Renard is the sleek, well-groomed type of criminal who, when free, drives about in a high-powered automobile, and owns a beautifully appointed bungalow and a kennel of prize dogs.

Renard is now serving a seven-year sentence in Atlanta Penitentiary and he is responsible for sending many of the Egan gang, of which he was a member, to prison. Needless to say, he is marked for death by his former associates.

$50,000 AUTO VERDICT FALLS

Jacob F. Elman, of Bellevue, against whom Attorney James L. Brady, of Bellevue, obtained a verdict of $50,000 for personal injuries, was granted a new trial in an opinion handed down by Judge Elder W. Marshall in Common Pleas Court.

Brady alleged that while boarding a street car March 19, 1926, in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, he was crushed against the car by the automobile of Elman, suffering a broken leg and other injuries which resulted in confinement in a hospital for more than six months.

The award of the jury, reached in June, 1928, is excessive and ordinarily would be reduced to a proper amount, but because of certain matters occurring at the trial justice and right require a new trial, the opinion of Judge Marshall stated.

NAVIGATION WARNING
Navigation warning. River stages above Louisville indicate that it will be necessary to lower dams between Louisville and Evansville on the morning of June 29. Advantage will be taken of the lowering of the dams to remove the old wickets in the weir of Dam No. 43, all of which are in bad condition, and replace them with new wickets. It is anticipated that the work may require 10 days, according to river stages, and as a consequence there will be a few days delay in raising Dam 43 after the usual stage for raising the dam is reached. U. S. Engineer Office, P. O. Box 72, Louisville, Ky.

BUGS BAER Says

IT'S TOO HOT FOR INFORMATION

Bugs Baer

JUST when we were figuring whether to eat a dab of watercress or fan ourselves with an ostrich fan of parsley we read the scientific, but uncomfortable, information that man eats almost 200 pounds of meat every year.

Every citizen eats has own weight in meat every twelve months.

The embarrassing detail about scientists is that they spout their endorsed information at the wrong time.

When the weather is hot they dish up their heavy, woolen winter facts. Why don't they give us some cool, alpaca conversation about mint juleps and laughing waterfalls?

There is no R in the month of July. Therefore we should limit out diet to quick sales and small profits.

There is no W in the month of August no matter how you pronounce it. This month should be devoted to lettuce leaves and call money.

We do not eat 200 pounds of meat a year because we eat lamb chops. In order to get an ounce of meat from a lamb chop you have to nibble on a ton of lamb's elbows.

A man could live on lambs' chops all his life and still be a strict vegetarian.

There is a little more meat on a pork chop. But even at its best, any kind of a chop is something like a Chinese orchestra. A lot of strings and very little music.

Trying to nibble at the meat on a chop is something like peeling bark in the petrified forest.

We do admire a big, corpulent sirloin steak with the gravy breaking in roars on a rock-bound shore. But July is too hot for anything like that and we wish the scientists would go back over their books and give us the answer in chocolate sodas.

Who wants to eat two cwt. of Frankfurters when the temperature is muttering in its socket and even the hoss flies have decided to walk for a while?

Why do butcher shops close on Saturdays during June, July and August? Because even cannibals are living on birdseed and swimming in one-piece rain barrels.

July is no month in which to be educated. The schools closed in June. Why don't the scientists close up shop and give the adults a holiday?

There should be a law against intelligence during the Airdale days.

If the average man eats 200 pounds of gristle and meat we bet that he does it from Thanksgiving to Washington's birthday.

And we hope that the scientists have not included the wing and the neck of the turkey which falls to the lot of average man. Any boy who claims a turkey wings is meat could probably dine heartily on an autographed banjo.

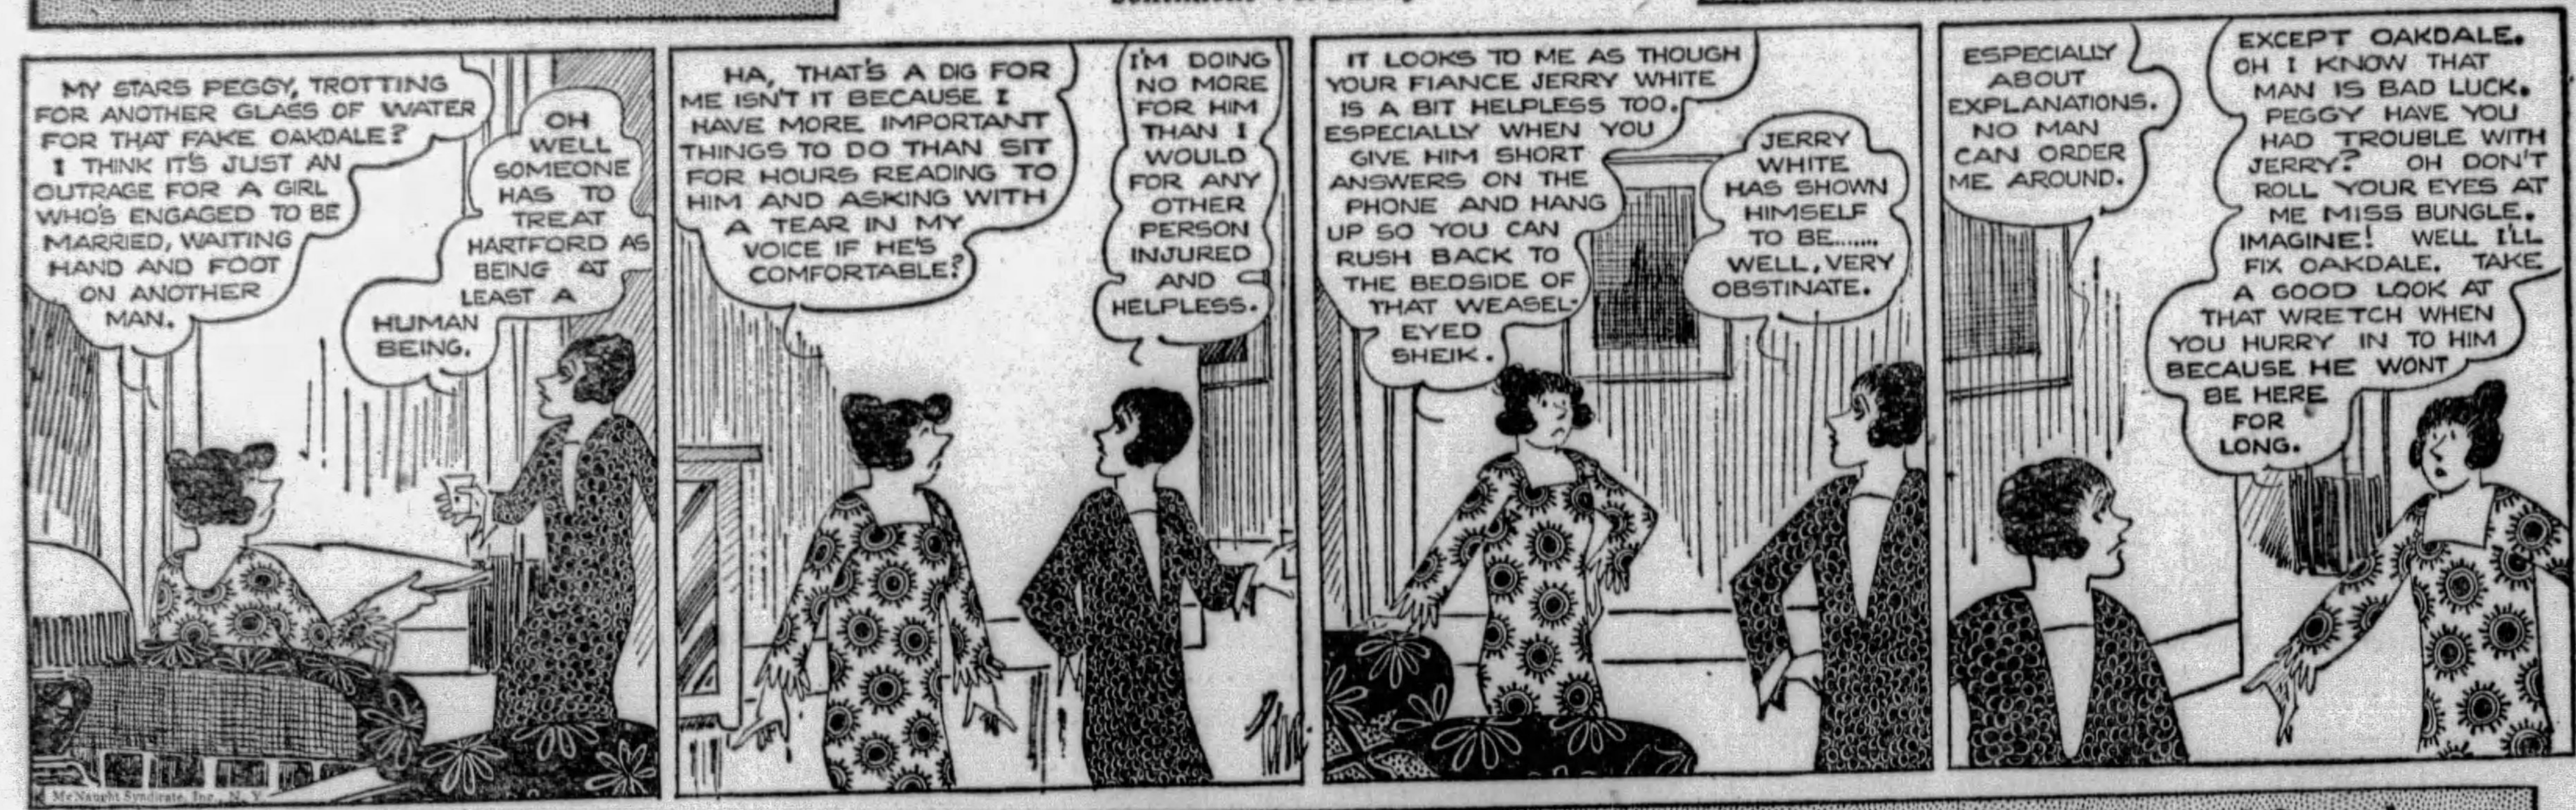
Sentiment Vs. Safety

By Tuthill



MY STARS PEGGY, TROTTING FOR ANOTHER GLASS OF WATER FOR THAT FAKE OAKDALE? I THINK IT'S JUST AN OUTRAGE FOR A GIRL WHO'S ENGAGED TO BE MARRIED, WAITING HAND AND FOOT ON ANOTHER MAN.
OH WELL SOMEONE HAS TO TREAT HARTFORD AS BEING AT LEAST A HUMAN BEING.
HA, THAT'S A DIG FOR ME ISN'T IT BECAUSE I HAVE MORE IMPORTANT THINGS TO DO THAN SIT FOR HOURS READING TO HIM AND ASKING WITH A TEAR IN MY VOICE IF HE'S COMFORTABLE?
I'M DOING NO MORE FOR HIM THAN I WOULD FOR ANY OTHER PERSON INJURED AND HELPLESS.
IT LOOKS TO ME AS THOUGH YOUR FIANCE JERRY WHITE IS A BIT HELPLESS TOO, ESPECIALLY WHEN YOU GIVE HIM SHORT ANSWERS ON THE PHONE AND HANG UP SO YOU CAN RUSH BACK TO THE BEDSIDE OF THAT WEASEL-EYED SHEIK.
JERRY WHITE HAS SHOWN HIMSELF TO BE...... WELL, VERY OBSTINATE.
ESPECIALLY ABOUT EXPLANATIONS. NO MAN CAN ORDER ME AROUND.
EXCEPT OAKDALE. OH I KNOW THAT MAN IS BAD LUCK. PEGGY HAVE YOU HAD TROUBLE WITH JERRY? OH DON'T ROLL YOUR EYES AT ME MISS BUNGLE. IMAGINE! WELL I'LL FIX OAKDALE. TAKE A GOOD LOOK AT THAT WRETCH WHEN YOU HURRY IN TO HIM BECAUSE HE WONT BE HERE FOR LONG.

Fourth of July Once More

We All May Be Grateful

Tomorrow, Uncle Sam's birthday comes around once more. All his nephews and nieces congratulate him and wish him many happy returns of the day.

One hundred and fifty-three years ago, after Thomas Jefferson, inspired by the writings of the ancients had framed the Declaration of Independence, he and the others signed it, Franklin saying, "We must all hang together, or we'll hang separately."

The experiment in self-government, started on that day, has been a success on the whole.

Nothing is perfect, we have our little troubles. Prohibition and its crime wave produced is one of them.

Bootleggers, gangsters, bribery and other novelties born of prohibition, are unpleasant.

But these troubles will be overcome as others have been overcome.

We have many reasons for being grateful on this national birthday.

The workers of the nation earn $60,000,000,000 a year, about fifteen billions more than it costs them to live. That leaves a comfortable margin for luxuries and investments.

The well-to-do, not on any pay roll, have incomes amounting to about thirty billions.

Those thousands of millions invested and reinvested, constantly build up the nation's property.

The country is powerful, as well as rich.

We want nothing that any other nation has. We intend to keep what we have. Our young men and women are intelligent and energetic despite the prohibition evil.

We live in a great country, with opportunities unlimited. Opportunities were never greater than they are now.

And, today, as in the stone age, everything depends on THOUGHT, WORK, SELF-CONTROL.

Just a Thought

Pass It Along.

It is a disgrace to this country, a disgrace to its financiers, and to that usury promoting institution, the Federal Reserve, that Americans should borrow money at rates hitherto paid only by bankrupt nations, bootleggers and third mortgage borrowers.

ORIGIN OF WORLDS

By Archibald Henderson

THREE theories of the origin of worlds are under constant discussion nowadays, among astronomers, physicists and geologists. One is the classic theory of Laplace, the second is the planetesimal hypothesis of Chamberlin and Moulton, the third is the tidal-action theory of Jeans and Jeffreys.

According to Laplace, our solar system was once a great hot nebula. Under rotation, rings formed around the equator, were thrown off by the contracting nebulous mass; and gradually these masses took on the form of spheres, which constitute our planetary system.

Chamberlin said in his "Origin of the Earth" that the theory of a "simple decline from a fiery origin to a frigid end" accorded well enough with an ice age if the ice came only in the later stages of the earth's history. But evidence of various sorts from the geologic side appeared to weaken the Laplacian cosmogony. There were unmistakable signs of ice ages far back in time; nor was there found proof of steady progress in time from humidity to aridity. The dynamical evidence as accumulated by Moulton, was equally adverse to the Laplacian hypothesis. Unexplainable discrepancies in angular momentum, deviations of various sorts from expected positions and motions, all proclaim that the nebular hypothesis of Laplace does not accurately describe how our planetary system was formed.

In a former article, the planetesimal hypothesis put forward by Chamberlin and Moulton has been described. Under the hypothesis, the stars of our galaxy constitute a group of mutually related objects, mingling with each other somewhat like molecules in a gas. At the time of the dynamic adventure of a suitable near approach of one star to another, planets are born from the parent suns. A new set of dynamical considerations are invoked, and a new basis is laid for the development of dynamic geology.

The new tidal theory of Jeans and Jeffreys is an ingenious formulation, with but slight variations, of the planetesimal hypothesis. The ascription, by Eddington, of the authorship of the dynamic encounter theory to Jeans is one of those singular errors which require painstaking correction. In his "Problems of Cosmogony and Stellar Dynamics," Jeans himself categorically states: "The most complete form of tidal-action theory is found in the 'Planetesimal Theory' of Chamberlin and Moulton." This was the first reference made in print to planetesimal hypothesis, 14 years after it had appeared in various scientific magazines, in Chamberlin and Salisbury's "Geology" and in Moulton's "Introduction to Astronomy."

The advantage enjoyed by the tidal-action theory enunciated by Jeans is that he has attempted to express it in a formula. It is always highly effective to express a "law of nature" in the form of a mathematical expression. But the planetesimal theory is too complex to be expressed by a simple formula, although such expression would undoubtedly have given it a wider and more immediate general acceptance.

It is not open to question that the Jeans-Jeffreys tidal-action theory derives directly from the Chamberlin-Moulton planetesimal theory. Jeffrey, actually says: "The planetesimal hypothesis was historically the parent of the tidal theory of the origin of the solar system," expounded by Jeans. A detailed comparison of the two theories, recently made by Moulton, reveals that the tidal-action theory is virtually identical with the planetesimal theory. In one striking particular they differ. Moulton claims that the separation from the sum of the materials of which the planets are compared is due to the combined effects of the tides generated in the sun by the passing star and to eruption activities such as now are exhibited by the sun. Jeans ascribes the separation to the effects of the tides alone, at a time when the sun was much larger than it is at present. The weight of evidence is strongly in favor of Moulton's assumption. After careful analysis of the tidal-action theory, Moulton concludes that Jeans and Jeffreys have no. even remotely approached a mathematical demonstration of the validity of their assumption that tidal forces alone will account for the separation of the planetary material from an ancestral sun."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

MUCH has been written about the middle-aged man who is elated when a young girl pays attention to him.

But seldom is anything said about the sport the man is gaining at the girl's expense.

It is amusing to the man who can control himself to watch the antics of the young girl who is endeavoring to interest him.

She may be doing this for the edification of her friends, for the fun she gets out of it or for the firm for whom she works.

It makes no difference what the object.

The business man who goes to any large city to attend a meeting is seeking relaxation as well as benefit otherwise to be gotten from a conference.

The time he spends with a young girl is likely to be looked upon as a rather unimportant part of his entertainment.

And fellows who can't help acting silly in the presence of girls.

But the majority of business men consider the young women he meets as a piece of the "scenery" which the metropolis affords.

Bible Passages

Christ Appeareth

(St. Matthew 28; 1-10.)

IN the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raimant white as snow:

And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here: for he is risen as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly and tell his diciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his diciples word.

And as they went to tell his diciples, behold Jesus met them, saying: All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped him.

Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid: go tell my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE bride that I'm talking about this time was so happy that she didn't like to see anybody else having hard luck, and she was right sure she had a remedy for most everybody's troubles. She was talking to a friend of hers that she used to go to school with at a restaurant.

"Well," says the friend, "I got my troubles. No money, you know. So many things I want to do, but they all take dough."

"Oh, but Mildred, dear," says the bride, "I'm surprised at people for having so many money troubles. You know, we got that all fixed, and you can fix it up, too. It's right simple."

"Yeah, I reckon it is," says Mildred. "What's the medicine?"

"Why, a joint account! George thought of it. It's the most wonderful thing, a joint account is! I don't have no more troubles."

"And what's the dope on this here joint account? How do you work it?"

"Why, you see, it's the cutest thing ever invented. You understand, he puts all the money in, and then you both draw it out! That makes one person's money do for two! You can't beat it!

Isn't It So?

IN THE MANNER OF ULYSSES

By Herbert Kaufman

WHILE the erudite Mr. Tunney salubriates abroad and HIGHBROWS with George Bernard Shaw, Herr Schmeling and Senor Paulino debate their respective rights to shake mitts with Jack Sharkey.

Forty thousand-odd spectators, at Mrs. Hearst's Milk Fund elimination tournament, scarcely see more of the MAIN bout than a human lightning-bug flitting above the Stadium, advertising the merits of So-and-so Motor Oils on illuminated aeroplane wings.

BEEF, BIFF AND BAM suffice to describe the preliminaries. And the several zealous young men, who emerge therefrom with LESS blood, MORE nose and LARGER ears than they brought from TRAINING camp, hardly inspire sporting astronomers to jot their names in the suspense list of fistic STARS.

Expectant appetites, having been thoroughly whetted with CHOPPED MEAT, the Basque and the Teuton take corners.

CALCIUM flares, cameras click, the gong clangs, and with visions of MILLION-DOLLAR GATES and the glare of Kleigs in their eyes ,the pride of Germany and the peasant from the Pyrenees glide into action.

DISMISS the gladiatorial poses of John L. and Kid McCoy from memory. Nothing reminiscent of Gentleman Jim or the great dancing masters is HERE revealed.

The Spaniard assumes the grotesque crouch that has hitherto bewildered and baffled local pugs, lowers a bullet head, defensively draws columnar, corded neck into huge muscle-padded shoulders, and with arm-wrapped chest prepares to DUMFOUND an upright, straight-jabbing boxer.

But to his OWN and GENERAL surprise, he finds himself gazing into a human MIRROR.

SCHMELING has trumped his ace and stolen his THUNDER, by abandoning his PERSONAL technique and conforming tactics to the bizarre, home-made strategy of the mountaineer.

Instead of watching a BOXING contest, we behold a pair of ARMADILLOS, each tightly curled within impenetrable shells—circling brow to brow—tapping, tapping in ENDLESS tattoo, with sudden whips to exposed kidney areas and occasional but ABORTIVE smashes to heart and jaw.

Round after round of short-coupled, vicious, little punches and wicked uppercuts—while disappointed galleries mutter and boo, and nearer seat-holders VAINLY crane for glimpses of prying, prodding gloves.

As brilliant and thrilling as a battle among CANNED SARDINES! But in REALITY, the re-staged DRAMA of Ulysses and Cyclops!

Paulino's thumps increasingly land on Schmeling's purpling ribs. But the unwincing, single-minded Teuton "pushes through to Paris" with as REGULAR rights and lefts on nose, mouth and eye—eye, mouth and nose.

NOTHING diverts him from a FIXED object. There's just ONE way to win—and he doggedly confides a potential fortune to instructed attack.

Nine rounds, 10 rounds, 11 rounds, 12 rounds of thud, thud, thud—in clinch and out—and, AT LAST, a BLINDED giant staggers from the persistent torture, lunging at random, aimlessly flailing the air, wiping gory cheeks and desperately gambling NOW-OR-NEVER button-ringers on an unreachable PILE-DRIVER, who finally hurls his reserves to the front and batters an impotent MEAL-SACK to the ropes.

Shrewdness and cunning—infinite resource and vigilance—brains, brawn and poise—there you have Schmeling.

A destined champion, but NOT in the tradition of popular idolatry!

His self-control and implacable ferocity smack too much of the ROBOT. Mr. Sullivan offered SIMILAR entertainment for FAR less and gave a MUCH better show for the money.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

TOMORROW is the Fourth of July.

One hundred and forty-eight years ago a group of foreigners laid down the arms which they had taken up against a common foe and banded together to form a nation.

Those foreigners represented many countries in the old world.

Most of them were from England. But many were from France and Germany, Holland and Switzerland.

Adventurers from almost every land on earth—different lands and different bloods, but one thing they had in common—a vision. A vision of a great new nation where men might be free and equal under the law.

And out of that vision America was born. Out of that mingled vision—for it was not the vision of one people, with one set of ideas, traditions and customs — but of many dissimilar peoples, with different prides and different habits and different prayers, and in that very differentness lay America's strength and glory, for to it all men had given of their best and in it lay the treasure of every land.

That was one hundred and forty-eight years ago.

Yesterday Josefita came to me in shame. Josefita is 17 years old and she is in high school and wears pink georgette and spike heels.

She was in shame because her mother still wears the black shawl of Spain when she walks out at night, and eats much garlic.

"This is America," says Josefita, "why will she act that way—I could cry!"

Last week, also, Mrs. Jones came to me in anger. "Those Swedes," said she, "they're as bad as the 'Wops.' Look how cheap they live and how hard they work with their women in the fields. How can our American workmen keep up with folks like that? How can we get enough to live the way we want to live when they work twice as hard, kids and all, for half the money?"

And a while ago, in a great city tabernacle, certain proud young matrons made protest:

"Our children are being taught Hebrew words in the Sabbath school," they cried. "They are young Americans—not Hebrews, we do not wish this to be."

This is the Fourth of July. One hundred and forty-eight years ago a group of foreigners, out of their mingled blood and dreams, established a nation.

Not on blood, or on dreams, but many mingled bloods and dreams and the strength and the glory of America lay in that mingling—and lies there yet.

Not only in the pride of English blood, but also in the thrift of the Italian lies the strength of America.

And the modest black shawls of Spain and the sacred phrases of the Talmud and the Sagas of the north are as much a part of her rich treasure as the blood stained swords of her colonial fathers.

We need it all—the dignity of the old East—and the recklessness of the new West—we need it all if we would keep America what our fathers made her, a land for all men, where all men might be free.

Let us be Jew according to our breed, and proud of being Jew—or Irish, Greek, French or Russian or German or Swede, and always proud of that from which we came—treasuring all the heritage our fathers gave—then, being Irish, Jew, German, French or Swede—let us be America. For so America was made—and only so can her great dream survive.

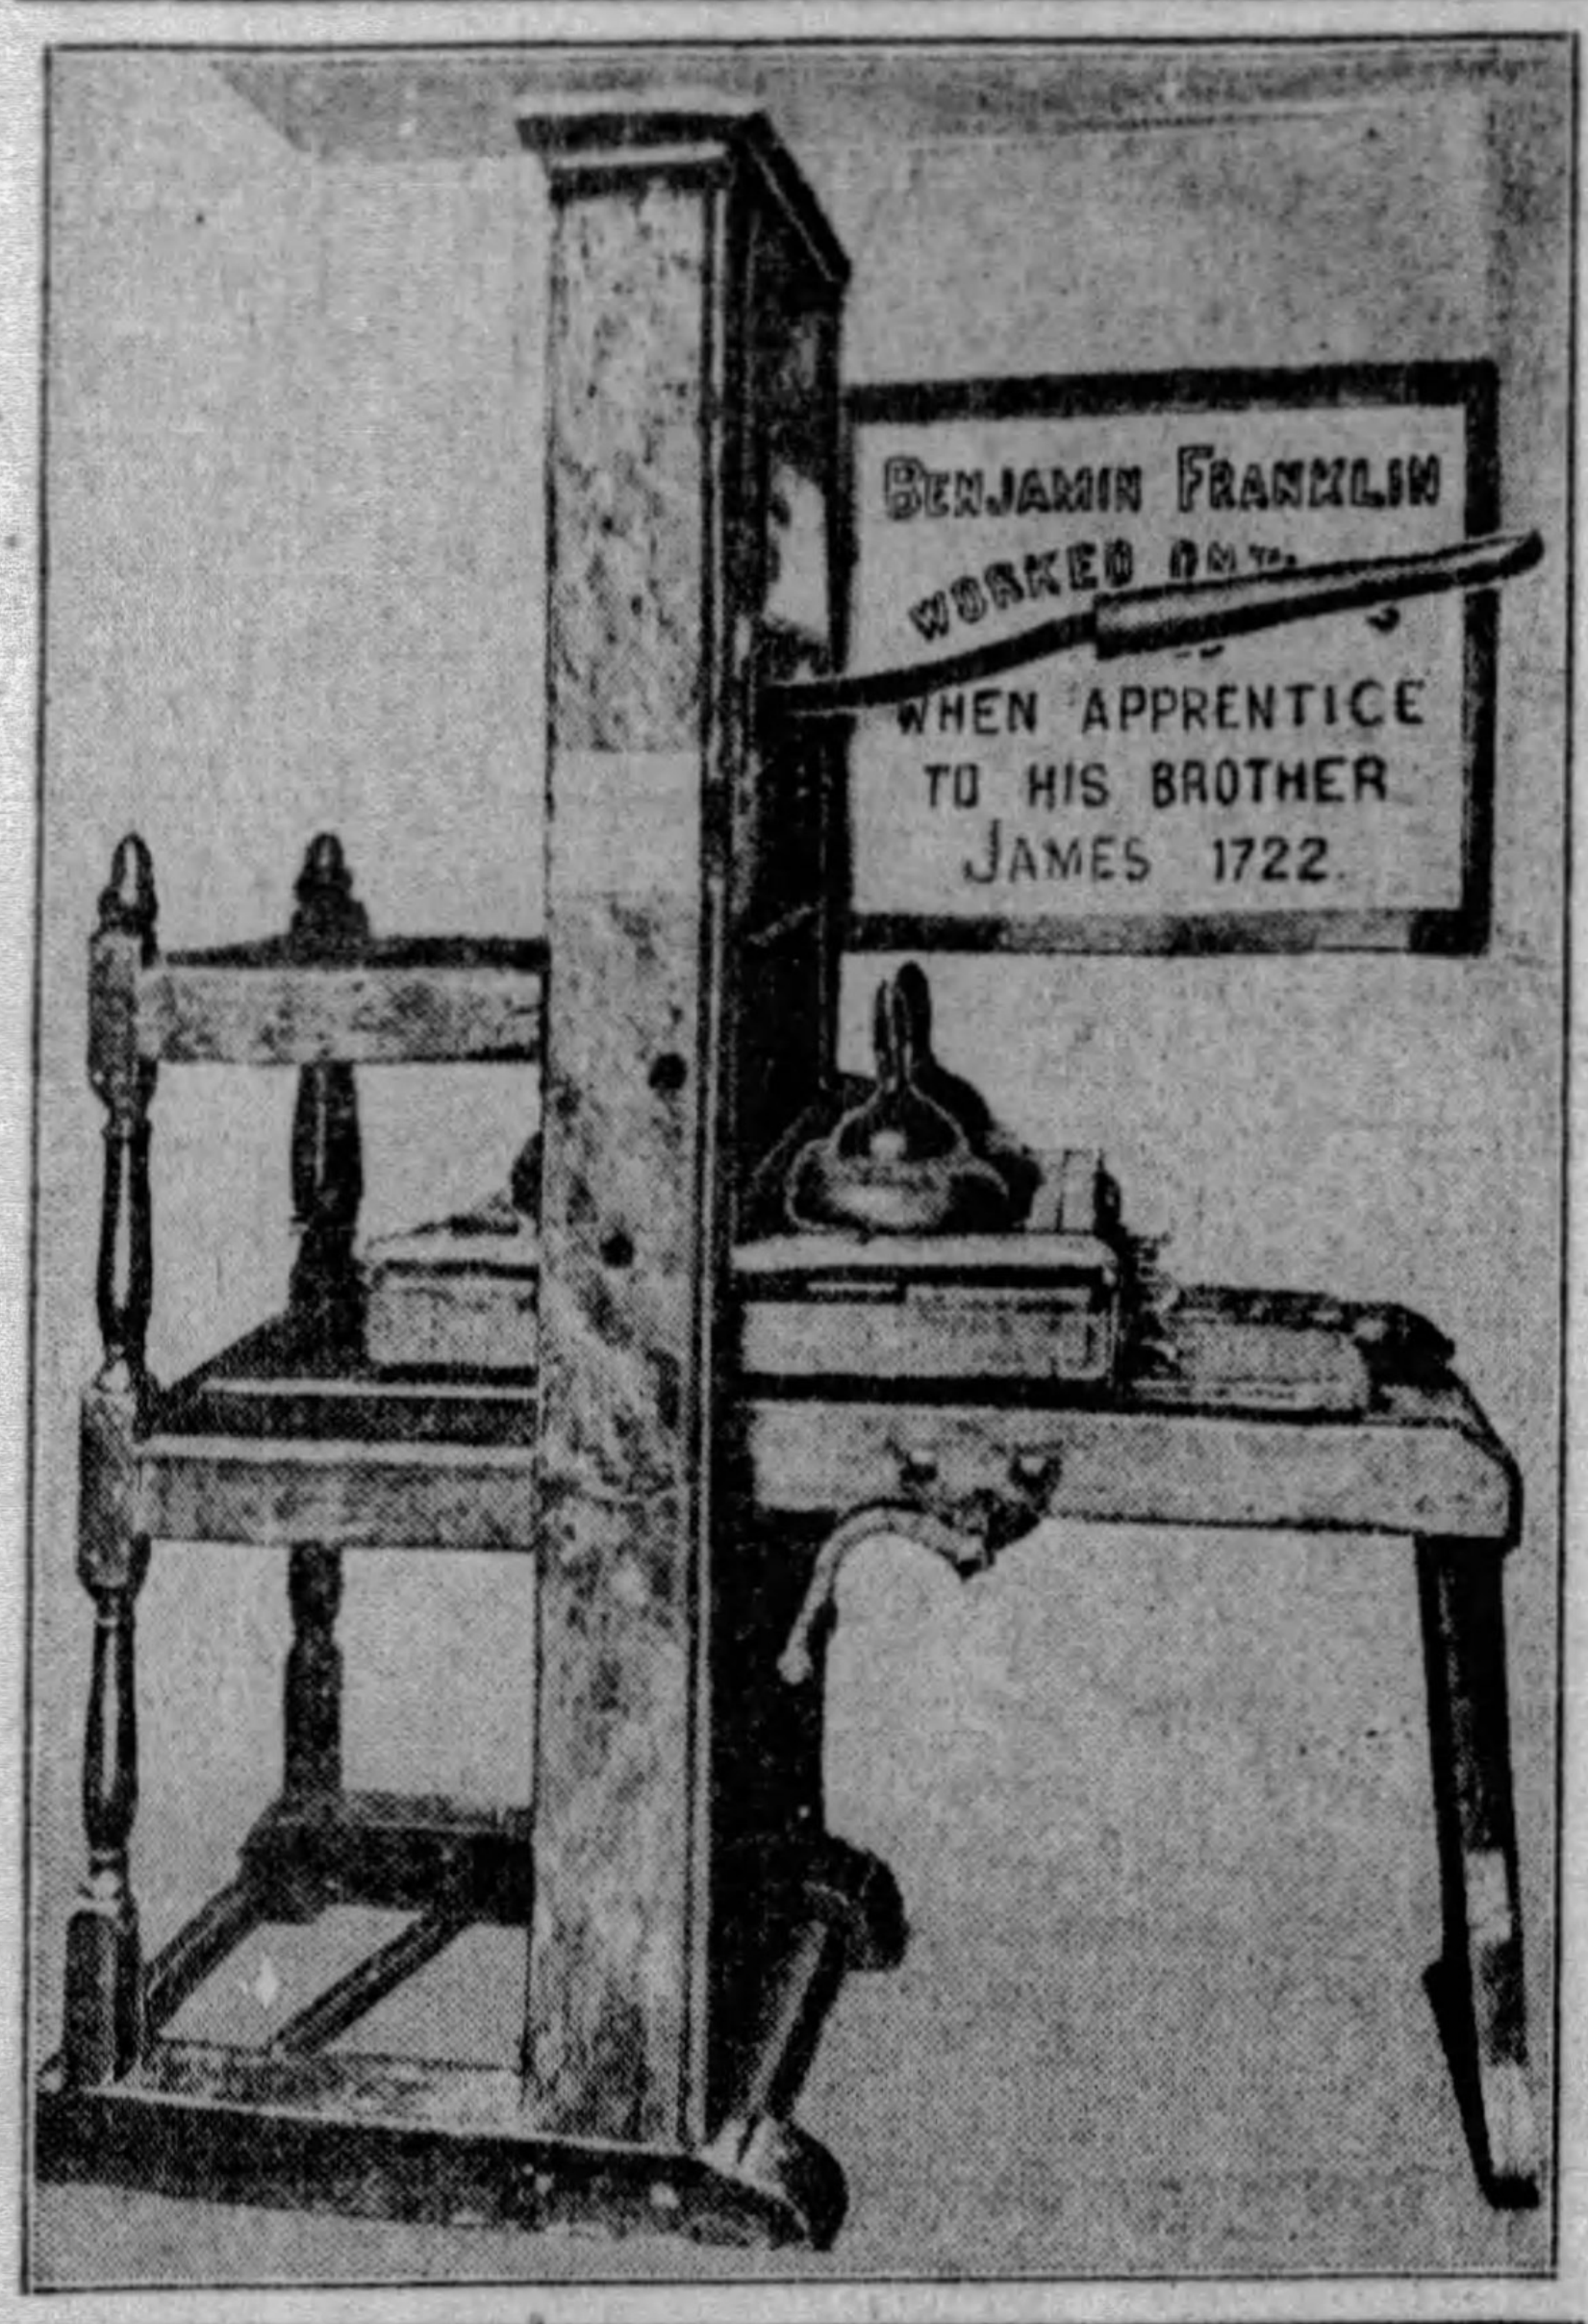
One Press Not Bought

Benjamin Franklin Used This.



A PRESS THAT FRANKLIN USED.

The American Printer published this photograph of an old press; the photograph was taken by George Brayton, of Boston.

It is different from presses now in use. Every time you printed one page of a newspaper you had to press down the handle—once for each side of each page.

It would have taken a long time to get out the circulation of such a newspaper as this with such machinery.

In 1722, 207 years ago, Benjamin Franklin as a boy apprenticed to his brother James, worked and learned his trade as a printer on this press.

Later he signed the Declaration of Independence, and the treaty of peace with England. He stands out easily and clearly as one of our four greatest men—Lincoln, Washington, Jefferson and FRANKLIN.

Mentally, Franklin was probably greatest of them all.

It is a comfort to reflect that this press, very simple, slow and primitive, was at least NOT OWNED BY THE POWER TRUST. No gentleman ever went to Benjamin Franklin's brother from a big Power Trust to suggest: "Let us lend you a little money, sell us an interest in your plant, we are friends of the American people and all we want is to have many newspapers often saying so."

This old press was a free press.

And, luckily, many modern presses that can print in an hour more than this press could print in a year are also free.

And, fortunately for the American people, the newspapers that the Power Trust can buy are, in the long run, not WORTH buying.

The kind of editor that will do the dirty work of a Power Trust is the kind of editor that, sooner or later, probably SOONER, will lose his readers.

The people are not fools. Strange as it may seem to the Power Trust, the average reader knows SINCERITY and recognizes it in the written word.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 3.—Three gaudy five and ten cent stores have flashed their red fronts along imperious Fifth avenue and another is scheduled to open in the fashionable Madison avenue shopping district shortly. The five and ten is no longer the tinseled bazar for the meagre pursed housewife.

Liveried limousines halt audaciously at the curb and triple-chinned dowagers with lorgnettes are daily patrons. The first establishment on the avenue provided an obscure side entrance for the snobbish, but that is now unnecessary. The rich and poor rub elbows in friendly democracy.

The chief appeal of the 5 and 10 is no longer its prices, but in the power of suggestion in its glittering counters. The housewife prowls through the labyrinthine aisles and sees a hundred and one aids to housekeeping comforts she never thought of before.

Strictly speaking, the 5 and 10 is only slightly competitive with the elaborate department store, for they deal almost solely in the lesser thingumbubs which few think of buying unless they are displayed in windows or on counters.

Hundreds of articles they sell are not on sale in department stores. Shopping in the five and tens has become a caprice of the rich—a lark. It compares somewhat to the fashionable after-theater crowds who made pilgrimages to Child's Columbus Circle restaurant several years ago.

Many with hefty purses buy articles they do not need but there is a shopping stimulus in their cheapness and they are often passed on to poor relations. Investigators find only two per cent of the people who visit the stores come away without purchases.

Prohibition has been a big boon to 5 and 10's. It gave an impetus to the sales of cocktail shakers and glasses for every sort of drink. Strangely enough the red fronts have never had great prosperity on the Bowery. Indeed they flourish most among the swells, the commonplace beating the exotic at its own game.

News of her coming had been broadcast and a collective nose tilted skyward. When she approached the water, the bathers gave appearance of sighting a shark and when the interloper entered a luncheon place everybody suddenly lost interest in food and quit their tables. It was a grand gesture in razzing, but the lady had her moment. She sighted the high mogul of the organization, rushed over to him with a "Hello Daddums" and his confusing blush was a give away she had not been presumptious. And the charmer with a high-nosed sniff exited laughingly.

Arriving at his office he found a flattering note from the boss with notification of a substantial rise in salary, an unexpected dividend check and an invitation to join a month's cruise on a private yacht.
